Rationale for investments and acquisitions in future

Some of the selection criteria that we may consider when evaluating strategic acquisitions include:

- expertise in the domain we operate in or wish to expand into;
- strategic fit to our existing business or serving connected extensions;

- c. acquisition of established business and verticals that align with our portfolio and growth strategy;
- d. new customers/users that we can serve with our existing capabilities;
- e. newer technology infrastructure, service/product offerings, and advanced personnel including ones which plug-in gaps in our existing ecosystem/value chain;
- f. enhance our geographical reach;
- g. strengthen market share in existing markets; and
- h. strong management team.

Our acquisition strategy is primarily driven by our Board and the typical framework and process that would be followed by us for acquisitions will involve identifying the strategic acquisitions based on the rationale set out above, entering into requisite non-disclosure agreements and conducting diligence of the target. On satisfactory conclusion of the diligence exercise, we will enter into definitive agreements to acquire the target based on requisite approvals of our Board and the shareholders, if required. As on the date of this Updated Draft Red Herring Prospectus – I, we have not entered into any definitive agreements towards any future acquisitions or strategic initiatives for the object set out above.

We intend to utilise the above-stated portion of the Net Proceeds towards our strategic acquisitions and/or investments which may be undertaken over the course of Fiscals 2027 and 2028. The proposed inorganic acquisitions shall be undertaken in accordance with the applicable laws, including the Companies Act, FEMA and the regulations notified thereunder, as the case may be.

General corporate purposes

Our Company proposes to deploy the balance Net Proceeds aggregating to ₹[●] million towards general corporate purposes, subject to such amount not exceeding 25% of the Gross Proceeds, in compliance with Regulation 7(2) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations. The general corporate purposes for which our Company proposes to utilise Net Proceeds include strategic initiatives, funding capital expenditure, meeting working capital requirements, meeting general corporate expenses incurred by our Company, as may be applicable and such other factors as decided by our Board. The general corporate purposes for which our Company proposes to utilise Net Proceeds will not include Objects, as included in this Updated Draft Red Herring Prospectus – I.

In addition to the above, our Company may utilise the Net Proceeds towards other expenditure considered expedient and as approved periodically by our Board, subject to compliance with necessary provisions of the Companies Act. The quantum of utilization of funds towards each of the above purposes will be determined by our Board, based on the amount actually available under this head and the business requirements of our Company, from time to time. Our Company's management shall have flexibility in utilising surplus amounts, if any. In the event that we are unable to utilise the entire amount that we have currently estimated for use out of Net Proceeds in a Fiscal, we will utilise such unutilised amount(s) in the subsequent Fiscals.

Means of Finance

The fund requirements set out in the aforesaid Objects are proposed to be met entirely from the Net Proceeds and our internal accruals. Accordingly, our Company confirms that there is no requirement to make firm arrangements of finance under Regulation 7(1)(e) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations through verifiable means towards at least 75% of the stated means of finance, excluding the amount to be raised from the Fresh Issue and existing identifiable accruals as required under the SEBI ICDR Regulations. In case of a shortfall in the Net Proceeds or any increase in the actual utilization of funds earmarked for the Objects, our Company may explore a range of options, including utilizing our internal accruals and/ or seeking additional debt from existing and/ or other lenders.

Interim use of Net Proceeds

We, in accordance with the policies formulated by our Board from time to time, will have flexibility to deploy the Net Proceeds. Pending utilisation of the Net Proceeds for the purposes described above, our Company will temporarily invest the Net Proceeds in deposits only in one or more scheduled commercial banks included in the second schedule of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, as amended, as may be approved by our Board or a duly constituted committee thereof.

In accordance with the Companies Act, 2013, we confirm that we shall not use the Net Proceeds for buying, trading or otherwise dealing in shares of any other listed company or for any investment in the equity markets.

BASIS FOR OFFER PRICE

The Price Band and Offer Price will be determined by our Company, in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers, on the basis of assessment of market demand for the Equity Shares to be offered through the Book Building Process and on the basis of quantitative and qualitative factors as described below. The face value of the Equity Shares is ₹1 each and the Offer Price is [●] times the Floor Price and [●] times the Cap Price, and Floor Price is [●] times the face value and the Cap Price is [●] times the face value.

Bidders should also see “Risk Factors”, “Restated Consolidated Financial Information”, “Our Business”, “Other Financial Information”, and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” on pages 30, 400, 288, 522 and 530 respectively, to have an informed view before making an investment decision.

Qualitative factors

Some of the qualitative factors and our strengths which form the basis for computing the Offer Price are as follows:

- Our unique business model enables us to serve multiple demand pools and makes us resilient across economic cycles;
  - Our end-to-end manufacturing platform, powered by our proprietary Zetwerk OS, transforms fragmented capacity across 6,979 third-party suppliers in 26 countries, including India, and our 26 manufacturing facilities across four countries, including India, as of March 31, 2026, into a unified network that allows us to serve multiple industries, manufacture diverse product types, and operate across geographies reliably and at scale.
  - We have built a broad base of suppliers across 26 countries, expanding from a solely third-party supplier model to a hybrid model incorporating both third parties and our own manufacturing capabilities.
- Ability to scale in a capital-efficient manner;
  - Our hybrid, technology-driven manufacturing platform combines the advantages of both models, allowing us to benefit from the scalability of a distributed network, with capacity accessed primarily through third-party manufacturers without a corresponding increase in invested capital, together with the control of selective own capacity for complex, high-value manufacturing. Our selective expansion into own manufacturing facilities has also allowed us to capture higher margins.
  - Our hybrid model also supports simultaneous manufacturing, where our proprietary Zetwerk OS coordinates a single order across multiple facilities to shorten production cycles. It automates key decisions and replaces manual processes with technology. This creates meaningful operating leverage in our cost structure that improves with scale.
- Zetwerk OS, our proprietary technology enables end-to-end workflow management across the manufacturing lifecycle while driving powerful network effects across our operations;
  - Our manufacturing platform operates on our proprietary Zetwerk OS, an end-to-end technology that standardises every stage of the manufacturing lifecycle and supports distributed manufacturing. Our manufacturing platform integrates modules covering enquiry management, supplier recommendation and evaluation, design for manufacturing, order management, production planning, quality management, inventory tracking and logistics coordination.
  - Zetwerk OS is purpose-built for platform-scale workflow, managing thousands of concurrent projects across multiple suppliers, geographies and product categories
- Deep relationships with customers driving higher revenue visibility and stickiness;
  - Many of our customer relationships evolve from single-order engagements to multi-year contracts. This is demonstrated by the rising revenue from Repeat Customers in our Manufacturing Business which was 80.15% in Fiscal 2026, up from 78.11% in Fiscal 2024 and 84.80% in Fiscal 2025. Our customer retention is reflected in our Fiscal 2023 to Fiscal 2026 median NRR of 128.85% (NRR stood at 175.49% in Fiscal 2023, 137.46% in Fiscal 2024, 87.13% in Fiscal 2025 and 120.24% in Fiscal 2026).
  - As customers transition from single-product sourcing to multi-category programs, we build multiple touchpoints that strengthen these relationships through a broader range of procurement. Many customers also expand their engagement beyond procurement, involving us earlier in design and manufacturing planning to leverage our ODM and engineering capabilities and multi-geography production footprint.

- Ability to add value-additive ecosystem services to our manufacturing platform;
  - The unified, technology-first design of our manufacturing platform supports the addition of new value-added services on top of our core manufacturing capabilities. This ecosystem of services strengthens our customer proposition by addressing structural gaps in the manufacturing ecosystem, unlocking capabilities that individual customers cannot access on their own.
  - Through our Ecosystem Business segment, under the Terra91 brand, we consolidate material demand across customers and suppliers to negotiate directly with raw material suppliers. This aggregated buying power enables more efficient procurement, better pricing and higher input quality in ways not typically available to individual suppliers or customers.
- Experienced, cycle-tested management team backed by an experienced board of directors;
  - Our Promoters, Amrit Pratik Acharya and Srinath Ramakkrushnan, met at IIT Madras and began their careers at ITC. Our Company was incorporated in December 2017 and was later joined by Vishal Chaudhary, Ankit Fatehpuria and other members of our core management team.
  - Our founders and management team bring extensive and diverse experience across manufacturing, engineering, and technology-led operations, providing the expertise needed to scale our manufacturing platform. They have guided our business through economic cycles and expanded the scale and complexity of our operations.
- Comprehensive and institutionalised risk management framework with strong protection against external risks;
  - We have established a comprehensive and institutionalised risk management framework to mitigate key business risks, including raw material price volatility, foreign exchange exposure, counterparty risk, and supplier-related risks. Our diversified business model spanning multiple geographies and industries acts as a natural hedge against sector-specific downturns.
  - We proactively hedge key raw materials such as aluminium, zinc, copper, lead and other inputs where we have direct purchase exposure and exchange-traded hedging instruments are available, limiting the impact of adverse commodity price movements on our cost base. As our scale has increased, we have negotiated more favourable terms with key suppliers, several of whom now assume responsibility for their underlying raw material price risks.
  - To manage counterparty risk, we apply credit risk underwriting processes and maintain insurance coverage. We typically operate on back-to-back arrangements with suppliers, including quality assurance, warranties, and performance guarantees, which further limits residual operational and financial risks.

The effect of unvested employee stock options and restricted stock units are anti-dilutive in nature for the years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024, hence has not been considered for the calculation of Restated (loss)/Earnings per share (EPS) - Diluted (in ₹). ## F. Comparison of accounting ratios with listed industry peers

Global manufacturing capacity is organized through operating models that differ in asset ownership, and coordination intensity. Each model represents a distinct way of converting supplier capability into finished industrial output.

- Vertically Integrated (Captive) Manufacturing: Under this model, company own and operate dedicated production facilities designed around specific product lines or process capabilities, placing asset ownership primarily within the firm. Production planning, procurement, quality control, and logistics are managed internally within the organization. Supplier relationships exist primarily at the raw-material or subcomponent level, while final assembly and critical processes remain within captive plants. Capacity expansion occurs through direct capital investment, and operational decisions are governed by internal production schedules.
- Contract Manufacturing: In this model, a specialized manufacturing firm owns and operates production facilities, while producing goods on behalf of external brands. Asset ownership is concentrated with the manufacturer, whereas product design, intellectual property, branding, and market access remain with the client company. Coordination between the brand and manufacturer is bilateral and contract driven. The brand defines product specifications, quality standards, delivery timelines, and volume forecasts, while the contract manufacturer executes production within agreed parameters. Capacity expansion is driven by long-term client commitments, demand visibility, or aggregation of orders across multiple brands, and typically involves investments in new production lines, automation, geographic expansion, or facility scaling.
- Manufacturing Platform: In this model, production assets remain owned by independent suppliers, but a centralized platform provides the coordination layer that governs how those assets are utilized. The platform aggregates demand from multiple buyers and allocates work across a distributed supplier network, resulting in high coordination intensity driven by standardized execution protocols and real-time monitoring. Supplier onboarding, quality systems, procurement, and logistics are managed through shared digital infrastructure that provides system-wide visibility and control. The capital architecture remains asset-light at the platform level, with growth achieved by aggregating and optimizing existing supplier capacity rather than through direct ownership of manufacturing assets. Rather than functioning as a passive marketplace, the platform operates as an orchestration layer for distributed manufacturing, synchronizing capacity, financing, and delivery across a multi-tier network.

We are a technology-led, asset-light manufacturing platform driving production of industrial goods, both in India and globally. We aggregate manufacturing capacity across a network of third-party suppliers and our own facilities into a “universal factory,” unified through Zetwerk OS, our proprietary technology backbone. Our customers range across sizes, from innovative startups to mature companies, and across industries, including utilities, renewables, consumer electronics, artificial intelligence infrastructure, aerospace, space & defence, oil & gas, and industrial automation. Accordingly, there are no listed companies in India or globally which operate in a similar business model as ours.

G. Key Performance Indicators (“KPIs”)

Section 200 of the ITA further provides that domestic companies availing this option will not be required to pay Minimum Alternate Tax ("MAT") on their 'book profits' under section 206 of the ITA.

Further, the Company would need to indicate the choice to be governed by Section 200 in its Income-tax return filed for a given tax year, and once exercised, this choice cannot be subsequently withdrawn for any subsequent year. If a company opts for section 200 of the ITA, a company will no longer be eligible to avail specified exemptions/ incentives under the Act and will also need to comply with the other conditions specified in section 200. This deduction is equal to the amount of dividend income received from such other domestic company or foreign company or business trust, to the extent that it does not exceed the amount of dividend that the company itself distributes on or before the "due date." The "due date" means the date one month prior to the date for furnishing the return of income under sub-section (1) of section 263 of the ITA.

The Company shall be required to furnish a statement in Form 5 containing the particulars of expenditure specified under section 44 of the ITA to income tax authority prior to one month before the due date of filing income tax return as per section 263(1) of the ITA.

ANNEXURE 1

STATEMENT OF SPECIAL DIRECT TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO TERRA91 INTERNATIONAL PRIVATE LIMITED

DIRECT TAXATION

Outlined below are the special tax benefits available to the Terra91 International Private Limited (“TIPL”) and its Shareholders under the Income-tax Act, 2025 (‘the ITA’) as amended by the Finance Act 2026, i.e., applicable for the Tax Year 2026-27, as amended and presently in force in India (together, the “Direct Tax Laws”).

A. SPECIAL DIRECT TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO TIPL

1. Lower corporate tax rate under section 200 of the ITA (erstwhile Section 115BAA of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (‘ITA, 1961’))

Section 200 grants an option to a domestic company, to pay corporate tax at a reduced rate of 25.168% (22% plus surcharge of 10% and education cess of 4%) on its total income, subject to certain conditions. Section 200 of the ITA further provides that domestic companies availing this option will not be required to pay Minimum Alternate Tax (“MAT”) on their ‘book profits’ under section 206 of the ITA.

Further, TIPL would need to indicate the choice to be governed by Section 200 in its Income-tax return filed for a given tax year, and once exercised, this choice cannot be subsequently withdrawn for any subsequent year. If a company opts for section 200 of the ITA, a company will no longer be eligible to avail specified exemptions/ incentives under the Act and will also need to comply with the other conditions specified in section 200. Also, if a company opts for section 200, before tax year beginning 1st April, 2026, the tax credit (under section 206), if any, which it was entitled to, on account of MAT paid in earlier years, shall no longer be available. Further, it shall not be allowed to claim set-off of any brought forward loss arising to it on account of additional depreciation and other specified incentives.

TIPL has exercised the option to be taxed at the concessional tax rate by filing Form 10-IC for the year ended 31st March, 2025, and had accordingly disclosed the same in its return of income filed for the relevant year.

2. Deduction in respect of inter-corporate dividends – Section 148 of the ITA (erstwhile Section 80M of the ITA, 1961)

With respect to a resident corporate shareholder, section 148 was introduced to remove the cascading effect of taxes on inter-corporate dividends for FY 2020-21 and thereafter. The section provides that if the gross total income of a domestic company in any tax year includes any income by way of dividends from any other domestic company or a foreign company or a business trust, a deduction shall be allowed to the dividend-receiving company in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, in computing its total income. This deduction is equal to the amount of dividend income received from such other domestic company or foreign company or business trust, to the extent that it does not exceed the amount of dividend that the company itself distributes on or before the “due date. The “due date” means the date one month prior to the date for furnishing the return of income under sub-section (1) of section 263 of the ITA.

However, TIPL has not availed any benefit under the above section.

3. Deduction in respect of employment of new employees – Section 146 of the ITA (erstwhile Section 80JJAA of the ITA, 1961)

Subject to fulfilment of prescribed conditions (specified in subsection (3) of Section 146 of the ITA), TIPL is entitled to claim deduction, under the provisions of Section 146 of the ITA, of an amount equal to 30% of additional employee cost (relating to specified category of employees) incurred in the course of business in the tax year, for three consecutive tax years, beginning from the tax year in which such employment is provided.

However, TIPL has not availed any benefit under the above section.

B. SPECIAL DIRECT TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF TIPL

1. Dividend income earned by the shareholders would be taxable in their hands at the applicable rates for resident shareholders. Further, as per section 207 of the ITA (erstwhile Section 115A of the ITA, 1961), a non-resident (not being a company) or a foreign company, which has income by way of dividend, the amount of income-tax calculated on the amount of income by way of dividend shall be taxable at the rate of 20% (plus applicable surcharge and cess) subject to fulfilment of prescribed conditions under the Act.
2. In case of domestic corporate shareholders, deduction from dividend income would be available under section 148 of the ITA (erstwhile Section 80M of the ITA, 1961) on fulfilling the conditions (as discussed above).
3. As per section 198 of the ITA (erstwhile Section 112A of the ITA, 1961), long-term capital gains arising from transfer of equity shares, or a unit of an equity-oriented fund or a unit of a business trust shall be taxed at the rate of 12.5% with effect from 23 July 2024 (post amendment by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2024) subject to payment of securities transaction tax. However, no tax under the said section shall be levied where such capital gains does not exceed INR 1,25,000 during the year.
4. #### Section 1: Structural significance of manufacturing in the global economy

Manufacturing plays a central role in driving economic growth, employment, trade, and technological advancement globally. Over the last century, leadership in manufacturing has transitioned across successive industrial super-cycles from the United Kingdom to the United States, Japan, and most recently China. As the manufacturing landscape further evolves, countries such as India are actively positioning themselves as alternative manufacturing destinations

1.1. Manufacturing is a key engine of global economic growth, driving employment, trade, and technological progress globally

Manufacturing is a foundational pillar of global economic development that enables technological diffusion, supports employment across value chains, and drives international trade. It supports a broad network of interlinked industries, from raw materials and machinery to logistics and services, and is central to value creation in both developed and emerging markets. According to the World Bank, global manufacturing Gross Value Added (“GVA”) to global economy reached ₹1,430.12 trillion (US$16.82 trillion) in Calendar Year (“CY”) 2024, up from ₹1,156.45 trillion (US$13.61 trillion) in CY2020 growing at a Compound Annual Growth Rate (“CAGR”) of 5.45%. Additionally, between CY2020 and CY2024, manufacturing’s share of global economy GVA remained stable ranging between 16-19%, reinforcing the sector’s scale and significance.

Exhibit 1: Manufacturing GVA as a % of Global Economy GVA and Global Manufacturing GVA size and growth (CY2020-CY2024, share of global manufacturing GVA as a % of global economy GVA, global manufacturing GVA in ₹ trillion (US$ trillion))

Note(s): 1. Others comprise of all non-manufacturing sectors including agriculture, construction, mining, utilities, trade, transport, financial services, public administration, and other service industries. 2. Gross Value added is the contribution to the economy by manufacturing sector, which is estimated by the total value of output produced and deducting the total value of intermediate consumption of goods and services used to produce that output.

Manufacturing supports global economic expansion through three principal channels: employment generation, trade integration, and technological advancement:

1. Employment Generation

Manufacturing is one of the largest sources of employment globally, accounting for 12.10% of total employment in CY2025 and has the highest job-creation multiplier among major sectors.

Exhibit 2: Multiplier effect of additional employment generated in other sectors for each direct employment created in a given sector - across sectors<sup>1</sup>

The bars in the graphs represent the total employment multipliers, which indicate how many additional jobs are created in other sectors for each direct job generated within a given sector. The multipliers cover 76 countries in 2020 and are estimated by using Input-Output techniques. 2. Non-manufacturing sector includes mining, utilities and construction (ISIC codes B, D and E). 3. Modern services includes transport, communication, finance and business services (ISIC codes H, J, K, L, M and N).

2. Facilitating trade between countries

Manufacturing is key to global trade flows, with manufactured goods accounting for 69.49% of world merchandise exports in CY2024. As of CY2024, manufactured goods formed 55.65% of total merchandise exports from the United States ("US"), 91.16% from China, 67.10% from India, 84.13% from Germany, and 87.29% from Republic of Korea, highlighting manufacturing's predominance in global trade.

3. Driver of Technological Advancement

Manufacturing is the largest driver of global enterprise research & development (R&D) expenditure as innovation in products, materials, automation, and production processes is deeply embedded in how goods are made. Manufacturing accounts for a majority share of enterprise R&D across leading manufacturing economies in terms of GVA, with 54.71% of total enterprise R&D expenditure in the US (CY2022), 77.34% in Germany (CY2023), 76.94% in China (CY2024), 88.55% in the Republic of Korea (CY2024), and 40.80% in India (CY2021).

Manufacturing is foundational to the global economy GVA and its scale along with its interdependence across sectors make it central to value creation. Over time, shifts in technology, resource advantages, and policy priorities have periodically redefined the global manufacturing landscape, with leadership moving across regions and economies.

1.2. Evolving manufacturing super-cycles have led to shifting centers of global manufacturing leadership

Over the past century, global manufacturing has moved through multiple super-cycles that reshaped global production. The following periods trace how successive economies built and expanded manufacturing ecosystems, setting the foundation for today's globally integrated industrial base.

(CY1971-CY2024, in US$ billion)

Notes: 1. UN reports China data from 2004 onwards.

Source(s): UN

1. United Kingdom - The colonial wave (1900-1940): Britain's manufacturing dominance grew during the colonial supercycle of the 20th century, when mechanisation combined with access to colonial markets and raw materials drove industrial expansion. By CY1913, UK contributed around 13.60% of global manufacturing output, with large sections of the workforce employed in steel, textiles, and shipbuilding.
2. US - Post-World War II industrial wave (1940-1970): In the decades after World War II, the US became the center of global industrial production, supported by unmatched capital investment and domestic demand. Through the 1950s, manufacturing consistently contributed around 25-30% of US Gross Domestic Product ("GDP"), transitioning US into a modern, consumption-led industrial economy with global reach.
3. Japan - Reconstruction and export-led expansion (1960-1990): Japan's recovery phase evolved into an export-driven super-cycle through precision engineering, lean production, and focus on quality. Between 1960 and 1980, industrial value increased significantly, lifting manufacturing's share to its GDP above ~28%.
4. China - The "World's Factory" era (2000-2020): China's manufacturing rise was driven by a combination of policy liberalization, large-scale infrastructure investment, and integration into global supply chains following its accession to the WTO in 2001. China emerged as the world's largest manufacturing hub, accounting for ~28% of global manufacturing output in CY2024 and contributing ~25% of GDP of China as of CY2024.

Global manufacturing is entering a new phase of re-industrialisation and strategic rebalancing. While earlier industrial cycles were driven by export competitiveness and deep global integration, the current decade is defined by resilience, supply security, and geographic diversification. Governments across major economies are advancing industrial policy to strengthen domestic manufacturing bases, while companies are expanding production footprints beyond traditional hubs to mitigate concentration risk. Countries such as India are actively positioning themselves as alternative manufacturing destinations, attracting investment as firms seek to build more distributed and resilient supply chains.

Section 2: Policy-led re-industrialisation in the global manufacturing landscape

Global manufacturing is undergoing a structural shift with emerging economies like India, Vietnam, and Mexico rapidly growing their manufacturing bases through policy support, cost advantages, and capability development. Re-industrialisation is set to be based on aligning manufacturing products and processes with industrial demand and industrial diversification velocity. India is progressing from assembly to production-led manufacturing, while the US is experiencing a policy-driven manufacturing resurgence centered on technology-intensive industries.

2.1. The global manufacturing landscape reflects emerging realignment trends

The global manufacturing ecosystem is undergoing a structural realignment, driven by supply chain diversification, evolving industrial policies, and shifts in regional cost competitiveness. In recent years, China's manufacturing growth has moderated amid rising input costs, maturing export segments, and broader global trade realignments. Between CY2014 and CY2022, China's manufacturing GVA increased from ₹270.66 trillion (US$3.18 trillion) to ₹411.40 trillion (US$4.84 trillion), reflecting a CAGR of 5.37%. However, over CY2022 to CY2024, its manufacturing GVA declined at a CAGR of 1.86%, indicating a moderation in growth momentum and gradual adjustment in its share of global manufacturing output.

Against this backdrop, the global "China+1" strategy has accelerated in the post-COVID period, as manufacturers particularly those headquartered in the United States have begun actively diversifying their supply chains away from China toward alternative manufacturing hubs such as India, Vietnam, and Mexico to mitigate concentration risks and enhance supply chain resilience.

While macro-level growth trends indicate evolving geographic distribution of manufacturing output, the implications of this realignment vary significantly by industry. Understanding how product complexity, process intensity, and industry growth interact within the broader manufacturing ecosystem requires moving beyond aggregate output metrics.

2.2. Manufacturing diversification reflects the alignment between process capabilities and industry demand dynamics

The global realignment of manufacturing is not playing out uniformly across industries. The extent to which countries benefit from supply-chain diversification depends on how well their underlying manufacturing process capabilities align with the specific demand dynamics and diversification patterns of different end-use sectors.

Manufacturing industries rely on distinct combinations of core processes - casting, machining, fabrication, surface treatment, electronic and electro-mechanical assembly, among others - with each product category requiring its own mix of primary and secondary processes. A country's ability to participate in supply-chain diversification is therefore closely tied to the depth and breadth of its process capabilities. Industries with higher growth and diversification momentum tend to reward countries that can execute multiple process types reliably and at scale. Understanding which industries are experiencing both strong demand growth and active geographic diversification provides the analytical basis for assessing where manufacturing rebalancing is most likely to occur.

The manufacturing demand framework links process capabilities with demand conditions in end-use industries and observed diversification patterns.

The framework is structured around two complementary dimensions: (i) manufacturing demand growth and (ii) speed of manufacturing diversification

- Manufacturing demand growth: it represents the projected CAGR in manufacturing demand for different industries between CY2024 and CY2030P, reflecting expected changes in industry output over the period

- Speed of manufacturing diversification: it assesses the extent to which industries are redistributing production and trade linkages across geographies and captures both the changes in export distribution of each industry and regional policy support. This incorporates:
  - a) Changes in export distribution: it measures the dispersion of exports within each industry over a five-year period, indicating the reliance on one region. The dispersion of exports over a five-year period is measured using the change in the Herfindahl-Hirschman Index (“HHI”), a concentration metric that evaluates the top five countries’ share in global exports for each industry. A decline in HHI signals increasing diversification, suggesting that manufacturing and trade activity are spreading across more regions.
  - b) Regional policy support: it assesses the strength and design of industrial policy interventions, including production incentives, fiscal subsidies, clean energy credits, and localization programs, that collectively promote domestic manufacturing expansion and export competitiveness.

Given the cyclical nature of manufacturing industries, a temporary slowdown often precedes a strong rebound as inventory restocking, investment cycles, and policy support take effect. For instance, global semiconductor output declined by ~10% (Y-o-Y) in CY2023 but expanded by ~22% (Y-o-Y) in CY2025 to reach about ₹67.63 trillion (US$795.64 billion). Similarly, machinery and equipment production typically follows a 3-5-year investment cycle, showing periodic surges aligned with capital expenditure peaks. Considering this inherent cyclicality, and the relatively stable nature of diversification speed over the medium term, the framework identifies industries on the right-hand side of Exhibits 5a and 5b, those with high diversification speed, as presenting stronger and more resilient growth prospects over the medium term.

Based on the manufacturing demand framework for the United States, certain industries demonstrate relatively higher manufacturing demand growth alongside greater levels of diversification. These include electric vehicles, solar, data centres, aerospace and defence, railways, wind, consumer electronics, power grid equipment, and industrial metals and alloys.

As manufacturing activity varies across industries and regions, participation may depend on the feasibility of domestic production capabilities and alignment with evolving end-market demand and diversification trends. The extent of manufacturing expansion across geographies may be influenced by how domestic manufacturing ecosystems align with these industry-level dynamics.

2.3. Structural growth drivers are sustaining manufacturing expansion in India and the United States

Among the economies positioned to benefit from this realignment, India and the United States represent two distinct but complementary manufacturing trajectories - India driven by rapid capacity addition, localization, and rising domestic demand, and the US by policy-led re-industrialization, reshoring, and technology modernization. Both markets are supported by a combination of policy frameworks, demand conditions, and supply-side developments that are reinforcing sustained manufacturing expansion.

2.3.1. India: From assembly to production-led manufacturing

India's manufacturing sector has expanded over the past decade. As of CY2024, India's manufacturing GVA stood at ₹41.68 trillion (US$490.40 billion), compared to ₹26.11 trillion (US$307.21 billion) in CY2014, reflecting a CAGR of approximately 4.79% over the period. During the same timeframe, global manufacturing GVA grew at a CAGR of approximately 2.86%, indicating a comparatively higher growth rate (~1.7 times) for India relative to the global average. India's manufacturing profile has expanded beyond assembly-led activities toward greater domestic production of components and intermediate goods, supported by policy initiatives such as the Phased Manufacturing Programme ("PMP") and the Production Linked Incentive ("PLI") scheme, which have increased domestic value addition. In addition, global firms are diversifying their production bases as part of broader supply-chain strategies, with India emerging as one of the destinations across sectors such as electronics, automotive, and renewables.

India's ongoing manufacturing upcycle is being sustained by three structural growth drivers.

Government push and favourable policy environment: A multi-year policy-led capital-expenditure cycle is driving renewed manufacturing activity across industries. PLI schemes covering 14 industries including electronics, automotive, and renewables have attracted cumulative commitments exceeding ₹1.97 trillion (US$26.00 billion) as of CY2025, with over ₹1.88 trillion (US$22.50 billion) in realised investments and 2.10 million jobs created. The National Infrastructure Pipeline ("NIP") has attracted investments worth ₹31.10 trillion (US$365.88 billion) during CY2020-CY2025 across energy, transport, and industrial parks. Thermal power installed capacity in India expanded at a CAGR of ~1% between FY2021 and FY2026, growing from 234.73 GW in FY2021 to 249.27 GW in FY2026 and estimated to grow further to 315.91 GW in FY2033. Industry average lead times for power transformer manufacturing range from 30-36 months in India to 36-42 months in the United States, reflecting the extended procurement cycles associated with energy infrastructure expansion in both markets. Make in India and Atmanirbhar Bharat initiatives have driven localisation and MSME participation, with electronics manufacturing growing from ₹5.47 trillion (US$64.30 billion) in FY2020 to ₹11.30 trillion (US$132.94 billion) in FY2025. India also implemented over 3,000 regulatory reforms from FY2015 to FY2020, improving its World Bank Ease of Doing Business ranking from 142nd in CY2014 to 63rd in CY2020. Complementing these measures, the National Logistics Policy (“NLP”), launched in CY2022 in coordination with the PM Gati Shakti initiative, focuses on improving multimodal connectivity, reducing logistics costs, and strengthening supply-chain efficiency.

Demand-side drivers: India is experiencing a significant middle-class expansion, with the share of upper-middle and high-income households (annual income beyond ₹0.80 million) projected to rise from 35% in FY2026 to ~43% in FY2031P, while lower-income households (annual income below ₹0.30 million) are projected to decline from ~33% to ~26% during the same period. With a median age of ~28 years and a working-age share of ~68% as of CY2025, India is set to add nearly 110 million people to its labour force this decade. Urbanisation has reached 35.38% in CY2024, up from 32.23% in CY2014, expanding demand for housing, automobiles, and consumer durables. On the export side, India has emerged as a key alternative under the global “China+1” strategy, with Foxconn committing ~₹136.00 billion (US$1.60 billion) in CY2023 and Toyota, Honda and Suzuki committing ~₹975.00 billion (US$11.50 billion) in CY2025. India has also signed five major trade agreements and Economic Cooperation and Trade Agreements (ECTAs) since 2021, reducing tariff barriers on Indian goods.

Supply-side drivers: India’s manufacturing supply base has expanded through higher private capital expenditure, foreign investment, and faster technology adoption. Private-sector investment in manufacturing reached ₹1.50 trillion (US$17.69 billion) in FY2025, up 16.66% from ₹1.29 trillion (US$15.17 billion) in FY2022. FDI inflows into manufacturing totalled ₹1.62 trillion (US$19.04 billion) in FY2025 with Y-o-Y growth of 18%. Seasonally adjusted manufacturing capacity utilisation has strengthened from 68.30% in the quarter ending FY2020 to 77.70% in the quarter ending FY2025, highlighting sustained improvement in absorption of installed capacity. Concurrently, rapid adoption of automation, IoT, and AI-based process optimisation has improved productivity and quality performance across production networks.

As stated above, manufacturing in India has multiple secular tailwinds, such as China+1 diversification, 'Make in India,' defence indigenisation, and large infrastructure spending on public and private capital expenditure, but faces challenges around supply fragmentation, thereby creating reliability issues.

2.3.2. The United States: Policy-driven re-industrialization and reshoring

The US manufacturing GVA increased from ₹170.82 trillion (US$2.01 trillion) in CY2014 to ₹247.61 trillion (US$2.91 trillion) in CY2024, reflecting stable expansion at a CAGR of ~3.78%. Manufacturing maintained its contribution of around 10.23% to total GVA and accounted for 55.65% of US merchandise exports for CY2024. Supported by robust private investment and sustained consumer demand, US manufacturing output has remained stable as a share of the overall economy, even as its composition has shifted toward technology-intensive and clean-energy industries.

The ongoing capital-expenditure cycle in US manufacturing is being propelled by two principal forces.

Policy push and import substitution measures: The US has imposed targeted tariffs on steel, aluminium, automobiles, auto parts, and solar panels in CY2025-26 to protect domestic industries and address supply-chain risks. Three landmark legislations collectively anchor the current industrial policy framework: the CHIPS and Science Act (CY2022) allocates ~₹38.25 trillion (US$450.00 billion) for domestic semiconductor manufacturing and research; the Inflation Reduction Act (“IRA”, CY2022) includes ~₹31.37 trillion (US$369.00 billion) in energy and climate incentives boosting EV, battery, and clean-tech production; and the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (“IIJA”, CY2021) earmarks ₹102.00 trillion (US$1.20 trillion) for infrastructure upgrades, logistics networks, and supply-chain resilience. US spending on AI and data centre infrastructure is projected to reach ~ 2% of GDP in CY2026, with investment levels well above those of other countries. Buy American provisions under federal procurement guidelines mandate preference for domestically produced goods in public contracts, while Foreign Entity of Concern (“FEOC”) rules under the IRA restrict Chinese-linked sourcing in EV batteries, accelerating allied supply-chain localization. Targeted anti-dumping and countervailing duty (“AD-CVD”) measures further protect domestic industries from subsidized imports.

Supply-side drivers: US manufacturers are leading global adoption of automation, robotics, additive manufacturing, and AI-enabled production systems, driving productivity gains and improving cost efficiency across industrial facilities. Reshoring announcements exceeded ₹144.50 trillion (US$1.70 trillion) in value by CY2024, led by semiconductor fabrication, EV batteries, and renewable-energy components. The manufacturing project pipeline remains strong, with announced investments since CY2021 surpassing ~₹85 trillion (US$1 trillion), largely concentrated in semiconductors, EV-battery, and clean-energy industries.

The rapid adoption of Generative AI is driving strong demand for AI infrastructure. Technology companies are investing heavily in AI data centres, which require advanced cooling systems, robust power infrastructure, and server racks to support high-performance computing. At the core of these data centres are Graphics Processing Units ("GPUs"), which provide the computational power for AI training and inference. Demand for GPUs is growing rapidly, with the semiconductor market projected to increase from ₹67.63 trillion (US$795.6 billion) in CY2025 to approximately ₹128.46 trillion (US$1.51 trillion) by CY2026.

The convergence of policy support, demand expansion, and supply-side investment across India and the United States is driving sustained growth in manufacturing output. As production capacity scales across high-growth industries identified earlier in this section, including electric vehicles, solar, aerospace and defence, consumer electronics, and data centres, the associated demand for procurement of production equipment, precision components, and intermediate materials is expanding in both scale and complexity.

Section 3: Manufacturing procurement of durable goods in India and the US

Manufacturing procurement of durable goods is driven by capital expenditure and material consumption in operating expenditure. Procurement growth, however, varies significantly across industries, with a limited set of industries growing above the overall growth rate of manufacturing procurement of durable goods. India's manufacturing procurement of durable goods is expanding rapidly from ₹9.42 trillion (US$110.85 billion) in FY2021 to ₹17.37 trillion (US$204.37 billion) in FY2026 and ₹37.54-42.57 trillion (US$441.61-500.78 billion) by FY2031P, driven by policy-led capacity addition, localisation, and rising domestic demand. In contrast, the US procurement market for durable goods is witnessing steady growth from ₹46.01 trillion (US$541.26 billion) in FY2021 to ₹53.12 trillion (US$624.90 billion) in FY2026 and ₹57.92-66.97 trillion (US$681.38-787.89 billion) by FY2031P, anchored in re-industrialisation and technology-driven modernisation of an established manufacturing base.

3.1. Manufacturing procurement flows through two distinct channels of fulfilment

Procurement in manufacturing typically spans two stages of the manufacturing lifecycle: prototype design, and manufacturing operations.

- Prototype design supports early-stage product development, validation and customization. Demand at this stage is generally high-mix and low-volume, with a focus on testing, iteration and design refinement rather than large-scale production
- Manufacturing operations represent the scaled production phase of the lifecycle and account for a significant share of industrial demand. Procurement in this phase is influenced by (i) capital expenditure aimed at expanding or upgrading production capacity and (ii) recurring operating consumption required to sustain ongoing output.

Manufacturing capital expenditure ("Capex"):

Manufacturing capital expenditure refers to investments made to establish, expand, upgrade, or maintain production facilities. At a broad level, this includes spending on plant infrastructure, engineering and utility systems, and production equipment. Such investments support both greenfield capacity creation and brownfield expansion and are typically undertaken by asset owners.

For example, a solar panel manufacturing facility involves multiple layers of capital investment. This includes plant infrastructure such as factory buildings, cleanrooms, and warehousing; engineering utilities such as high-capacity power supply, water purification systems, and compressed air systems; and production equipment including wafer processing lines, cell fabrication systems, automated module assembly machinery, and integrated testing platforms.

Production equipment forms the core component of capital expenditure in manufacturing. It includes processing and fabrication equipment, forming machinery, assembly and material-handling systems, as well as quality control, testing, and inspection equipment used to enable scaled production.

Capital expenditure is largely project-based, with demand being non-recurring in nature and closely linked to macroeconomic cycles. During the COVID-19 pandemic, a sharp contraction in discretionary capital spending across the industries highlighted the limitations of the project-driven model, as it can lead to sudden volatility in order flows and prolonged periods of idle capacity.

Manufacturing operating expenditure ("Opex"):

Manufacturing operating expenditure refers to the recurring costs incurred during production activities. At a broad level, this includes expenditure on material consumption, labor and contract services, utilities and energy consumption, and other production-linked services.

In an electric vehicle manufacturing facility, for example, material consumption typically represents the largest recurring component and includes battery materials and electronics, utilities and energy costs include electricity, water supply, and compressed air, labor and contract services comprise wages for production workers, engineers, quality personnel, and outsourced facility staff, and other production-linked services include logistics, safety compliance, and environmental management. systems, structural components, and engineered assemblies incorporated into the finished vehicle.

Material consumption forms the core of recurring manufacturing procurement. It includes inputs ranging from standardized materials defined by grade and form factor to engineered components specified through detailed drawings, tolerances, and functional requirements, where value addition is linked to manufacturing precision and supplier process capability.

For instance, in precision electronics manufacturing, OEMs typically specify defect thresholds in parts per million (ppm), requiring suppliers to maintain rigorous process control and inspection systems to meet acceptance standards. A typical quality benchmark for components such as washing machine controllers is 500 ppm.

Unlike capital expenditure, which is project-driven, operating expenditure is linked to the continuity and scale of production. As manufacturing output expands, firms require a steady flow of input to sustain throughput and maintain operational efficiency. As a result, operating expenditure generates recurring procurement demand that is more stable and predictable compared with project-based investment cycles.

As these expenditures are related to sustained production continuity, operational procurement is typically led by original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) responsible for maintaining throughput and efficiency.

Exhibit 6: Characteristics of Manufacturing Procurement Demand

| Parameter                     | Prototype Design                                                                                                                             | Manufacturing Operations                                                                                 |                                                                                             |

Manufacturing procurement further can be broadly categorized into durable and consumable goods

- Durable goods: These are physical products or components with a long usable life that exist as discrete, identifiable parts or assemblies and are typically specified through part numbers, drawings, dimensions, tolerances, or performance specifications. For example, in wind turbine manufacturing, blades, gearboxes, nacelle housings, and control systems are durable goods that form engineered assemblies within the final asset
- Consumable goods: These are inputs that are used up, transformed, or depleted during normal production and do not exist as discrete engineered assemblies. Their value derives primarily from chemical, biological, or thermal processing rather than part-level engineering, and they are specified by grade, formulation, or composition rather than drawings or functional part specifications. For example, in food, beverage, and tobacco manufacturing, ingredients such as sugar, flour, flavouring agents, oils, tobacco leaf, and processing additives are consumable goods that are continuously used and replenished during production

The role of durable goods procurement varies across industries. In sectors such as automotive, consumer electronics, and aerospace & defense, durable goods are procured both as capital equipment and as engineered components and assemblies embedded within final products. In these industries, durable procurement spans both capital expenditure for production infrastructure and recurring procurement of production components used in scaled manufacturing.

Durable goods procurement is shaped by engineering intensity and manufacturing complexity across industries. As durable goods are integrated into production systems or finished assets and typically have longer usable lives, they represent a distinct segment of manufacturing procurement. Accordingly, the subsequent analysis focuses on this segment of manufacturing procurement.

Exhibit 8: Manufacturing Procurement Landscape: Industry-wise Size and Growth of Manufacturing Procurement of Durable Goods in India (USD Bn, %)
Descriptive

Note(s): X Axis: Size of manufacturing procurement for durable goods has been estimated, aggregating expenditure on production equipment (capital expenditure) and operating expenditure on material consumption for industries like Aerospace & Defense, Automotive, Electrical Equipment & Appliances, Energy & Power Equipment, Heavy Equipment & Off-Highway, Consumer Electronics, Industrial Machinery & Machine Tools, Metal Fabrication & Components, Semiconductors, Jewellery & Bijouterie, Rail Transportation Equipment, Medical Equipment & Supplies, Shipbuilding & Boats; and (ii) considering expenditure on production equipment (capital expenditure) only for remaining industries. Y Axis: Growth represents the CAGR for FY2021-2026 of the size of manufacturing procurement for durable goods calculated for each industry individually. Total size of procurement of durable goods won't be equal to the sum of procurement size of durable goods for all industries individually as it would lead to double counting as these industries occupy different layers in the manufacturing value chain.

There exists a clear cluster of industries which are growing above the overall growth rate of manufacturing procurement of durable goods in India. These high-growth industries can be grouped into two categories.

- High-growth industries with large procurement bases include Electrical Equipment & Appliances, Consumer Electronics, Energy & Power Equipment,.
- High-growth industries expanding from smaller procurement bases include Aerospace & Defense, Industrial Machinery & Machine Tools, Pharmaceuticals & Biotech, Rail Transportation Equipment, Medical Equipment & Supplies, Food, Beverages & Tobacco, Wood & Furniture, Non-Metallic Minerals, Primary Metals, Semiconductors, Oil Refining & Petrochemicals.

Similarly for US, high-growth industries can be grouped into two categories

- High-growth industries with large procurement bases include Metal Fabrication & Components, Heavy Equipment & Off-Highway, Semiconductors, Energy & Power Equipment, Industrial Machinery & Machine Tools, Consumer Electronics.
- High-growth industries expanding from smaller procurement bases include Wood & Furniture, Jewellery and Shipbuilding & Floating Structures.

Procurement demand across industries eventually comes from different macro industry context and growth drivers across India and United States.

Together, these industry growth drivers explain where procurement momentum is concentrated, but understanding their economic significance requires translating into measurable procurement value.

3.2 Manufacturing procurement is scaling rapidly in India, while growing steadily in the US, reflecting different stages of industrial maturity

Manufacturing procurement of durable goods exists across all industries but buyers (like OEM's) in one industry procure durable goods for production equipment under capital expenditure or operating materials from upstream or midstream supplier industries.

For example, a smartphone brand procures precision moulds and testing equipment as production equipment under capital expenditure from Industrial Machinery and Machine Tools industry and sources displays, semiconductor chips, camera modules, and control boards as operating materials from suppliers in Semiconductor industry.

Thus, market size of durable goods procurement in material consumed under operating expenditure in end-use industries such as Automotive, Consumer Electronics, Aerospace and Defence, Energy and Power Equipment will also include the durable goods procured by upstream or midstream supplier industries in their material consumed under operating expenditure.

For example, when a smartphone brand in the consumer electronics industry records procurement of semiconductor chips as operating expenditure, the chip manufacturer in the semiconductor industry has already procured silicon wafers, deposition materials, and precision fabrication components under its own material consumption in operating expenditure. The value embedded in the semiconductor chips therefore includes durable goods previously procured by upstream industries in their own material consumption in operating expenditure

Hence, total procurement of durable goods is measured as the sum of total value of production equipment under capital expenditure across all industries and material consumed under operating expenditure for end-use industries.

In India, manufacturing has scaled up over the past five years through capacity expansion across various industries, supported by favourable policy initiatives such as PLI and Make in India and rising domestic consumption, and a sustained public-private capital expenditure cycle. Going forward, manufacturing growth is expected to be driven by urbanisation-led demand, accelerated infrastructure investment and global supply-chain realignment towards India.

In contrast, in the US, growth in manufacturing procurement is driven primarily by re-industrialisation and technology upgradation rather than net capacity expansion. As a result, growth remains steady and is anchored in the modernisation and upgrading of existing capacity rather than large-scale expansion.

High growing industries undergoing technological transformation, including renewable energy, artificial intelligence infrastructure, aerospace and defence are increasing their procurement of durable goods to support both capital investment in greenfield and brownfield capacity expansion and the recurring material consumption required to sustain scaled production. However, procurement in these industries is frequently constrained by limited access to scalable and high-quality manufacturing capacity.

Manufacturing capacity is often globally fragmented, with production typically carried out in uncoordinated, discrete facilities characterised by variable quality and inconsistent service levels, making scaling inefficient and unreliable. This challenge is particularly pronounced in new, high-growth industries such as renewable energy, artificial intelligence, defense, aerospace, and space exploration, where rapid growth in demand for manufactured goods is often bottlenecked by supply chain constraints. Industry average lead times for power transformer manufacturing range from 30-36 months in India to 36-42 months in the United States, reflecting the extended procurement cycles associated with energy infrastructure expansion in both markets. Additionally, for other products as well such as EV battery enclosures and data center module development the procurement time is 8-16 weeks and 24-28 weeks respectively in India.

The supplier ecosystem remains structurally fragmented, with manufacturing capacity distributed across numerous specialised suppliers rather than concentrated among a limited number of scaled manufacturers. As a result, buyers often need to engage multiple suppliers to meet production requirements. This fragmented structure reduces visibility into available supplier capacity, complicates coordination across the supply chain, and can lead to inconsistencies in quality, delivery timelines, and overall execution.

Section 4: Despite rapid procurement growth, manufacturing capacity remains constrained by MSME-led fragmentation of the supply base

Demand procurement is growing, but time-to-market delays, quality escapes, and delivery overruns persist. Manufacturing capacity in both India and the US exists at scale but is distributed across many small and mid-sized suppliers, resulting in a structurally fragmented supply base. Fragmentation drives low-capacity utilisation as limited demand visibility, peak-driven capacity planning at individual suppliers, and the absence of mechanisms to pool or reallocate demand across industries leave a large share of installed assets idle for significant periods. The fragmented supplier base also creates persistent financial constraints driven by low working capital buffers and limited access to flexible financing. Over time, workforce ageing, limited inflow of new technical talent, and ownership succession gaps compound these constraints, weakening supplier's ability to renew skills and support scalable growth.

4.1 Despite growing demand for durable goods in manufacturing, execution risk persists

Procurement demand for durable goods across manufacturing industries continues to expand, supported by increased outsourcing, rising product complexity, geographic diversification, and shorter innovation cycles. Buyers are sourcing higher volumes, across a wider range of categories and regions. However, growth in procurement intensity has not fully translated into consistent and reliable supply outcomes, and execution challenges remain.

4.1.1 *Time-to-Market delays undermine buyers' competitiveness by widening the gap between procurement demand and stable supply output

Buyers increasingly operate within compressed product cycles where speed to market is critical. Procurement timelines, however, are often extended due to prolonged supplier discovery and onboarding, limited visibility into available capacity, iterative negotiations, and multiple validation and production trial cycles.

As a result, there is frequently a lag between order placement and stable production supply. In fast-evolving industries such as consumer electronics, such delays can defer product launches, disrupt downstream planning, and weaken competitive positioning in markets where responsiveness and reliability are important. This is particularly evident in segments such as Printed circuit board ("PCB") assembly, electric vehicle ("EV") components and industrial automation parts, where speed-to-market determines competitive positioning in fast-moving markets, are supply constrained.

4.1.2 *Time overruns disrupt production schedules, delay downstream operations, and increase overall system-level costs.

Even after ramp-up, deviations from committed delivery timelines remain common. Milestones shift, batch shipments are delayed, and production schedules require adjustment.

These delays disrupt downstream assembly operations, create idle capacity, and affect tightly sequenced manufacturing schedules. In capital-intensive sectors such as aerospace, heavy equipment, and energy infrastructure, repeated timeline deviations may delay project completion and increase cost exposure. To mitigate uncertainty, buyers often maintain higher safety stock and inventory buffers, which increases working capital requirements and reduces overall supply chain efficiency.

4.1.3 *Quality variability increases operational and commercial risk

Quality consistency remains uneven across supplier networks, where process maturity varies significantly. Buyers frequently encounter inconsistent process controls, uneven operator skill levels, deferred maintenance and tooling upgrades, and limited investment in advanced quality management systems, resulting in variability across batches and production runs. Such variability is particularly consequential in precision-sensitive segments, where quality thresholds are stringent.

These capability gaps lead to quality escapes, where defects are detected downstream during assembly, integration, or at the end-customer stage. Beyond rework costs, such failures increase warranty exposure, disrupt production schedules, strain buyer-supplier relationships, and create material reputational and commercial risk.

While these issues appear at the buyer level as delays and fulfilment risk, they often reflect broader structural fragmentation and uneven capability across the manufacturing ecosystem.

4.2. While aggregate manufacturing capacity exists, supply remains fragmented and unevenly organised

Manufacturing capacity across major industrial economies exists in aggregate. However, it is dispersed across a large number of small and mid-sized suppliers, resulting in a structurally fragmented supply landscape.

In India, Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises ("MSMEs") account for a significant share of manufacturing output, reflecting their role within domestic value chains.

- As of CY2025, India has approximately 76.11 million registered MSMEs, of which nearly 21% operate in the manufacturing sector. As of FY2022, manufacturing MSMEs contributed ~35% of India's total manufacturing output where reliability and quality are often inconsistent.
- Manufacturing capacity is widely dispersed across regional clusters, making cross-cluster sourcing difficult. In automotive, upstream inputs concentrate in Odisha and Gujarat, midstream assembly in Pune and Chennai, and downstream ecosystems near major consumption centres. This geographic spread creates aggregate capacity that remains siloed and inefficient to mobilize at scale.

Exhibit 13: State-wise distribution of MSME's in India (CY2025)

Source(s): Ministry of MSME Annual Report

A similar structural pattern is visible in the US, where manufacturing output across multiple industrial segments relies heavily on tiered supplier networks and specialised small firms

- In CY2020, the US had ~33.27 million small businesses, including ~592,500 small manufacturing enterprises. These firms represent ~97% of all manufacturing establishments, indicating that the country's industrial system is anchored in a highly fragmented, small business-led supplier base.
- In the US aerospace ecosystem, clustering spans all value chain layers. Upstream materials and avionics suppliers concentrate in Texas and Arizona, midstream aircraft manufacturing anchors in Washington and California, and downstream maintenance and servicing hubs sit near major aviation corridors, limiting cross-regional coordination and flexible capacity deployment.

As a result, this fragmentation translates into (i) structurally low utilisation of installed capacity, (ii) working capital and financing constraints that limit reinvestment and modernisation, and (iii) progressive ageing of the supplier base, including workforce and ownership succession gaps.

4.2.1. Large installed capacity remains structurally under-utilised due to idle assets, peak-driven planning, and limited cross-industry load balancing

Fragmentation of the supplier base constrains how manufacturing capacity is planned and allocated at individual suppliers. This prevents efficient pooling and routing of demand, leading to uneven utilisation and persistent underutilisation across the system.

1. Limited Demand Visibility:

MSMEs/Small Businesses are fragmented and geographically dispersed, with visibility only into their own limited order books and lack of insight into aggregate industry demand. The absence of shared demand signals and standardised operating processes reduces demand predictability, leading to volatile order flows, uneven production schedules, and structurally low utilisation levels across the supplier base.

2. Peak Driven Capacity Planning:

In this unpredictable environment, suppliers are compelled to plan capacity conservatively rather than optimise it at a system level. Capacity is typically sized to accommodate peak or surge demand even though such peaks occur only intermittently. As a result, machines, labour, and shop-floor resources remain idle for significant periods, with realised order volumes falling below peak assumptions. While rational at the level of an individual supplier, this approach structurally depresses average utilisation across the manufacturing ecosystem.

3. Limited Cross-Industry Utilisation:

At the same time, fragmentation prevents efficient reallocation and cross-industry utilisation of capacity. Differences in technical requirements, approvals, operating processes, and commercial terms mean that idle capacity at one supplier within one industry cannot be readily redeployed elsewhere. During the automotive slowdown in India triggered by the semiconductor chip shortage, many automotive component manufacturers operated significantly below capacity, leaving high-value CNC machining assets idle. Yet these same machines were technically capable of producing precision components for aerospace applications, where demand remained comparatively resilient.

Taken together, these dynamics convert fragmentation into a structural utilisation gap, whereby effective capacity remains materially below installed capacity, constraining scalable manufacturing growth.

4.2.2. Fragmented and small suppliers face persistent working capital and financing constraints, limiting reinvestment, modernisation, and scale-up

The fragmented, MSME-led structure of the supplier base results in weak financial foundations across a large part of the manufacturing ecosystem. Many suppliers operate at small scale and depend on a limited number of buyers, constraining bargaining power and exposing cash flows to uneven payment cycles and irregular order patterns. Over time, this limits earnings accumulation and leaves suppliers with low financial resilience, even during periods of stable demand. These vulnerabilities are compounded by limited access to flexible financing, as credit for small and mid-sized suppliers remains largely collateral-based and limited, while working capital solutions that can absorb demand and production volatility are scarce.

These financial constraints directly shape supplier behaviour. Production planning is often dictated by available cash rather than demand visibility or machine efficiency, leading to short planning cycles and fragmented schedules. Suppliers therefore avoid long production runs, hesitate to take large orders that strain working capital, and limit inventory build-up without confirmed demand. At the same time, suppliers postpone capital expenditure decisions. Investments in maintenance, tooling replacement, process stabilisation, automation, and quality systems are postponed not due to low returns, but because available capital is consistently tied up in day-to-day operating needs.

Over time, these behaviours reduce the usable manufacturing capacity in the system. Machines and factories stop running continuously with a steady production plan and are used only when orders come in, like a backup buffer. This leads to consistently low and unstable utilisation, and processes become less reliable because maintenance and upgrades are repeatedly delayed. As a result, many suppliers enter each business cycle with weak finances and limited ability to handle demand swings or operational disruptions.

4.2.3. Ageing workforce and succession gaps are further weakening the reliability and depth of the supplier base

Workforce ageing is emerging as a less visible, but structurally significant, constraint on manufacturing ecosystems. Across major industrial economies such as the US, India, Republic of Korea, Germany and Mexico, the share of ageing individuals (aged 55+ years) within the labour force has increased rapidly, reflecting limited inflow of younger technical talent and accelerating workforce ageing across the supply base.

Exhibit 15: Percentage share of individuals aged 55+ in labour force<sup>1</sup> - Republic of Korea, Germany, US, Mexico, India
(CY2024, Share in %)

Note(s): The labour force is the sum of all people of working age who are either employed or unemployed but actively seeking and available for work during a specified reference period.

Source(s): International Labour Organisation

This demographic shift is weakening the manufacturing system's ability to renew skills and support scalable growth in following ways:

- i. Limited entry of new workers: Unpredictable order volumes and limited demand visibility constrain suppliers' willingness to invest in workforce development, resulting in a lower intake of younger workers and a steadily ageing manufacturing workforce.
- ii. Declining availability of skilled operators: As experienced workers retire faster than new talent is trained, the pool of skilled operators required to run equipment, ensure quality, and ramp production continues to shrink, making scale-up slower, less reliable, and more execution-risk prone.
- iii. Increasing concentration of supplier capabilities: In complex, certification-intensive industries, this talent attrition disproportionately affects small and mid-sized suppliers, slowing supplier renewal and accelerating the concentration of production and know-how within a limited set of large vendors, most visibly in aerospace, defence, and semiconductor industries

Alongside workforce ageing, ownership succession is increasingly emerging as a structural risk across the supplier base. Most small and mid-sized suppliers are owner-operated, often with ageing promoters and limited succession planning. As these owners retire without clear successors, firms frequently downsize, are acquired, or exit operations altogether, progressively shrinking the effective manufacturing capacity.

4.3 Fragmentation has been observed across major manufacturing hubs at different stages of industrial development

Supplier fragmentation is not unique to India. It has been observed across several manufacturing economies, including China, South Korea, and Italy, particularly during earlier phases of industrial expansion when production capacity was distributed across numerous small and mid-sized enterprises.

In these markets, manufacturing ecosystems initially comprised large numbers of dispersed suppliers operating at varying levels of scale and capability. Over time, as industrial systems expanded and matured, supplier networks evolved toward greater coordination and integration. Historical experience across major manufacturing hubs indicates that supplier bases were initially dispersed before becoming more organised over time. Greater coordination has generally coincided with improvements in utilisation and operational efficiency.

Section 5: The expanding role of Manufacturing Platforms in addressing structural procurement and supply fragmentation

Manufacturing Platforms have emerged within manufacturing ecosystems characterised by fragmented supplier bases, rising coordination intensity, and increasing pressure on procurement execution. By aggregating demand and orchestrating distributed supply networks, these platforms aim to improve utilisation, reliability, and execution consistency. As of FY2026, Manufacturing Platforms has total addressable market (TAM) of ₹ 10.26-12.57 trillion (US$120.65-147.91 billion) and ₹ 2.07-6.26 trillion (US$ 24.32-73.60 billion) in India and US respectively.

5.1. Manufacturing platforms aggregate demand and orchestrate fragmented supply networks to improve time-to-market reliability and quality consistency

As growth accelerates across end-user industries, the pace of product launches, model refreshes, and capacity expansion has intensified. This expansion places structural pressure on manufacturing procurement to deliver standardised, high-quality durable goods at greater speed and scale. However, the underlying manufacturing ecosystem remains unevenly organised, limiting its ability to respond efficiently to rising demand.

On the demand side, buyers face increasing pressure to compress time-to-market, ensure schedule reliability, and maintain quality consistency across expanding product portfolios. Procurement processes are often decentralised, with heterogeneous specifications and limited visibility into supplier capacity, increasing coordination effort and execution risk.

On the supply side, fragmented supplier networks struggle to synchronise capacity, absorb demand volatility, and maintain delivery performance. Dispersed MSME-heavy ecosystems, limited process standardisation, and uneven operational maturity contribute to persistent asset underutilisation, stretched working capital cycles, and recurring bottlenecks.

As order volumes scale, these demand- and supply-side frictions compound. Rather than unlocking aggregate capacity, rising demand can amplify embedded inefficiencies across dispersed supplier bases, widening structural supply-demand gaps.

Manufacturing Platforms function as a digital aggregation and orchestration layer that connects buyers with distributed suppliers and standardises how manufacturing work is specified, allocated, executed, and monitored. Without owning production assets, they aggregate demand across buyers, pool fragmented capacity, and institutionalise common processes, data flows, and quality governance frameworks to enable more coordinated and scalable execution across multi-tier networks.

Source(s): Redseer research and analysis

The relevance and addressability of Manufacturing Platforms vary meaningfully across industries and are shaped by three structural factors: (i) time to market intensity, (ii) demand diversification, and (iii) supply fragmentation

1. Time to Market: Time-to-market intensity reflects the degree to which competitive advantage within an industry is driven by rapid product launches, frequent upgrades, and compressed innovation cycles.

Higher time-to-market intensity increases coordination complexity across suppliers, as frequent product refreshes require rapid tooling adjustments, process reconfiguration, supplier onboarding, and validation cycles. Time-to-market intensity manifests in two dimensions:
  - Depth of product refresh cycles: Indicates how frequently products undergo redesigns or upgrades, influencing how often suppliers must refresh tooling, processes, or capabilities to stay aligned
  - Breadth of product expansion: Captures the extent to which new product categories or variants are introduced, shaping the diversity of components suppliers must handle
2. Demand Diversification represents how widely a product is adopted, how frequently it is consumed or replaced, and how value shifts within the category. Strong demand diversification places sustained pressure on suppliers to scale reliably and match OEM production cycles. It depends on three underlying parameters:
  - Penetration & Customer Base: Describes the scope for reaching new users or geographies, indicating the runway for continued manufacturing expansion.
  - Consumption Intensity: Reflects how often products are used, replenished, or replaced, influencing production frequency and the steadiness of supplier volumes.
  - Price & Mix: Shows whether demand is shifting toward more complex or higher-value SKUs, which typically require deeper supplier capabilities and tighter process control.
3. Supply Fragmentation: The multi-tiered nature of an industry's supply chain reflects the number of layers between raw materials and finished goods, as well as how broad the supplier base is at each stage. Industries with deep or wide supply tiers often have more coordination points and greater variability in supplier performance, increasing the potential for fragmentation. The multi-tiered structure depends on two parameters:

- Tier Depth: The number of upstream and downstream layers involved in producing a finished component or assembly, each layer adding interdependencies that require coordination.
- Tier Breadth: The diversity and volume of suppliers within each layer, influencing the complexity of managing specifications, quality, and capacity across the supply chain.
- Degree of Organisation: The level of process standardisation, digital integration, financial robustness, and maturity governance within the supplier base. Highly organised ecosystems with consolidated players and standardised processes exhibit lower coordination friction, whereas fragmented, MSME-led systems with heterogeneous capabilities face higher variability, limited transparency, and weaker system-level optimisation.

The intensity with which these structural factors manifest varies significantly across industries, shape both the relevance and the scale of opportunity for Manufacturing Platforms. Industries characterised by demand led capacity expansion, compressed product cycles, and complex multi-tier supplier ecosystems tend to exhibit higher coordination requirements and therefore greater platform relevance.

In particular, customers in rapidly expanding industries such as Grid and Power equipment, AI and Data centre infrastructure, and Precision Industrial components characterised by large capital investments are increasingly partnering with effective yet cost-efficient Manufacturing Platforms to ensure reliability and speed amid compressed product cycles.

The total procurement market for manufacturing durable goods does not translate uniformly into platform opportunity. Its effective addressability is shaped by how these three structural factors manifest across different industries.

Exhibit 17: Total Addressable Market-Methodology
Descriptive

Note(s): Downstream Factor % measures the share of manufacturing output that is final, terminal demand rather than inputs or capital goods for other industries.

The total manufacturing procurement pool comprises both capital expenditure on production equipment and operating expenditure on materials required to sustain production. A significant share of this spend relates to procurement of durable goods, physical products or components with long usable lives that exist as discrete, identifiable parts or assemblies, typically defined through part numbers, drawings, dimensions, tolerances, or performance specifications.

However, platform relevance within this pool is not uniform across industries. Addressability of Manufacturing Platforms expands to ecosystems characterised by rapid product evolution, diversified demand patterns, and multi-tiered supply chains requiring active coordination.

Accordingly, the Total Addressable Market reflects manufacturing procurement of durable goods concentrated in industries where Manufacturing Platforms can enhance capacity utilisation, reliability, and execution consistency, rather than the entirety of manufacturing procurement.

The role of Manufacturing Platforms in addressing structural supply-demand gaps reflects a broader evolution in how manufacturing capacity is organized. As coordination intensity increases across fragmented ecosystems, execution capabilities and network orchestration become more central to performance than standalone asset ownership. Platform-led models represent one structural response to these coordination requirements, built around aggregation, standardization, and distributed execution.

In FY2026, manufacturing procurement of durable goods in TAM (Exhibit 19a & 19b) is served through a combination of traditional manufacturers and emerging Manufacturing Platforms. Manufacturing Platforms typically serve the growth in the demand for manufacturing procurement of durable goods. Looking ahead to FY2031P, procurement growth is expected to occur in segments characterised by higher coordination complexity, faster product cycles, and multi-tier supply structures. In such environments, traditional models encounter rising coordination friction, limited cross-network visibility, and scalability constraints.

Manufacturing Platforms are positioned to address these frictions by aggregating decentralised demand, pooling fragmented capacity, and institutionalising standardised execution frameworks across distributed supplier networks.

As of FY2026, Manufacturing Platforms has total addressable market (TAM) of ₹ 10.26-12.57 trillion (US$120.65-147.91 billion) and ₹ 2.07-6.26 trillion (US$ 24.32-73.60 billion) in India and US respectively.

Section 6: Key players in durable goods manufacturing and their competitive positioning across different manufacturing models

Competitive advantage in manufacturing increasingly depends on how effectively capacity is organized, coordinated, and scaled across fragmented ecosystems. Manufacturing Platforms turn fragmented supplier networks into a coordinated operating system, improving efficiency, reliability, and capital productivity while building long-term advantages through diversification, and execution control.

6.1 Manufacturing models differ in asset ownership, coordination structure, and capital deployment

The way manufacturing capacity is organized - whether through owned facilities, contracted production, or coordinated supplier networks - has direct implications for capital intensity, scalability, and long-term return on invested capital. Each model represents a distinct way of converting supplier capability into finished industrial output, with measurable differences in how capital is deployed, risk is distributed, and production is scaled.

- 1. Vertically Integrated (Captive) Manufacturing: Under this model, company own and operate dedicated production facilities designed around specific product lines or process capabilities, placing asset ownership primarily within the firm. Production planning, procurement, quality control, and logistics are managed internally within the organization. Supplier relationships exist primarily at the raw-material or subcomponent level, while final assembly and critical processes remain within captive plants. Capacity expansion occurs through direct capital investment, and operational decisions are governed by internal production schedules.
- 2. Contract Manufacturing: In this model, a specialized manufacturing firm owns and operates production facilities, while producing goods on behalf of external brands. Asset ownership is concentrated with the manufacturer, whereas product design, intellectual property, branding, and market access remain with the client company. Coordination between the brand and manufacturer is bilateral and contract driven. The brand defines product specifications, quality standards, delivery timelines, and volume forecasts, while the contract manufacturer executes production within agreed parameters. Capacity expansion is driven by long-term client commitments, demand visibility, or aggregation of orders across multiple brands, and typically involves investments in new production lines, automation, geographic expansion, or facility scaling.
- 3. Manufacturing Platform: In this model, production assets remain largely owned by independent suppliers, while a centralized platform provides the coordination layer that governs how those assets are utilized. The platform aggregates demand from multiple buyers and allocates work across a distributed supplier network, resulting in high coordination intensity driven by standardized execution protocols and real-time monitoring. Supplier onboarding, quality systems, procurement, and logistics are managed through shared digital infrastructure that provides system-wide visibility and control. The capital architecture remains predominantly asset-light at the platform level, with growth achieved by aggregating and optimizing supplier capacity rather than through extensive ownership of manufacturing assets, although some platforms may maintain limited captive facilities to support specialized capabilities or quality control.

Traditional manufacturing models, including vertically integrated and contract manufacturing firms, are typically capital intensive, as increasing production requires additional investment in plant, machinery, and working capital.

As a result, companies operating through owned manufacturing facilities may face limits in scaling revenue, as capacity expansion requires incremental capital investment. Conversely, pure marketplaces often lack the control and execution certainty required for complex, high-value manufacturing. Manufacturing Platforms actively coordinate production through centralized execution systems that synchronize capacity, financing, and delivery across a distributed supplier network. Additionally, other manufacturing platforms globally focus on custom manufacturing for buyers and suppliers (for example Xometry).

Manufacturing Platforms and contract manufacturers are increasingly expanding into product design, engineering, and development through Original Design Manufacturing (ODM) models. ODM and associated design, engineering and product development provides an opportunity where customers pay a premium for design and co-creation capabilities beyond just production. For example, customers whose products have been designed through an ODM process also face switching costs, as replacement would require re-engineering. ODM relationships also enable direct engagement with end customers rather than working through OEM intermediaries, improving both margins and market intelligence.

Manufacturing models differ in how they deploy capital, coordinate supplier networks, and scale production. These structural differences translate into measurable variation in capital intensity, scalability, utilization efficiency, coordination control, risk distribution, and long-term capital productivity.

These structural differences in capital deployment and coordination translate into measurable financial performance variations across companies operating under different manufacturing models.

6.2. Financial and capital efficiency benchmarking across manufacturing archetypes

Traditional manufacturing companies typically operate within specific product segments or end-use industries, with their financial profile shaped by the capital intensity, margin structure, and demand cyclicality of that segment. To assess how differences manifest in financial performance, listed manufacturing companies have been classified into three archetypes based on their primary product focus - energy, precision, and capital goods.

The following exhibit compares key financial and capital efficiency metrics across these groups.

Exhibit 21: Manufacturing Model Benchmarking Across Key Parameter - by Archetype of companies<sup>2</sup>

Industrial end-markets are inherently cyclical, with demand driven by commodity prices, government policy, technology adoption curves and macroeconomic conditions. A manufacturing company concentrated in any single end-industry or geography faces revenue volatility as cycles turn. However, Manufacturing Platforms serving multi-industry customers allows them to leverage secular trends such as large-scale industrialisation across India and the U.S., defence modernisation in India, the U.S., and Europe, and the clean energy transition. This multi-industry presence reduces dependence on any single end-market cycle while providing sustained access to demand driven by long-term policy and investment commitments across geographies.

In the normal course of business, Manufacturing Platform's structural advantage becomes more pronounced as it scales where each incremental unit of capital invested generates more revenue and higher returns than asset-heavy manufacturers, leading to superior long-term returns on invested capital.

Beyond financial benchmarking, the durability of competitive advantage in manufacturing depends on the depth of the operating system that governs supplier coordination, demand allocation, and execution reliability.

6.3 Operating capabilities of Manufacturing Platforms: coordination, intelligence, and execution

OEMs today face greater complexity in managing cross-border, multi-party supply chains and coordinating multiple suppliers across pricing, timing, and inconsistent quality. Manufacturing Platforms build durable competitive advantage through three reinforcing capabilities: platform intelligence, a diversified supply base, and precision execution capability, all anchored by end-to-end operating control. Together, these pillars allow the platform to translate demand into coordinated production, allocate work dynamically across suppliers, and maintain execution reliability for complex or high-spec procurement. This integrated operating stack creates a unified system across fragmented supplier networks, reducing execution risk for OEMs while embedding the platform deeply into customer supply chains.

Exhibit 22: Core Strategic Advantages- Manufacturing Platforms
Descriptive

Source(s): Redseer research and analysis

Platform intelligence forms the backbone of Manufacturing Platforms by consolidating data across demand signals, supplier capacity, costs, quality, and execution performance. This unified data layer enables better forecasting, faster decision-making, and dynamic allocation of orders across suppliers. Over time, repeated execution strengthens learning effects, allowing platforms to standardise processes, optimise supplier selection, and continuously improve reliability and efficiency at scale.

A diversified supply base provides the second structural advantage. Manufacturing Platforms aggregate and actively manage supplier networks across regions while serving customers across multiple industries. By maintaining diversified supplier bases and demand pools, platforms reduce dependence on any single geography or end-market. Through dynamic allocation of demand across suppliers, locations, and industries, platforms are able to sustain utilisation levels, ensure continuity of supply, and provide greater delivery predictability for OEMs even during periods of market volatility.

Precision execution capability provides the third pillar. For high specification, regulated, or technically complex components, integrated platforms often maintain limited in-house precision manufacturing capabilities. These facilities are deployed selectively for prototyping, early production runs, compliance-critical programs, or capacity backstops where third-party suppliers may face constraints. Rather than replacing the broader supplier ecosystem, these capabilities enhance platform credibility, ensure execution reliability, and expand the range of manufacturing programs the platform can support. As of FY2026, Zetwerk - Manufacturing's process capabilities are diverse and extensive compared to SME manufacturers, which typically have 2 to 5 manufacturing process capabilities.

These capabilities collectively position Manufacturing Platforms to capture a growing share of the manufacturing procurement opportunity described in earlier sections, with structural advantages in scalability and capital efficiency relative to traditional manufacturing models. As procurement complexity increases across high-growth industries and geographies, the coordination, intelligence, and execution depth embedded in platform operating systems become increasingly difficult to replicate through conventional manufacturing arrangements.

Section 7: Threats and Challenges

While the manufacturing procurement industry in India and United States is witnessing significant growth, structural and external risks could influence the trajectory and stability of the industry and its participants.

1. Macroeconomic and policy risks

- a. Capital expenditure cyclicality: Manufacturing procurement volumes are closely tied to industrial capex and production cycles. Economic slowdowns or deceleration in capacity expenditures can defer procurement of capital goods, particularly in capex-intensive industries.
- b. Commodity price volatility: Fluctuations in the prices of key raw materials such as steel, aluminium, zinc and copper, driven by geopolitical developments and supply chain disruptions, can create uncertainty in contract pricing and compress margins across the procurement value chain. Recent geopolitical conflicts, including the West Asia conflict, have further disrupted global commodity markets, leading to supply shortages, higher prices and increased volatility across commodities such as crude oil, LNG, fertilizers, petrochemicals and aluminium.

- c. Trade policy and regulatory changes: Shifts in tariff regimes, local content requirements, and evolving compliance norms under GST and public procurement guidelines can alter sourcing economics and increase operational complexity for procurement intermediaries.

2. Operational and supply-chain risks

- a. Vendor concentration and quality risks: Manufacturing supply chains for precision-engineered components often rely on a limited set of qualified vendors. Capacity constraints or quality variability can disrupt production schedules and affect end-customer outcomes.
- b. Quality liability in critical applications: Procurement of components for sectors such as aerospace, defence, and energy carries elevated quality assurance requirements. Supply-chain quality failures could create reputational and contractual exposure for intermediaries.
- c. Working capital intensity: Manufacturing procurement involves significant float between supplier payments and buyer collections. Elongation of payment cycles or customer defaults during periods of economic stress could impact liquidity for intermediaries.

3. Competitive and adoption risks

- a. Competition from incumbent procurement channels: Traditional manufacturing procurement remains relationship-driven, with established OEM-vendor networks and in-house procurement teams. Platform-based models must continue to demonstrate faster time to market, sustained cost, quality, and reliability advantages to drive adoption.
- b. Digital readiness of the supplier base: A significant share of India's manufacturing suppliers, particularly MSMEs, operate with limited digital infrastructure and documentation practices, which can constrain the pace at which technology-led procurement models scale.

We aggregate manufacturing capacity across a network of third-party suppliers and our own facilities into a “universal factory,” unified through Zetwerk OS, our proprietary technology backbone. Our customers range across sizes, from innovative startups to mature companies, and across industries, including utilities, renewables, consumer electronics, artificial intelligence infrastructure, aerospace, space & defence, oil & gas, and industrial automation. Some of our customers include Siemens Gamesa, Acer India Private Limited, boAt, NextPower (formerly Nextracker), CG Power and Industrial Solutions Limited, NTPC Renewable Energy Limited, L&T MHI Power Boiler Pvt Ltd, DRDO (Electronics & Radar Development Establishment (LRDE)), National Aluminium Company Limited, Indian Oil Corporation Limited, Mortenson, Nordex Acciona, Indian Air Force, and Numaligarh Refinery Limited. Third-party suppliers with whom we work have capabilities in manufacturing processes, including sheet metal stamping, metal fabrication, injection moulding, extrusions, assembly, die casting, forging, grinding and machining, and span several countries, including industrial geographies such as India, Vietnam, Thailand, Taiwan,

Germany, Spain, Eastern Europe, Mexico and the USA. Since our incorporation we have cumulatively delivered products and raw materials worth ₹695,878.06 million in terms of GMV to our customers.

Our Technology-Led Manufacturing Platform

Note: As of March 31, 2026.

According to the Redseer Report: manufacturing capacity is often globally fragmented, with production typically carried out in uncoordinated, discrete facilities characterised by variable quality and inconsistent service levels, making scaling inefficient and unreliable. This challenge is particularly pronounced in new, high-growth industries such as renewable energy, artificial intelligence, defense, aerospace, and space exploration, where rapid growth in demand for manufactured goods is often bottlenecked by supply chain constraints. For instance, industry average lead times for power transformer manufacturing range from 30-36 months in India to 36-42 months in the United States.

We are well positioned to address these challenges and pursue manufacturing opportunities in new industries. We enable our customers to build complex products faster, across multiple geographies, while meeting quality requirements and maintaining competitive costs. Our platform model is designed to scale capacity and capabilities in an asset-light manner. We are focused on accelerating time to market for our customers. By aggregating spare capacity from multiple third-party suppliers, we are able to manufacture products at low cost while optimising for speed and quality. Zetwerk OS, our proprietary technology, drives the end-to-end order flow, from supplier selection and digital recipes to project management, quality control, and logistics. Our manufacturing platform can distribute a single order across multiple third-party suppliers and our own manufacturing facilities, enabling simultaneous manufacturing. Through such distribution, we are also able to break geographic barriers, enabling us to serve customers using suppliers across geographies. Through a combination of the capabilities mentioned above and the inherent benefits of a platform model, we have been able to build a large base of customers.

The growth in our New Orders and Customer Count since our incorporation is illustrated in the chart below:

New Orders and Customer Count

Notes:

- (1) New Orders represent the aggregate value of purchase orders or contracts received from customers during a specified year for the supply of products or services for the Manufacturing Business and Ecosystem Business (excluding exited categories).
- (2) Customer Count refers to the number of unique customers (based on the contracting entity) we served during the Fiscal for the Manufacturing Business and Ecosystem Business (excluding exited categories).

Additionally, according to the Redseer Report, manufacturing in India has multiple secular tailwinds, such as China+1 diversification, ‘Make in India,’ defence indigenisation, and large infrastructure spending on public and private capital expenditure, but faces challenges around supply fragmentation, thereby creating reliability issues. We believe that we are well equipped to solve such challenges. According to the Redseer Report, as of Fiscal 2026, manufacturing platforms has a total addressable market (“TAM”) of ₹10.26-₹12.57 trillion (US$120.65-147.91 billion) and ₹2.07-₹6.26 trillion (US$24.32-73.60 billion) in India and the USA, respectively. From Fiscal 2026, the total addressable market for manufacturing platforms is expected to grow to ₹17.68-₹20.00 trillion (US$208.01-235.27 billion) and ₹26.76-₹30.95 trillion (US$314.81-364.09 billion) in India and the USA, respectively, by Fiscal 2031.

Our two reportable business segments through which we monetise our manufacturing platform are:

- (i) our Manufacturing Business segment, where we offer our customers the ability to manufacture diversified industrial and consumer products through our aggregated base of suppliers and our own facilities; and
- (ii) our Ecosystem Business segment, branded Terra91, where we aggregate and source industrial commodities from suppliers, enabling cost-effective procurement for our customers, including customers in our Manufacturing Business.

Following board resolutions dated January 23, 2026 and March 9, 2026, and a shareholders resolution dated March 26, 2026, we decided to discontinue our Civil Infrastructure Works segment, which undertook construction and other civil infrastructure projects such as water pipelines and railway tracks, and authorized the sale of its operations. The discontinuation of the Civil Infrastructure Works segment was made pursuant to our strategic realignment to focus on our core business segments.

Our revenue from operations – continuing operations grew from ₹123,643.72 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹159,133.23 million in Fiscal 2026, while our Adjusted EBITDA grew from ₹970.25 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹4,213.35 million in Fiscal 2026 and our Adjusted PBT grew from ₹(2,487.56) million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹457.27 million in Fiscal 2026. Our Segment revenue - Manufacturing business grew from ₹60,818.51 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹93,746.76 million in Fiscal 2026, while our Segment revenue - Ecosystem business grew from ₹62,825.21 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹65,386.47 million in Fiscal 2026.

(i) Manufacturing Business

We enable our customers to manufacture a diversified range of industrial and consumer products. Following receipt of customer orders, products are manufactured through a combination of third-party supplier network and our own manufacturing facilities. Revenue is recognised once products are physically manufactured and delivered to customers. This is our primary source of revenue and is reported under the “Manufacturing Business” segment. Within this segment, our key product verticals include

Energy Products, Precision Products and Capital Goods. Examples of products or their components manufactured through our platform are set out in the diagram below.

Our Manufacturing Business EBITDA Margin improved from 5.68% in Fiscal 2024 to 6.40% in Fiscal 2025 and remained relatively stable at 6.03% in Fiscal 2026. Further, our Manufacturing Business ROCE was 22.75% in Fiscal 2026 and 30.76% in Fiscal 2025.

(ii) Ecosystem Business

Over time, we expanded our role to help suppliers of our Manufacturing Business procure raw materials at competitive prices by leveraging the scale and throughput of our manufacturing platform to negotiate more favourable commercial terms. This capability subsequently developed into a separate business, branded “Terra91”, through which customers—including suppliers and customers of our Manufacturing Business—are able to source industrial commodities and raw materials through our platform. This is accounted for under our Ecosystem Business segment.

Our segment revenue - Ecosystem business based on Ind AS 108 Operating Segments was ₹65,386.47 million in Fiscal 2026. Our Ecosystem Business EBITDA was ₹807.98 million in Fiscal 2026. Our Ecosystem Business EBITDA Margin was 1.24% in Fiscal 2026.

For a breakdown of our revenue from operations by segment, please see the section titled “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Principal Factors Affecting our Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Demand from our key product verticals” on page 535.

Our Journey: The Evolution of Our Manufacturing Platform

Our Company was incorporated in December 2017. Our Promoters, Amrit Pratik Acharya and Srinath Ramakkrushnan, bring experience in manufacturing sourcing from their previous professional roles at ITC.

In our early stages, we operated as a pure manufacturing marketplace, with demand sourced entirely from India and supplied exclusively through Indian suppliers. Our initial focus was on aggregating suppliers for capital goods products that were typically project-based and non-recurring in nature. For example, customers setting up greenfield manufacturing facilities would engage us to source machinery or machine components. Such orders were generally one-time, with limited follow-on requirements other than spare parts.

Over time, we intentionally diversified the platform across multiple growth vectors, including:

- expanding beyond India to serve international customers;
- supplying recurring, opex-linked components in addition to project-based capex orders;
- adding design-led capabilities by offering original design manufacturing (“ODM”) solutions for select customers and components;
- expanding our supplier base internationally and also to include a broader range of manufacturing processes capable of serving multiple industries; and
- selectively establishing our own manufacturing facilities.

As a result, we have evolved from an India-only marketplace catering to limited industries into a diversified and resilient manufacturing platform with multiple demand engines, a multi-geography supplier base and an expanded capability for customers in India and internationally.

Growth of our Recurring Components Business

According to the Redseer Report, capital expenditure is largely project-based, with demand being non-recurring in nature and closely linked to macroeconomic cycles. The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic highlighted the cyclical nature of this project-driven operating model, prompting us to diversify from our original focus on one-time “capex”-related products to also serving original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”) with recurring components linked to their ongoing opex budgets, such as torque tubes for NextPower, laptops and motherboards for Acer India Private Limited and transformer lamination for companies such as Bharat Bijlee Ltd. We believe this diversification from predominantly one-time capex products to a mix of capex products and recurring components has made our revenue more predictable, enabling us to keep growing even when capex-related demand was lower, as was the case in Fiscal 2025. The chart below illustrates the increasing contribution of recurring components to our Manufacturing Business GMV across macroeconomic cycles.

Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from Recurring Components (%)

Note: Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from Recurring Components represents GMV derived from the sale of components purchased by Manufacturing Business customers on a recurring basis as part of their operational requirements to service their customers, expressed as a percentage of Manufacturing Business GMV.

Within our Manufacturing Business segment, our Precision Products vertical comprises wholly recurring components and our Energy Products vertical comprises both one-time capex products and recurring components, while our Capital Goods vertical is entirely capex products. As shown in the chart below, our Energy and Precision Products verticals have grown at a faster pace than our Capital Goods vertical.

Manufacturing Business Revenue by Product Vertical (INR Million)<sup>(1)</sup>

Note: Overall Segment Revenue from Manufacturing Business as depicted in the above chart includes Other Operating Revenue for the respective Fiscals.

International Business Expansion

According to the Redseer Report, global manufacturing is entering a new phase of re-industrialisation and strategic rebalancing. While earlier industrial cycles were driven by export competitiveness and deep global integration, the current decade is defined by resilience, supply security, and geographic diversification. Governments across major economies are advancing industrial policy to strengthen domestic manufacturing bases, while companies are expanding production footprints beyond traditional hubs to mitigate concentration risk. Countries such as India are actively positioning themselves as alternative manufacturing destinations, attracting investment as firms seek to build more distributed and resilient supply chains.

We began focused expansion outside India in Fiscal 2022 and have since added customers in the USA and Europe and suppliers in Vietnam, Mexico and the USA. Manufacturing Business revenue from international markets was ₹28,327.77 million, ₹23,334.89 million and ₹27,753.55 million in Fiscal 2024, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2026, respectively, which consisted of 46.58%, 37.34% and 29.60% of Manufacturing Business revenue in the respective Fiscals.

Set up of Own Facilities and ODM Capabilities

In addition, as some of our customers have grown into large accounts, we have selectively invested in our own assembly and finishing facilities to serve them, evolving from a pure marketplace to a hybrid model that combines manufacturing and assembly both through third parties and our own manufacturing facilities. We have also added in-house engineering and design capabilities for certain components, including those used for transformers for AI data centres, process plant machinery, metal manufacturing and defence applications. The chart below illustrates the increasing share of our Manufacturing Business GMV derived from ODM contracts.

Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from ODM Contracts (%)

Note: Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from ODM Contracts (%) represents the percentage of Manufacturing Business GMV derived from ODM contracts which are contracts under which the Company is responsible for product design in addition to manufacturing and other works.

Scale up of Ecosystem Business

Over time, we began helping suppliers in our Manufacturing Business procure raw materials at better prices, leveraging the scale and throughput of our manufacturing platform to negotiate more favourable terms, such as lower prices, faster delivery timelines and better-quality raw materials. This capability evolved into a standalone business under the Terra91 brand that enables customers (including our Manufacturing Business customers) to source commodities and industrial raw materials through our manufacturing platform.

As of March 31, 2026, our Manufacturing platform had a diverse customer base ranging from start-ups to large industrial companies, including 8 of Sensex, 16 of Nifty 50, and 102 of India's Fortune 500 companies.

Manufacturing Business

As of March 31, 2026, our Manufacturing Business served 906 active customers across our Energy Products, Precision Products and Capital Goods verticals, through a supplier base across 26 countries, including India, and 26 own manufacturing facilities across four countries, including India. Our operations span design, manufacturing, quality control, logistics, customs, documentation and compliance, all coordinated through our proprietary Zetwerk OS. We serve both Indian and international customers and offer them the ability to source both one-time capital goods for capex projects as well as recurring components that form part of their opex. Furthermore, we also offer ODM capabilities for certain components, including those used for transformers for AI data centres, process plant machinery, metal manufacturing and defence applications.

Set out below is a diagram illustrating key scale, growth, retention and profitability figures in our Manufacturing Business.

Notes:

- (1) Average Customer Retention refers to the average percentage of Manufacturing Business customers acquired since Fiscal 2022 whom we billed at least ₹50 million in the year following the year of their first billing of at least ₹50 million.
- (2) Net Revenue Retention (NRR) refers to the percentage of revenue derived from retained Manufacturing Business customers in a particular Fiscal over the previous Fiscal. Median Net Revenue Retention refers to the median Net Revenue Retention between Fiscal 2023 and 2026.
- (3) Revenue from Repeat Customers refers to the percentage of Manufacturing Business revenue in a Fiscal derived from customers who were customers in a prior Fiscal.

Our Manufacturing Business Customers

Our value propositions, detailed below, foster customer loyalty, with high rates of repeat customers, growing customer spending with us and an expanding range of products manufactured through our manufacturing platform. We have built long-term relationships with some customers through multi-year, take-or-pay contracts, providing revenue visibility and recurring business. As of March 31, 2026, our top 10 customers (based on their contribution to Revenue from Manufacturing Business) have been with us for an average of 2.8 years, out of the approximately eight years since we commenced operations. Our customer retention is reflected in our Fiscal 2023 to Fiscal 2026 median Manufacturing Business Net Revenue Retention (“NRR”) of 128.85% (NRR stood at 175.49% in Fiscal 2023, 137.46% in Fiscal 2024 and 87.13% in Fiscal 2025 and 120.24% in Fiscal 2026), and Revenue from Repeat Customers in our Manufacturing Business was 78.11% in Fiscal 2024, 84.80% in Fiscal 2025 and 80.15% in Fiscal 2026.

Value Proposition of Our Manufacturing Business to Customers

As of March 31, 2026, our Manufacturing Business Order Book was ₹123,700.09 million. In addition, our average order value increased from ₹45.94 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹58.93 million in Fiscal 2025, to ₹91.74 million in Fiscal 2026.

Our key value propositions to customers are:

- Time to market: We accelerate our customers' time to market by enabling simultaneous manufacturing by splitting the execution of an order across multiple qualified suppliers. On average, an order was allocated to 7 suppliers in Fiscal 2026, as compared to 6 suppliers in Fiscal 2025 and 3 in Fiscal 2024, significantly reducing manufacturing timelines. Our upfront investment in engineering, manufacturability analysis and design readiness minimises iterations and shortens production cycles, while our technology platform automates workflow to eliminate manual process delays. For example, in Fiscal 2026, our committed delivery timelines for supplying power transformers to the USA were 12 to 15 months. According to the Redseer Report, industry average lead times for power transformer manufacturing range from 30-36 months in India to 36-42 months in the United States, reflecting the extended procurement cycles associated with energy infrastructure expansion in both markets. This contributed to customers placing orders worth ₹20,322.52 million for power transformers in Fiscal 2026.
- Quality assurance: Our manufacturing platform is designed to consistently meet customer-defined quality requirements across orders. As our manufacturing platform scales, quality improves through better data, process controls, enhanced review processes, follow-up discipline, and proactive communication with partners. We apply a stringent screening process before onboarding suppliers and conduct regular checks through our technology-led monitoring programme to ensure consistent quality, removing suppliers that fail to meet our standards. Our supplier onboarding and verification process is governed by a standard operating procedure and includes comprehensive KYC documentation verification, validation of MSME certificates, where applicable, and independent cross-verification of goods and services tax details on the relevant government portal to confirm authenticity, and registered particulars. We also verify supplier bank accounts through 'penny tests' to confirm the accuracy of account details and mitigate payment-related risks.

All submissions are subject to manual review, and any discrepancies identified must be resolved prior to onboarding. Following onboarding, system-level controls are implemented to restrict deletion of vendor records and modification of critical KYC information, thereby ensuring ongoing data integrity and compliance. For example, we delivered washing machine controllers to a precision electronics customer with a defect rate of 200 ppm. According to the Redseer Report, a typical quality benchmark for components such as washing machine controllers is 500 ppm.
- Cost-effective manufacturing: We deliver cost-efficient manufacturing by unlocking underutilised capacity at competitive prices across our global supplier network. For instance, we fulfilled a public sector undertaking tender, where we are required to be L1 (lowest cost) to win the tender, by leveraging the manufacturing capacities of suppliers within our network. Our technology-led approach identifies optimal prices based on our parameters for each order within our network and allocates production accordingly. We also actively locate and identify suppliers with structural tariff advantage depending on their location and add them to our platform. For instance, in 2025, we onboarded transformer suppliers in Oman who were subject to a 10% tariff on exports to the USA, compared to Indian suppliers who faced a 50% tariff at the time, which enabled us to lower our cost to supply transformers to USA customers. Our scale also enables suppliers to source raw materials at lower costs, further enhancing cost-effectiveness. Our ability to provide competitively priced products is a key driver of repeat orders on our manufacturing platform. Our customer retention is reflected in our Fiscal 2023 to Fiscal 2026 median NRR of 128.85% (NRR stood at 175.49% in Fiscal 2023, 137.46% in Fiscal 2024, 87.13% in Fiscal 2025 and 120.24% in Fiscal 2026), and Revenue from Repeat Customers in our Manufacturing Business was 80.15% in Fiscal 2026, 84.80% in Fiscal 2025 and 78.11% in Fiscal 2024.

- Breadth of sourcing: We serve as a “one-stop shop” for customers looking to purchase multiple products across categories. This allows customers to move from single-product sourcing to multi-category programmes. For instance, we supplied power transformers to a renewable energy customer in the USA and subsequently broadened the relationship to include solar components. Similarly, for one of the solar customers in the USA, we initially supplied assemblies before expanding to provide torque tubes. In Precision Products, we began our relationship with Acer India Private Limited by providing them with motherboards and personal laptop before expanding into components, televisions and interactive flat panel displays.
- Ability to scale supply to demand: By aggregating multiple suppliers and manufacturing facilities, we provide customers with access to the full range of production volumes, from small runs to large-scale mass production. This enables customers to absorb rapid growth in demand and accelerate new product innovation and launch cycles. For example, we scaled production of torque tubes for NextPower from sales of US$39.14 million in Fiscal 2024 to US$78.70 million in Fiscal 2026.
- End-to-end services: According to the Redseer Report, OEMs today face greater complexity in managing cross-border multi-party supply chains and coordinating multiple suppliers’ pricing, timing and inconsistent quality. Thus, our ability to offer a transparent, seamless experience across the entire manufacturing lifecycle, including design, manufacturing, quality control, logistics, customs, documentation and compliance, is a key value proposition for our customers. This frees customers from the time, complexity and cost of coordinating with multiple partners. For example, we executed a 1.5 GW module supply order for NTPC Renewable Energy Limited, coordinating with more than six manufacturers, 25 transporters and multiple third-party quality inspectors, among others. We also provide customers with access to our in-house design and development capabilities, working with them to co-create, prototype and innovate new products. Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from ODM Contracts grew from 8.12% in Fiscal 2024 to 13.93% in Fiscal 2026.

Our Supplier Base

As of March 31, 2026, our supplier base comprised 6,979 third-party suppliers across 26 countries, including India, and our 26 manufacturing facilities across 4 countries, including India. Our third-party supplier base includes SMEs and specialised manufacturers with advanced capabilities in casting, machining, fabrication, moulding, surface treatment, and other specialised operations. According to the Redseer Report, as of Fiscal 2026, our manufacturing process capabilities are diverse and extensive compared to SME manufacturers, which typically have 2 to 5 manufacturing process capabilities. We invest in long-term relationships with our suppliers, providing the tools, guidance on audit procedures and other requirements, and support their need to meet our customers’ quality and delivery standards.

Our value proposition to suppliers includes:

- Revenue predictability and improved capacity utilisation: We provide our suppliers with demand visibility, which we believe enables them to optimise manufacturing asset utilisation and increase revenue. Traditional manufacturing companies typically operate within specific product segments or end-use industries, with their financial profile shaped by the capital intensity, margin structure, and demand cyclicality of that segment, according to the Redseer Report. We help our suppliers access demand from additional verticals by giving them orders that use their existing assets for products they may not typically make. Through our global manufacturing platform, we also enable our suppliers to access demand across geographies. For example, in Fiscal 2021, to meet demand for solar platforms in the USA, we enabled KL Steel to execute one of our customer orders.
- Front-loaded engineering and design enablement: For certain products, we perform in-house ODM engineering and design validation of customer specifications-including, for example, for transformer manufacturing in the USA. These validations improve manufacturing efficiency for our suppliers by reducing iterations and enabling faster production. We achieved a first pass rate of approximately 99% (calculated by dividing the number of orders completed correctly on the first attempt, without rework or iterations after the supplier completed its work, by the total number of orders, multiplied by 100%) on all orders completed by third-party suppliers in Fiscal 2026. Manufacturing Business share of GMV from recurring components grew from 49.85% in Fiscal 2024 to 50.85% in Fiscal 2026.

- Ability to source raw materials efficiently and cost-effectively: We provide our suppliers with access to raw materials at competitive prices and facilitate access to working capital and financing.

To complement our third-party supplier network, we have established in-house manufacturing capabilities through 26 facilities across 4 countries, including India, as of March 31, 2026. These facilities primarily provide assembly and finishing operations for parts and components sourced mainly from our third-party suppliers. We acquired these facilities through a combination of greenfield investments based on visible customer demand and acquisitions of operating facilities. These facilities enable us to enter select markets with high entry barriers and structural incentives for in-house manufacturing. For example, we receive incentives under the Indian government's PLI Scheme and Electronic Component Manufacturing Scheme for manufacturing IT hardware such as laptops, tablets and servers, consumer electronics such as LED lights and air conditioner components, as well as multi-layer PCBs and optical transceivers-small form-factor pluggable. We are also able to execute large or complex orders that require a high degree of manufacturing control, expanding our ability to service orders that would not be possible under a distributed model. For certain large customers with multi-year orders, we manufacture through our own facilities often located near customer sites that ensures a high level of control over design, production and quality. Examples include our facility in Las Vegas, USA, which manufactures torque tubes for NextPower, and our facility in Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India, which manufactures washing machine components.

Set out below are the locations of our global manufacturing facilities, including both third-party suppliers and our own manufacturing facilities, as of March 31, 2026.

Our Competitive Strengths

Our unique business model enables us to serve multiple demand pools and makes us resilient across economic cycles

Our end-to-end manufacturing platform, powered by our proprietary Zetwerk OS, transforms fragmented capacity across 6,979 third-party suppliers in 26 countries, including India, and our 26 manufacturing facilities across 4 countries, including India, as of March 31, 2026, into a unified network that allows us to serve multiple industries, manufacture diverse product types, and operate across geographies reliably and at scale. Our platform initially relied on India-based demand and supply, capex-related products, third-party suppliers, and build-to-print manufacturing with fewer industry focus. We have since broadened our capabilities to include revenue from both Indian and international markets; revenue linked to both customers' capex and opex budgets; and both build-to-print and ODM manufacturing, while adding geographic breadth by diversifying our supplier base to include countries such as the USA, Mexico and Vietnam, to increase our ability to hedge against geopolitical risks. We believe this diversification provides resilience and supports sustained growth across economic cycles.

We have built a broad base of suppliers across 26 countries, expanding from a solely third-party supplier model to a hybrid model incorporating both third parties and our own manufacturing capabilities. See “—Ability to scale in a capital-efficient manner” on page 304. Our manufacturing base now covers a wide range of capabilities, including casting, welding, machining, moulding, cutting, fabrication, finishing, forming, testing and other specialised operations, allowing us to produce industrial and consumer products of varying complexity and scale, from individual components to complete assemblies and finished goods, without being constrained by the scope, expertise, or capital limitations of any single facility.

We have built the capabilities below to drive resilient revenue growth through multiple engines:

- Building Capabilities to Serve Multiple Industry Verticals: Our expanding capabilities have led to a natural evolution in our product verticals, allowing us to serve a wide range of industries across our key product verticals of Energy Products, Precision Products and Capital Goods—from traditional sectors such as utilities, electrical equipment, infrastructure, and transportation to innovation-led sectors such as renewable energy, aerospace, defence, automation, and space technology. Serving multi-industry customers allows us to leverage secular trends such as large-scale industrialisation across India and the USA, defence modernisation in India, the USA, and Europe, and the clean energy transition, according to the Redseer Report. This multi-industry presence also reduces our dependence on any single end-market cycle, while providing access to demand driven by long-term policy and investment commitments across geographies. For instance, thermal power installed capacity in India expanded at a CAGR of approximately 1% between Fiscal 2021 and Fiscal 2026, growing from 234.73 GW in Fiscal 2021 to 249.27 GW in Fiscal 2026 and estimated to grow further to 315.91 GW in Fiscal 2033, according to the Redseer Report. As demand in this industry has increased, our new orders from thermal power customers have grown from nil as of March 31, 2024 to ₹2,652.26 million as of March 31, 2026. The chart below shows the breakdown of our Manufacturing Business revenue by product vertical for Fiscal 2026.

- Growing Share of Recurring Components: While we initially focused on large, custom, project-driven capital goods, we have since expanded to supply smaller, higher-volume, recurring components targeting customers' recurring opex budgets. We believe this diversification has enabled our platform to remain resilient across economic cycles. For example, while our growth slowed in Fiscal 2025 due to geopolitical uncertainties and anticipated USA tariffs, our Manufacturing Business share of GMV from recurring components increased from 49.85% in Fiscal 2024 to 57.77% in Fiscal 2025 and remained above Fiscal 2024 levels at 50.85% in Fiscal 2026, as shown in the diagram below.

Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from Recurring Components (%)

Note: Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from Recurring Components represents GMV derived from the sale of components purchased by Manufacturing Business customers on a recurring basis as part of their operational requirements to service their customers, expressed as a percentage of Manufacturing Business GMV.

- Expanding Internationally: We began expanding internationally in Fiscal 2021 and have since added customers from the USA and Europe. In Fiscal 2026, we served customers located across 29 countries. To support international customers and mitigate regional disruptions, we have added suppliers from Vietnam, Mexico and the USA and built a geographically distributed manufacturing footprint. As of March 31, 2026, we had a third-party supplier base across 26 countries, including India, and our own manufacturing facilities across four countries, including India. This enables us to route production dynamically based on factors such as tariffs, logistics costs and lead times, allowing us to serve customers even during geopolitical or tariff-related disruptions. For instance, in 2025, we onboarded transformer suppliers in Oman who were subject to a 10% tariff on exports to the USA compared to Indian suppliers who faced a 50% tariff at the time.
- Addition of Original Design Capabilities: We have also invested in developing our ODM capabilities, which allows us to serve customers who pay a premium for design and co-creation. According to the Redseer Report, ODM and associated design, engineering and product development provides an opportunity where customers pay a premium for design and co-creation capabilities beyond just production. For example, customers whose products have been designed through an ODM process also face switching costs, as replacement would require re-engineering. ODM relationships also enable direct engagement with end customers rather than working through OEM intermediaries, improving both margins and market intelligence. Manufacturing Business Share of GMV from ODM contracts grew from 8.12% in Fiscal 2024 to 13.93% in Fiscal 2026. See “—Our Growth Strategies—Increase design-led manufacturing and original design manufacturing” on page 310. Additionally, we have established dedicated assembly units for certain large customers with contracts providing multi-year demand. For instance, we have entered into a multi-year agreement with NextPower worth approximately US$91.25 million per year to supply torque tubes.

Together, our domestic and international presence, supply of both capex-related products and recurring components across a variety of industries, access to both third-party suppliers and our own manufacturing facilities, and expansion into ODM manufacturing provide us with resilience and the ability to deliver sustained growth across economic cycles.

Ability to scale in a capital-efficient manner

According to the Redseer Report: traditional manufacturing models, including vertically integrated and contract manufacturing firms, are typically capital intensive, as increasing production requires additional investment in plant, machinery, and working capital. Conversely, pure marketplaces often lack the control and execution certainty required for complex, high-value manufacturing. Manufacturing Platforms actively coordinate production through centralized execution systems that synchronize capacity, financing, and delivery across a distributed supplier network.

Our hybrid, technology-driven manufacturing platform combines the advantages of both models, allowing us to benefit from the scalability of a distributed network, with capacity accessed primarily through third-party manufacturers without a corresponding increase in invested capital, together with the control of selective own capacity for complex, high-value manufacturing. Our selective expansion into own manufacturing facilities has also allowed us to capture higher margins.

Our hybrid model also supports simultaneous manufacturing, where our proprietary Zetwerk OS coordinates a single order across multiple facilities to shorten production cycles. It automates key decisions and replaces manual processes with technology. See “—Zetwerk OS, our proprietary technology enables end-to-end workflow management across the manufacturing lifecycle while driving powerful network effects across our operations” on page 304. This creates meaningful operating leverage in our cost structure that improves with scale. According to the Redseer Report, in the normal course of business, a Manufacturing Platform’s structural advantage becomes more pronounced as it scales, where each incremental unit of capital invested generates more revenue and higher returns than asset-heavy manufacturers, leading to superior long-term returns on invested capital.

Zetwerk OS, our proprietary technology enables end-to-end workflow management across the manufacturing lifecycle while driving powerful network effects across our operations

Our manufacturing platform operates on our proprietary Zetwerk OS, an end-to-end technology that standardises every stage of the manufacturing lifecycle and supports distributed manufacturing. Our manufacturing platform integrates modules covering enquiry management, supplier recommendation and evaluation, design for manufacturing, order management, production planning, quality management, inventory tracking and logistics coordination. Zetwerk OS is purpose-built for platform-scale workflow, managing thousands of concurrent projects across multiple suppliers, geographies and product categories. See “—Our Operations and Manufacturing Platform—Zetwerk OS” on page 312.

Below examples illustrate how our technology software is embedded across our manufacturing platform to support our customers in building scale, standardisation and execution discipline.

Provides Customers with Real-Time Visibility into Project Status

Zetwerk OS operates as a single operating layer that manages design finalisation, pricing, supplier discovery and matching, production execution, quality control, logistics coordination and post-delivery documentation. Our workflows begin when customers submit design files, which often consist of several AutoCAD drawings per order. Our engineers and technology tools decompose these designs into their components and determine the optimal processes required to be followed to deliver the product with minimal iteration, along with quoting a competitive price that takes into account the required materials, execution effort and pricing for similar products in historical orders. Our engineers and proprietary matching and planning engine matches these requirements with supplier capabilities and available capacity. By integrating real-time data across customers, suppliers and internal operations, our manufacturing platform provides continuous visibility into order progress and quality metrics, enabling proactive decision-making and exception management at scale, while embedded workflow controls and audit trails standardise execution, enhance compliance and support the scalable delivery of complex manufacturing programs with consistency, transparency and operational discipline.

Zetwerk OS: Manufacturing Workflow

Our manufacturing platform is driven by complex machine-learning algorithms, which learn continuously from the millions of data inputs from marketplace interactions. Our database of suppliers is mapped to track multiple variables across each supplier. Through this database, we are able to generate rich insights that allow us to further improve the efficiency of our operations.

Zetwerk OS facilitates network effects that create a self-reinforcing flywheel, as shown in the graphic below. As more customers place orders, each order contributes engineering drawings, production data and performance metrics and thus compounds the data advantages, speed and execution precision of new orders. Similarly, accumulated data from successful orders in the past enables us to compress the time required to make competitive quotes, select the right suppliers and identify the right manufacturability consideration. As these insights improve, suppliers execute orders more effectively, leading to faster turnaround times and higher first-pass rates. This results in a better supplier experience and earnings, leading to more suppliers joining our manufacturing platform and broadening our manufacturing capabilities and, in turn, attracting more customers.

The Zetwerk OS Flywheel

Deep relationships with customers driving higher revenue visibility and stickiness

Many of our customer relationships evolve from single-order engagements to multi-year contracts. This is demonstrated by the rising Revenue from Repeat Customers in our Manufacturing Business which was 80.15% in Fiscal 2026, 84.80% in Fiscal 2025 and 78.11% in Fiscal 2024. Our customer retention is reflected in our Fiscal 2023 to Fiscal 2026 median NRR of 128.85% (NRR stood at 175.49% in Fiscal 2023, 137.46% in Fiscal 2024, 87.13% in Fiscal 2025 and 120.24% in Fiscal 2026). The chart below demonstrates our customer retention.

Manufacturing Business | Customer Retention Cohorts

| Year               | Year 0         | Year 1        | Year 2        | Year 3        | Year 4        |
|--------------------|----------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|
| Fiscal 2022 | 100.00%        | 86.11%        | 75.00%        | 72.22%        | 55.56% |
| Fiscal 2023 | 100.00%        | 81.97%        | 73.77%        | 62.30% |               |
| Fiscal 2024 | 100.00%        | 81.97%        | 62.30% |               |               |

| Fiscal 2026 | 100.00% |               |               |               |               |

Our value proposition has led to healthy customer retention for us. For Fiscal 2022, 2023, 2024 and 2025, on average, 84.39% of new customers that came on our platform also placed an order in the subsequent Fiscal. In Fiscal 2026, we billed 55.56% of customers whom we initially billed in Fiscal 2022. The churn has predominantly been for customers focusing on capital goods or capex-related products.

Our customers typically enter into medium- to long-term, take-or-pay contracts, which provide strong revenue visibility and recurring business. As of March 31, 2026, we had an order book of ₹123,700.09 million. Our Manufacturing Order Book as of March 31, 2025, together with Manufacturing New Orders for Fiscal 2026, represented approximately 2.5 times our Segment Revenue from Manufacturing Business for Fiscal 2026. Set out below is our Manufacturing Order Book as of the dates indicated, illustrating the growth in our orders over time:

| Particulars                             | As of March 31, |           |           |

| Manufacturing Order Book <sup>(1)</sup> | 123,700.09      | 86,289.78 | 61,697.46 |

Note:

(1) Manufacturing Order Book represents the aggregate value of purchase orders or work orders received from customers for which revenue has not yet been recognized, as of a specified date, for the Manufacturing Business.

As customers transition from single-product sourcing to multi-category programs, we build multiple touchpoints that strengthen these relationships through a broader range of procurement. Many customers also expand their engagement beyond procurement, involving us earlier in design and manufacturing planning to leverage our ODM and engineering capabilities and multi-geography production footprint. This deeper engagement reinforces demand continuity and strengthens our role within customer supply chains, increasing switching costs. Once embedded in a customer's operational and product-development workflows, replacing us requires not only comparable manufacturing capability but also the replication of coordination efficiencies, institutional knowledge and execution reliability built over multiple years.

Ability to add value-additive ecosystem services to our manufacturing platform

The unified, technology-first design of our manufacturing platform supports the addition of new value-added services on top of our core manufacturing capabilities. This ecosystem of services strengthens our customer proposition by addressing structural gaps in the manufacturing ecosystem, unlocking capabilities that individual customers cannot access on their own.

Through our Ecosystem Business segment, under the Terra91 brand, we consolidate material demand across customers and suppliers to negotiate directly with raw material suppliers. This aggregated buying power enables more efficient procurement, better pricing and higher input quality in ways not typically available to individual suppliers or customers. Bulk-purchase arrangements and pre-negotiated terms also reduce sourcing time. Furthermore, direct relationships with material producers allow us to specify material requirements, conduct quality checks, and prevent defects later in the manufacturing process.

Experienced, cycle-tested management team backed by an experienced board of directors

Our Promoters, Amrit Pratik Acharya and Srinath Ramakkrushnan, met at IIT Madras and began their careers at ITC. Our Company was incorporated in December 2017 and was later joined by Rahul Sharma, Vishal Chaudhary, Ankit Fatehpuria and other members of our core management team.

Our founders and management team bring extensive and diverse experience across manufacturing, engineering, and technology-led operations, providing the expertise needed to scale our manufacturing platform. They have guided our business through economic cycles and expanded the scale and complexity of our operations.

Additionally, we benefit from an experienced Board of Directors, whose diverse expertise and oversight contribute to robust corporate governance and strategic direction. Their collective experience across industrial, operational, and technology-focused sectors supports informed decision-making and enhances our Company's long-term strategic direction. See "Our Management" on page 377.

Comprehensive and institutionalised risk management framework with protection against external risks

We have established a comprehensive and institutionalised risk management framework to mitigate key business risks, including raw material price volatility, foreign exchange exposure, counterparty risk, and supplier-related risks. Our diversified business model spanning multiple geographies and industries acts as a natural hedge against sector-specific downturns.

We proactively hedge key raw materials such as aluminium, zinc, copper, lead and other inputs where we have direct purchase exposure and exchange-traded hedging instruments are available, limiting the impact of adverse commodity price movements on our cost base. As our scale has increased, we have negotiated more favourable terms with key suppliers, several of whom now assume responsibility for their underlying raw material price risks. This enhances the predictability of input costs, strengthens supplier partnerships, and reduces our need for direct hedging in certain categories. In addition, our contracts typically include price variation clauses that allow tariff and material cost changes to be passed through to customers.

We also hedge foreign exchange exposures through forward purchase contracts for revenues denominated in foreign currencies, primarily the U.S. dollar, and similarly hedge foreign currency costs as such liabilities arise. This disciplined treasury approach is intended to mitigate the impact of currency fluctuations on our financial performance.

To manage counterparty risk, we apply credit risk underwriting processes and maintain insurance coverage. We typically operate on back-to-back arrangements with suppliers, including quality assurance, warranties, and performance guarantees, which further limits residual operational and financial risks.

We maintain strong governance mechanisms to oversee risk management. In addition to our Board and Audit Committee, we have an executive Management Committee and a Risk Evaluation Committee comprising functional experts from finance, legal, contracts, and other areas. These committees review and approve high-value contracts and projects, ensuring appropriate oversight of significant commitments. Our risk management processes have demonstrated resilience during periods of heightened geopolitical uncertainty, commodity price dislocation, and tariff-related disruptions, enabling us to remain largely insulated from material movements in raw material prices or foreign exchange rates. As a result, raw material and currency volatility does not have any meaningful impact on our profit and loss statement, reinforcing the stability and predictability of our business model.

Our Growth Strategies

Our ability to consistently generate and execute new orders for existing and new customers is critical to the sustained growth of our business and enhanced resilience to industry cycles. Our growth strategies are tailored to this objective of consistently originating, winning and executing customer orders at scale. In addition to this, in the ordinary course of business over the course of the relevant year, our Board of Directors, from time to time, engage in discussions, note strategies of the Company and evaluate future growth opportunities, including through inorganic acquisitions.

Increase wallet share with customers

We strive to expand customer relationships along three dimensions:

- Category expansion: When customers initially engage us for a single product category, we seek to expand our relationship to adjacent categories and eventually to full bill-of-material supply for entire projects. For instance, we initially supplied power transformers to a renewable energy customer in the USA before broadening the relationship to include solar components. Similarly, for solar EPC customers such as Mortenson, we initially supplied solar piles before expanding to provide wires, cables, and breakers.
- Budget pool diversification: We target both capex budgets (i.e., one-time projects) and product budgets (i.e., recurring production) of customers, creating dual revenue engines with different cyclical characteristics. For example, our manufacturing platform manufactures capital goods such as transformers for solar developers in the USA and supplies recurring components such as transformer components to transformer OEMs such as CG Power.

- Contractual formalisation: We seek to convert successful repeat purchasing into structured multi-year agreements, often with take-or-pay provisions or sole supplier designations that provide long-term revenue visibility. For example, we have a multi-year take-or-pay contract with NextPower for the supply of solar tracked components.

This approach has three primary strategic benefits:

- Lower customer acquisition cost: Expanding existing relationships requires less sales effort than acquiring new customers, improving unit economics.
- Higher margin capture: As trust builds and switching costs increase, we can capture more value through premium service tiers, engineering fees and value-added services.
- Competitive insulation: Deep, multi-category relationships create meaningful barriers to displacement by competitors.

Gain customers in rapidly expanding industries

Our competitive advantages, including simultaneous manufacturing, multi-geography orchestration and engineering depth, create significant value in industries facing structural supply constraints, long lead times, and complex execution. According to the Redseer Report, customers in rapidly expanding industries such as Grid and Power equipment, AI and Data centre infrastructure, and Precision Industrial components characterised by large capital investments are increasingly partnering with effective yet cost-efficient Manufacturing Platforms to ensure reliability and speed amid compressed product cycles. We intend to continue expanding into our existing and other similar rapidly expanding industries, including:

- Grid and power equipment for AI and data centre infrastructure: Industry average lead times for power transformer manufacturing range from 30–36 months in India and 36–42 months in the USA, according to the Redseer Report. With our hybrid manufacturing model, we are able to compress timelines through simultaneous manufacturing across multiple countries. For example, in Fiscal 2026, our lead times for power transformers supplied to the USA were 12 to 15 months, contributing to customers placing orders worth ₹20,322.52 million for power transformers in Fiscal 2026; and
- Precision industrial components: Printed circuit board (“PCB”) assembly, electric vehicle (“EV”) components and industrial automation parts, where speed-to-market determines competitive positioning in fast-moving markets, are supply constrained, according to the Redseer Report.

Continue to diversify into new industries ahead of demand inflections

According to the Redseer Report: industrial end-markets are inherently cyclical, with demand driven by commodity prices, government policy, technology adoption curves and macroeconomic conditions. Manufacturing Platforms serving multi-industry customers allows them to leverage secular trends such as large-scale industrialisation across India and the USA, defence modernisation in India, the USA, and Europe, and the clean energy transition. This multi-industry presence reduces dependence on any single end-market cycle while providing sustained access to demand driven by long-term policy and investment commitments across geographies.

Therefore, we will continue to diversify by identifying and entering attractive industries and geographies ahead of demand upcycles, with a focus on adding suppliers with diverse manufacturing capabilities. This strategy is designed to solidify revenue visibility and insulate us from macroeconomic and geopolitical trends.

We continually evaluate industries based on the following parameters:

- Capability-Led Expansion: Enter adjacent categories leveraging existing manufacturing capabilities (e.g., transformer capability developed for solar expanding into broader grid infrastructure).
- Counter-Cyclical Pairing: Maintain exposure to both economically sensitive categories (industrial automation, consumer electronics) and defensive categories (utilities, infrastructure, defence) that move independently.
- Geography-Specific Opportunities: Pursue categories with strong growth in specific geographies even if global growth is modest (e.g., USA reshoring demand in categories previously off-shored).
- Early-Stage Positioning: Identify industries close to a period of inflection, such as space commercialisation, green hydrogen infrastructure and advanced manufacturing in areas such as defence and thermal power and begin capability building.

To achieve these objectives, we are evaluating expansion into industries such as the commercialisation of space, green hydrogen infrastructure and advanced manufacturing. We believe pursuing these opportunities will drive sustained, resilient growth by diversifying our revenue streams across economic and manufacturing cycles.

Continue to expand geographically

International revenue contributed 29.60% of our Manufacturing Business revenue in Fiscal 2026, and we intend to continue expanding our global footprint. Our disciplined international expansion playbook has proven successful in renewables and power infrastructure, where we now produce solar trackers, transformers and wind turbines, among other products. Key elements of our international strategy include:

- Building local execution capability: We plan to selectively add own manufacturing facilities in the USA and Europe where customer preferences, tariff economics or local content requirements justify owned capacity. For example, we established facilities in Las Vegas and Houston, USA, in 2023 and 2024, respectively, and in Cuxhaven, Germany, in 2024. These facilities enabled us to establish local management, execution and quality assurance teams, onboard more local suppliers and build a local supply-chain ecosystem and improve delivery predictability and customer support operations while reducing logistics complexity.
- Leveraging multi-country supply chains: We plan to enhance supply chain resilience for customers by combining India's cost advantage with capacity in the USA and Latin America to improve delivery speed, mitigate tariff exposure and hedge against political risk. For instance, we leveraged our global supplier network to dynamically route production across India and Mexico, creating a blended supply chain that addressed tariff volatility and cost uncertainty for a USA-based renewable energy EPC customer.

Increase design-led manufacturing and original design manufacturing

While manufacturing and turning existing designs into physical products remain the core of our operations, ODM and associated product development for existing and new customers represent a significant growth opportunity and key focus area. According to the Redseer Report, customers pay a premium for design and co-creation capabilities and customers whose products have been designed through an ODM process face switching costs, as replacement would require re-engineering. ODM relationships also enable direct engagement with end customers rather than working through OEM intermediaries, improving both margins and market intelligence, according to the Redseer Report.

While ODM represented 13.93% of our GMV from Manufacturing Business in Fiscal 2026, we plan to grow this part of our business, focusing on the following:

- Engineering investment over asset deployment: We seek to expand ODM through hiring engineers and building design capability along with building specialised production assets.
- Selective category focus: We intend to concentrate ODM initiatives on categories where design complexity and customer fragmentation create sustainable competitive advantages.
- Hybrid execution model: We intend to continue leveraging our supplier network for ODM production rather than solely relying on our own facilities for ODM products.
- IP strategy: We intend to expand our existing category-specific design libraries and standard platforms which are customised for multiple customers, enabling us to leverage our investment in engineering for effective expansion.

We do not intend to compete with customers for whom we serve as strategic manufacturing partners. Instead, we will focus on complementary categories and collaborate with existing customers to build ODM offerings, with a goal to pursue ODM opportunities while preserving our capital efficient model.

Expand and deepen our supplier network

We intend to continue onboarding new suppliers to broaden our manufacturing capabilities and expand our geographic footprint. In parallel, we will deepen relationships with high-performing suppliers by increasing order allocations and integrating them further into Zetwerk OS. This strategy aims to enhance the capabilities and digital integration of our supplier base, improving quality, pricing, and delivery timelines for customers. This expansion will enable us to enter new industries, increase our resilience across economic cycles and strengthen our multi-country blending approach to optimise for speed, tariffs, logistics costs and customer proximity.

Selectively expand own facilities through greenfield setups and acquisition of bolt-on capabilities

As of March 31, 2026, we had 26 own manufacturing facilities across 4 countries, of which 15 were acquired from third parties and 11 were set up organically. In addition, as of March 31, 2026, we have 3 manufacturing facilities under construction. We intend to strategically expand our own manufacturing facilities in industries where there is a demand or supply gap or where supply chains do not exist or are nascent in India, to enhance execution control, gain access to certifications and policy incentives, secure the supply of critical products and capture value unavailable through our supplier network. To determine the size of each new facility and mitigate the risk of underutilization, we will consider existing customer contracts, our order book visibility and persistent supply-demand imbalances identified through our manufacturing platform. This data-driven approach is designed to ensure high utilization and capital efficiency from inception.

In parallel, we will pursue expanding own capacity through targeted acquisitions where the target has a clear informational and operational advantage. Our acquisition targets can include long-standing marketplace suppliers with proven performance on delivery, quality and capacity utilisation, enabling accelerated integration, reduced diligence risk and immediate customer access.

We expect that this dual approach to expanding our own capacity will allow us to scale selectively and preserve balance-sheet flexibility while continuing to primarily outsource manufacturing to third-party manufacturers.

Case Studies

The following case studies illustrate our ability to scale production to match customer demand, enable geographical diversification of production and drive indigenisation of precision manufacturing in India

Scaling wind turbine supply chains for a European renewables OEM

Client: European renewables OEM

Industry: Renewables

We were working with a European customer who required a reliable manufacturing partner to scale production of wind turbine sub-assemblies in December 2024. They faced challenges meeting defined quality standards, managing complex fabrication requirements, and delivering at scale.

We were able to deploy our hybrid manufacturing model to aggregate multiple specialized partners for parallel manufacturing, standardize execution through Zetwerk OS, including quality checkpoints and documentation, and supplement third-party manufacturing with in-house finishing and assembly where required.

As a result, we were able to scale production of wind turbine sub-assemblies, achieve agreed quality and delivery across export programs and establish a multi-year supply relationship supporting the customer's renewable expansion.

Driving multi-year account expansion with an Indian capital goods major

Client: Major Indian steel manufacturer

Industry: Capital goods

The customer initially engaged us for a one-off project for the supply of fabricated components. Over time, they required a partner capable of handling larger volumes, multiple product lines, and tighter timelines.

Through our proactive project management and consistent engagement, we were able to expand from project-based orders to repeat programmatic supply, introduce parallel manufacturing across multiple suppliers to reduce cycle times and add value engineering and supplier rationalization to improve reliability.

Our relationship evolved from one-time transactional sourcing to a consistent, long-term manufacturing partnership.

Geographic diversification for an Indian consumer electronics brand

Client: Audio and wearables products company

Industry: Consumer electronics

Our customer was heavily dependent on overseas suppliers for sourcing their inventory and sought to diversify manufacturing to India, and was evaluating partners who could provide scale, speed and quality.

We were able to aggregate multiple Indian component suppliers across machining, fabrication, and electronics and introduce in-house assembly and finishing for certain critical SKUs. We were also able to standardize quality and documentation through Zetwerk OS.

The partnership with us, which began with a single purchase order for one product, has scaled now into a multi-category, high-volume manufacturing relationship spanning speakers, wireless earphones, and TWS earbuds.

This led to an increase in revenue from the customer as their confidence in our manufacturing platform capabilities grew.

Localization of a defence & aerospace customer's supply chain to India

Client: Government agency

Industry: Defence and aeronautical

One of our defence & aerospace customers relied on imported OEM components and spares, as indigenous manufacturing was limited. This led to long lead times, higher costs, and geopolitical concerns.

We were able to identify domestic suppliers with relevant machining and fabrication capability. We further invested in in-house engineering and design capabilities to meet the customer's defence specifications. We also established certified manufacturing and quality processes aligned with defence standards.

Through this, we localized the production of critical components previously imported by the customer while also providing a service for replacement of spare parts.

Scaling solar module supply for a listed PSU renewables company

Client: Listed PSU Renewables Company

Industry: Energy

The customer faced supply chain constraints for solar PV modules and fulfilling demand at this scale required coordination across multiple domestic manufacturers, with production spread across geographies. This was further compounded by ALMM (Approved List of Models and Manufacturers) policy shifts that required sourcing exclusively from manufacturers listed under the ALMM, indicating a pivot in sourcing strategies away from imports to India.

We engaged with this customer, deploying a parallel manufacturing model, a multi-geography network of over 6 Indian manufacturing partners, combined with procurement of bill of materials. By coordinating across multiple suppliers simultaneously, we were able to deliver volumes and lead times. Over time, the customer gave us repeat orders reflecting confidence in our execution model.

What began as a single supply engagement has evolved into a strong sourcing relationship, with additional volumes from new projects under discussion. We became a strategic solar module supplier to one of India's largest renewable energy companies, demonstrating that a platform-based manufacturing model can outperform single-source supply at scale.

Our Operations and Manufacturing Platform

Manufacturing Business

In Fiscal 2026, our Manufacturing Business served customers across three product verticals, namely Energy Products, Precision Products, and Capital Goods, underpinned by a supplier base across 26 countries, including India, and our 26 manufacturing facilities across 4 countries, including India. Our Manufacturing Business operations include design, manufacturing, quality control, logistics, customs, documentation, and compliance, managed through our proprietary Zetwerk OS. We also provide ODM capabilities for certain components in certain mature product categories, such as transformers for AI data centres, process plant machinery, and metal manufacturing and defence applications.

Zetwerk OS

Our manufacturing platform operates on our proprietary Zetwerk OS, which was built in-house and is used to manage manufacturing programmes involving multiple suppliers, geographies and product categories. Our manufacturing platform features a "built-to-print" engine that processes complex engineering drawings to create end-to-end production plans. It provides integrated modules for enquiry management, supplier recommendation and selection, order management, production planning, quality control, logistics, and customer and supplier portals, as illustrated in the diagram below.

Zetwerk OS modules utilise a central data layer that captures supplier performance metrics, quality outcomes, lead-time variability, and benchmarks. This data is used for AI-based supplier selection and creating digital work instructions. Data from each completed order is added to the system, refining its datasets for future projects.

Additionally, Zetwerk OS serves as the core digital backbone of our manufacturing lifecycle, with its native capabilities integrated with external systems such as logistics networks, financial institutions, customer relationship management (CRM) platforms, and government regulatory systems. This model combines in-built systems with industry standards, as applicable, to support disciplined execution and, for certain customers, regulatory compliance and financial governance across complex, multi-party manufacturing programs.

1. AI-Enabled Supplier Matching (“ProcureZ”)

Upon validation of a customer's enquiry, our ProcureZ employs AI, rule-based logic and historical execution data to identify the optimal set of suppliers for each project. The supplier selection process considers technical capability and certifications, historical quality, on-time performance, cost competitiveness, geographic considerations and risk factors such as concentration, tariffs and logistics exposure.

ProcureZ recommends multiple suppliers for each order to facilitate simultaneous execution and helps reduce disruption in one facility. Data from each completed project is added to ProcureZ’s dataset to inform and improve the quality of future supplier matching.

Selection of Multiple Suppliers for Simultaneous Execution

2. Project Planning & Global Execution Management (“ZISO”) and Production Planning & Factory level Execution (“ZPS”)

After we receive an order, ZISO serves as the central execution hub for complex manufacturing programmes such as large-scale industrial plant structures and precision-engineered components for global OEMs, coordinating activities among engineering, suppliers, quality teams, and logistics partners. Its key functions include detailed customisable project planning, estimation of project timelines, traceability and collaboration with internal teams and suppliers. ZPS goes one level deeper by facilitating production planning and tracking across multiple factories simultaneously. Our manufacturing platform has been designed for use on the factory floor, with mobile-first or tablet-first functionality to enable real-time data capture and operational visibility. By digitising production workflows, ZPS provides operational consistency and reduces bottlenecks.

Manufacturing

Third-Party Supplier Network

Third-party suppliers supply the majority of parts and components across our product categories. Our extensive third-party total supplier base ranges from SMEs to large, specialised plants.

Our relationships with these suppliers are primarily governed by standard purchase orders executed on a fixed-price basis, which do not permit price escalations. To maintain stringent control over product quality and intellectual property, suppliers are obligated to manufacture products strictly in accordance with our technical specifications and are bound by strict confidentiality, non-circumvention, and non-compete obligations.

Time is of the essence in our supply chain. We enforce strict adherence to delivery schedules through liquidated damages, price reductions for delays, and ‘risk purchase’ rights that allow us to procure materials from alternative sources at the defaulting supplier's cost. Furthermore, our suppliers provide warranties regarding product quality and indemnify us against third-party claims, losses, or damages arising from their non-performance or negligence.

Our Facilities

As of March 31, 2026, we operated 26 facilities across India, Spain, the USA, and Germany, which primarily focus on assembly, subassembly, and finishing processes, including fabrication, cutting, forming, welding, machining, surface treatment and testing. Examples of products and components manufactured at our facilities include pressure vessels, process columns, reactors, heat exchangers, torque tubes for solar farms, wind fiber reinforced plastic (“FRP”) components, wind turbine components, printed circuit board assemblies (“PCBAs”) for washing machines and energy meters, motherboards, bluetooth speakers, smart watches, cold rolled grain oriented (“CRGO”) laminations, transformer cores and tanks, transformers, EV chargers and battery packs, and solar photovoltaic (“PV”) panels. These facilities are certified under various global standards for quality management, environmental management, and occupational, health and safety, among others.

The table below sets forth certain details of our own manufacturing facilities as of March 31, 2026.

Notes:

(1) Capacity figures for certain manufacturing facilities/ plants were "NA" in certain Fiscals due to such manufacturing facilities/ plants having not become operational at the time.

(2) While there are 26 manufacturing facilities as on March 31, 2026, the capacities in the table above are aggregated by product for certain facilities.

(3) Capacity utilization has been calculated on the basis of actual production during the relevant Fiscal divided by the aggregate installed capacity of relevant manufacturing plant/line as of at the end of the relevant Fiscal.

(4) Excludes facilities of the entities which are our Company's Associates and JVs as of March 31, 2026.

(5) Capacities for the Sharptanks, Unimacts (Spain, Germany & Houston), and Zet Town, Noida facilities have been presented on a day-and-night-shift basis as of March 31, 2026. Capacities for the previous Fiscals were based on day-shift operations only.

(6) Capacities of entities acquired in Fiscal 2026 (Kryfs, Angelina, JZNEE and Winsharp) are presented on a full-year basis.

(7) Figures for Kryfs for Fiscals 2025 and 2024 reflect capacity utilization prior to its acquisition by our Company in Fiscal 2026.

Capacity utilisation at our Kryfs, Bhopal facility was 100.41% for Fiscal 2026, primarily due to the operation of limited additional shifts and overtime to meet customer demand, resulting in actual production marginally exceeding the rated installed capacity.

Capacity utilisation at our Smile, Bangalore - Unit 4 was 32.92% for Fiscal 2025, primarily due to the plant becoming operational only in July 2024, followed by a phased commissioning and gradual ramp-up of operations, including the stabilisation of production lines during the initial operating period. Capacity utilisation at our Zetwerk, Noida facility was 10.39% in Fiscal 2026 because installed capacities at these facilities were developed to support future business growth, and capacity utilisation at our Unimacts, Houston facility was 2.98% in Fiscal 2026, primarily because the facility's installed capacity was expanded to support future business growth, and was 8.55% in Fiscal 2024, as the facility commenced operations during the year and was in the initial ramp-up phase. In addition, capacity utilisation at our JZNEE and Winsharp facilities was 4.17% and 5.59%, respectively, in Fiscal 2026 primarily because installed capacities at these facilities were developed to support future business growth.

Utilities

Our manufacturing operations require an uninterrupted supply of power, fuel, and water, which we source from local utility providers. To ensure continuity of operations, we also rely on alternate sources such as uninterruptible power supply (UPS) systems and diesel generator (DG) sets.

Raw Materials and Supply Chain

Raw materials

Raw materials constitute a significant portion of our total expenses. The table below sets out our cost of materials consumed (including materials for construction and project contracts), in absolute amounts and as a percentage of our revenue from operations – continuing operations for the Fiscals indicated:

Note:

(1) Represents figures from continuing operations.

Our principal raw materials include ferrous and non-ferrous metals, PCBs, construction materials, and coils, sourced from a diversified base of domestic and international suppliers. We typically maintain approximately one month of inventory, which we believe is adequate for our operational needs. Raw materials are procured and invoiced to customers on a gross basis, with all material costs factored into pricing.

To mitigate raw material price volatility, we typically enter into fixed-price contracts with suppliers upon receiving customer orders. We also negotiate price adjustment clauses in certain customer contracts and, from time to time, utilize hedging contracts on commodities exchanges.

Raw materials are delivered via land and sea transportation, exclusively through third-party carriers. Depending on the customer's order, deliveries are made to either our facilities or third-party facilities.

Suppliers

Our supplier selection is driven by technical capability, historical performance, certifications, cost competitiveness, ability to deliver within a given timeframe and geographic considerations, with allocations made across multiple suppliers per order to enable parallel execution and natural hedging. We continually invest in supplier capability and shift allocation based on performance, with the objective that average supplier capability and digital integration improve annually.

Logistics and Distribution

We provide end-to-end logistics for domestic and international deliveries through a network of over 400 third-party logistics partners, coordinating shipments, customs clearance, and documentation. Our multi-country footprint enables routing decisions based on factors such as lead times, tariffs, and local content requirements, while also ensuring operational continuity during regional disruptions by allowing shipments to be rerouted to alternative geographies.

Products manufactured by our suppliers are stored at their facilities, while products we manufacture are stored primarily at our own facilities. Customer deliveries are typically arranged through third-party logistics providers using hired trucks, with transportation terms structured on a spot, project/contract, or fixed-period basis. We do not own or lease any delivery vehicles.

Assurance and Quality Control

Our quality assurance framework addresses the risk of failures in complex industrial manufacturing by providing end-to-end accountability for quality outcomes. Our proprietary technology, Zetwerk OS, integrates quality controls throughout the production lifecycle, from design and sourcing to execution and logistics. This system aims to improve quality performance through enhanced data analytics, process controls, supplier management, and accountability. We maintain relevant industry certifications to meet programme requirements and quality assurance standards, including ISO 9001:2015 (Quality Management System), ASME U-Stamp (for oil and gas applications, certifying compliance with quality control requirement laid out by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' Boiler and Vessel Code), certification for transformers and AS9100:2016 certification for aerospace programs (which is the international Quality Management System standard for the aviation, space and defence industry).

Engineering and Design

We maintain in-house engineering and design capabilities for product categories such as oil & gas, storage tanks, transformers and power components and other specialized operations and have an engineering and design team comprising 775 employees as of March 31, 2026, for validation and approval of engineering design, and, for select categories, original design manufacturing where we convert customer requirements into execution-ready specifications. We front-load engineering to reduce rework and compress the design-to-production cycle by standardizing design process steps within Zetwerk OS.

Sales and Marketing

As of March 31, 2026, we have 90 employees in our Sales and Marketing function. Our sales and marketing activities are organized across the following areas:

- Inbound Sales: We generate leads through digital marketing campaigns on Google and social media platforms, email campaigns, account-based marketing initiatives, and offline events. These efforts direct potential customers to our website, where they can submit requests for quotation (“RFQs”).
- Outbound Sales: Our sales representatives and business development executives actively engage with customers to prospect for new business opportunities, solicit RFQs, and negotiate terms to secure purchase orders.
- Inside Sales: Upon receiving an RFQ through either inbound or outbound channels, our inside sales team processes these requests and prepares quotations for customers.
- Account Management: For our large customers, we assign dedicated account managers who are responsible for maintaining customer relationships and securing repeat orders.
- Brand Marketing and Communications: Our marketing and communications function supports brand building and stakeholder engagement through internal and external communications. This includes engagement with government bodies and partner organizations, participation in industry events, and communication of key achievements, certifications and sustainability initiatives.

Environment, Health and Safety

Our quality, environmental, health and safety policy is aimed at complying with governance, certifications and statutory and regulatory requirements while ensuring the safety of our employees and contractors working at our facilities. We have integrated sustainability throughout our operations through meaningful interventions in the form of environmental and safety management initiatives as well as measures to ensure our operations have minimal adverse impacts on the occupational health of our workforce.

As a manufacturing organisation, we are subject to various environmental laws and regulations relating to the prevention and control of water and air pollution, environmental protection, hazardous and e-waste management and plastic waste disposal management. Various laws and regulations govern the discharge, storage, handling and disposal of a variety of substances that may be used in or result from our operations. To ensure compliance and adherence to responsible business practices, we have established standard operating procedures to handle different categories of waste. Our waste management strategy includes monitoring and control procedures for waste categorisation, segregation, safe handling, transport and disposal. We aim to ensure that pollution levels from our operations are within the permissible limits prescribed by regulatory authorities by promoting the incorporation of less polluting alternatives. We take efforts to carefully utilise the water resources available to us, and work towards using water efficiently installing water treatment plant and rainwater harvesting plants. We seek to optimise energy usage and minimise our dependence on conventional sources of energy by incorporating renewable alternatives such as solar power where possible. We have also undertaken measures such as tree planting.

The manufacturing processes at our own facilities use limited chemicals and water. We have implemented several initiatives across our operating units and facilities to minimise our environmental impact. We have installed sewerage treatment plants at our facilities (including our corporate office), with the treated water used for other purposes. We have also installed rainwater harvesting systems at our operating units and offices. We use organic waste converters at our corporate office and operating units to convert food waste into manure for our gardens. We have conducted tree planting drives at our corporate office and factories. Additionally, we have installed EV (two-wheeler and four-wheeler) charging points at our offices to encourage employees to use EVs, provided e-waste bins at our corporate office for proper collection and disposal, and partnered with a recycling vendor authorised by the Central Pollution Control Board of India for waste management across our factories and offices. We also maintain an ISO 45001:2018 (Occupational Health and Safety Management System) certification.

Competition

We primarily compete with traditional manufacturing models and pure marketplaces. According to the Redseer Report, competitive advantage in manufacturing increasingly depends on how effectively capacity is organized, coordinated, and scaled across fragmented ecosystems. Traditional manufacturing models, including vertically integrated and contract manufacturing firms, are typically capital intensive, as increasing production requires additional investment in plant, machinery, and working capital. As a result, companies operating through owned manufacturing facilities may face limits in scaling revenue, as capacity expansion requires incremental capital investment. Conversely, pure marketplaces often lack the control and execution certainty required for complex, high-value manufacturing. Manufacturing Platforms actively coordinate production through centralized execution systems that synchronize capacity, financing, and delivery across a distributed supplier network. As of the date of this Updated Draft Red Herring Prospectus - I, there are no listed companies in India or globally which operate in a similar business model as ours.

Intellectual Property

Our intellectual property is integral to our business. We utilise and protect our intellectual property through registration of trademarks in our business operations. Our intellectual property portfolio primarily consists of trademarks.

We safeguard our intellectual property through a combination of intellectual property laws and contractual arrangements, including confidentiality, invention assignment, and non-competition agreements with employees and other parties. For example, we have registered or filed our commonly used marks, including brand logos . Our name and tagline are trademarked in India, and the “Unimacts” name has been trademarked in the USA. Additionally, one of our Material Subsidiaries, Unimacts Global holds eight domain registrations, details of which are as follows:

We believe these licenses are adequate for our operational needs, though they generally restrict the use of third-party intellectual property to specific applications and time periods. Although we take active steps to protect our proprietary rights, these efforts may not be sufficient to prevent infringement or misappropriation. For further details, see “Risk Factors—Internal Risks—We may be unable to adequately protect our intellectual property and may be subject to risks of infringement claims. In addition, we may be subject to third party claims of intellectual property infringement, which could adversely affect our business, reputation, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.” on page 56.

Information Technology

Our information technology infrastructure is built on a cloud-centric model designed to maintain control over critical operations. We use an enterprise resource planning system to support our business processes and license software for email and collaboration across different workspaces.

Our data hosting and storage framework distinguishes between business data and customer data. Business data is stored in structured databases on cloud platforms using private servers controlled by our Company, while customer data is housed in structured databases on third-party platforms.

Data Privacy and Security

We maintain a comprehensive security framework encompassing technical safeguards and compliance policies to protect our IT systems. This framework is designed to protect customer, employee, and other data from unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and destruction, maintain system integrity, and ensure operational security across our business.

We control access to our systems by giving employees only the access they need to perform their jobs and by assigning permissions based on their roles. We require multi-factor authentication for added security. We separate duties to reduce risk and remove all system access on an employee's last day of work. Employee devices are secured and managed centrally through a third-party device management solution.

All laptop hard disks are encrypted by default, and encryption is applied to all sensitive data wherever applicable. Our network is protected by firewalls with intrusion detection and prevention systems. We use DomainKeys Identified Mail (“DKIM”) and Domain-based Message Authentication, Reporting and Conformance (“DMARC”) configurations, which are an email authentication protocol and framework, respectively, along with quarantine tools to protect our email systems, and we deploy anti-virus software on all relevant devices. Physical access to our premises is controlled through facial recognition systems, with restricted entry to server rooms. We follow secure practices for disposing of and transporting documents. Our procedures are guided by our information security management system (“ISMS”) policy, and our cloud and SaaS platforms comply with ISO 27001 and SOC 2 standards. Vulnerability assessments are typically conducted annually. We have also implemented disaster recovery procedures for business continuity, including periodic data backups and periodic testing of restoration procedures, intended to ensure business continuity in the event of disruptions. In addition, we have a formal data protection and privacy policy to govern our data lifecycle and ensure compliance with the Information Technology Act, 2000 and the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (“DPDP Act”).

Human Resources

As of March 31, 2026, none of our employees were represented by a labour union or subject to a collective bargaining agreement. To address our staffing requirements and enhance workforce flexibility, we engaged 6,422, 6,791 and 7,071 temporary employees as of March 31, 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively.

We conduct employee training programmes across three core areas: behavioural, technical and functional, and compliance. These programmes are designed to reinforce governance and quality standards.

Our behavioural programmes include modules on organisational behaviour, building high-performance teams, email etiquette, and creating high-impact impressions. We also offer “Good Manager Guide” and “Campus to Corporate” programmes for managerial and new personnel, respectively.

Our technical and functional programmes include project management certifications (such as, FMEA, IATF 16949, and internal auditor training), as well as modules covering risk management in global sourcing, vendor performance and evaluation, operations planning, project scheduling and resource optimisation, and an introduction to renewables and battery energy storage systems.

Our compliance and safety programmes cover PoSH awareness, hazard identification, safety consequence management procedures, IMS standards and certification, and carbon border adjustment requirements.

Insurance

We maintain insurance policies that we believe are customary for companies operating in our industry. These include policies in relation to burglary, building insurance, fire insurance, commercial vehicle insurance, electronic equipment insurance and commercial package policies, among others. Our policies are subject to customary exclusions and deductibles, including with respect to the maximum amount that can be claimed based on the coverage limits. We believe that the level of insurance we maintain is appropriate for the risks of our business. See also “Risk Factors — Internal Risks — Our insurance coverage may not be adequate or we may incur uninsured losses or losses in excess of our insurance coverage which may impact on our financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.” on page 47.

Key Regulations applicable to the Company and its Subsidiaries in India

Factories Act, 1948 (“Factories Act”)

The Factories Act, as amended, defines a “factory” to cover any premises which employs 10 or more workers on any day of the preceding 12 months and in which a manufacturing process is carried on with the aid of power or any premises where at least 20 workers are employed, and where a manufacturing process is carried on without the aid of power. Each State Government has enacted rules in respect of the prior submission of plans and their approval for the establishment of factories and registration/licensing thereof. The Factories Act requires the ‘occupier’ of a factory to ensure the health, safety and welfare of all workers while they are at work in the factory. Further, the ‘occupier’ of a factory is also required to ensure (i) the safety and proper maintenance of the factory such that it does not pose health risks to persons in the factory premises; (ii) the safe use, handling, storage and transport of factory articles and substances; (iii) provision of adequate instruction, training, and supervision to ensure worker’ health and safety; and (iv) cleanliness and safe working conditions in the factory premises. If there is a contravention of any of the provision of the Factories Act or rules framed thereunder, the ‘occupier’ and ‘manager’ of the factory as defined under the Factories Act may be punished with imprisonment or with a fine or both and enhanced penalties for repeat offences and contravention of certain provisions relating to the use of the hazardous materials. Pursuant to the notification dated November 21, 2025 (SO 5321(E)) issued by the Ministry of Labour and Employment, the Factories Act has been repealed and subsumed under the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020, which is now in force. However, certain provisions of the Factories Act are relevant in respect of the period during which the Factories Act was applicable, including obligations arising under licenses and approvals obtained thereunder.

Competition Act, 2002 (the “Competition Act”)

The Competition Act is an act to prevent practices having adverse effect on competition, to promote and sustain competition in markets, to protect the interests of consumers and to ensure freedom of trade carried on by other participants in markets in India. The Competition Act deals with the prohibition of (i) certain agreements, such as anti-competitive agreements and (ii) abuse of dominant position and regulation of combinations. No enterprise or group shall abuse its dominant position in various circumstances as mentioned under the Competition Act. The prima facie duty of the Competition Commission of India (“CCI”) is to eliminate practices having adverse effect on competition, promote and sustain competition, protect interests of consumers and ensure freedom of trade. The CCI shall issue notice to show cause to the parties to combination calling upon them to respond within 15 days in case it is of the opinion that there has been an appreciable adverse effect on competition in India. In case a person fails to comply with the directions of the CCI and Director General (as appointed under Section 16(1) of the Competition Act), he shall be punishable with a fine which may go up to ₹ 100,000 for each day during such failure, subject to a maximum of ₹ 10,000,000, as the CCI may determine.

Production-linked incentive scheme

a) PLI Scheme 2.0 for IT Hardware (the “PLI Scheme 2.0”)

PLI Scheme 2.0 seeks to broaden and deepen the manufacturing ecosystem by encouraging the localisation of components and sub-assemblies. The PLI Scheme 2.0 provides increased flexibility and multiple options for applicants and links the grant of incentives to prescribed incremental sales and investment thresholds in order to further incentivise growth. In addition, semiconductor design, integrated circuit manufacturing, and semiconductor packaging are included as incentivised components under the PLI Scheme 2.0.

b) PLI White Goods (Air Conditioners and LED Lights) (the “PLI White Goods”)

PLI White Goods was introduced to enhance domestic manufacturing capacity in India and develop a robust component ecosystem for air conditioners and LED products. The scheme seeks to incentivise manufacturers to undertake local production of identified target components, including printed circuit boards, drivers, and other critical parts, by providing financial incentives ranging from 4% to 6% on incremental sales over a specified base year. PLI White Goods aims to remove sectoral disabilities, create economies of scale, and enhance exports to produce a robust components ecosystem and generate employment. Beneficiary entities under the scheme are entitled to receive incentives upon meeting the prescribed investment and production thresholds.

Building & Other Construction Workers Act, 1996 (the “BOCW Act”)

The BOCW Act applies to every establishment which employs, or has employed on any day of the preceding twelve months, ten or more building workers in any building or other construction work. Under the BOCW Act, the building workers employed in different relays in a day, either by the employer or the contractor, are taken into account in computing the number of building workers employed in the establishment.

BOCW Welfare Cess Act, 1996 (the “BOCW Welfare Act”)

BOCW Welfare Act provide for the levy and collection of a cess on the cost of construction incurred by employers with a view to augmenting the resources of the Building and Other Construction Workers’ Welfare Boards constituted under the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1996.

Purchase Preference to Local Content Order, 2017 (the “PPLC Order”)

Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (the “DPDP Act”) and the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025 (“DPDP Rules”) (together, “DPDP Framework”)

The Government has, in 2023, notified the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (the “DPDP Act”) into law. Following this, it notified the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025 on November 13, 2025 (“DPDP Rules”) and set out an implementation timeline for the DPDP Act and the DPDP Rules (together, “DPDP Framework”) over an 18-month period starting from November 2025. Provisions pertaining to the setting up of the administrative machinery for implementing the DPDP Framework (such as those on the Data Protection Board of India (“DPB”)) are in force as of November 13, 2025, and the provisions in relation to registration and obligations of consent managers will come into force within 1 year (i.e., November 2026). Key functions of the DPB include: (i) monitoring compliance and imposing penalties, (ii) directing data fiduciaries to take necessary measures in the event of a data breach, and (iii) hearing grievances made by data principals. The DPB members will be appointed for two years and will be eligible for re-appointment. The Government has however provided an 18-month timeline (i.e., May 2027) for entities to comply with the substantive compliances of the DPDP Framework.

The DPDP Framework classifies entities that determine the means and purposes of processing personal data as data fiduciaries and imposes several requirements on them including in relation to obtaining consent and providing notice in the prescribed manner; ensuring the completeness, accuracy and consistency of the personal data that they process; notifying personal data breaches; implementing technical safeguards and reasonable security measures etc. In addition to the obligations prescribed for data fiduciaries, the DPDP Framework prescribes additional obligations (such as appointing data protection officer, independent data auditor, undertaking data protection impact assessments and periodic audits) for ‘significant data fiduciaries’ (“SDFs”). SDFs will be separately notified by the central government based on factors such as the volume and sensitivity of personal data processed, the risk posed to the rights of the data principal, the potential impact on the sovereignty and integrity of India, the risk to electoral democracy, security of the State, and public order. The DPDP Framework also categorises entities that process personal data on behalf of others as data processors. While the DPDP Framework does not prescribe obligations on data processors directly, data fiduciaries may contractually pass down relevant obligations on data processors.

The Information Technology Act, 2000 (“IT Act”) and the Information Technology (Reasonable Security Practices and Procedures and Sensitive Personal Data or Information) Rules, 2011 (“IT Security Rules”)

The IT Act is intended to accord legal recognition to transactions conducted through various modes of electronic data interchange and electronic communications, thereby facilitating the electronic filing of documents, including those containing sensitive personal data such as medical records and history. The IT Act establishes a robust framework for the authentication of electronic documents through the use of digital signatures. By recognizing contracts formed electronically, the IT Act streamlines electronic commerce, provides protection to intermediaries from third-party liability for information hosted on their platforms, and imposes liability for failures to adequately safeguard sensitive personal data.

The IT Security Rules set out requirements for the disclosure, collection, and transfer of sensitive personal data by a body corporate, or any person acting on its behalf. The IT Security Rules stipulate that every such body corporate, or person handling personal information on its behalf, must adopt and make publicly available a privacy policy outlining the handling and processing of personal information, including sensitive personal data, and must publish such policy on its website. Additionally, the IT Security Rules require that all personal data be processed exclusively for the purpose for which it was collected, and that any disclosure of personal information to third parties is subject to the prior consent of the information provider, unless such disclosure is contractually agreed upon by the parties or is otherwise required by law.

2.2 Basis of Consolidation

a) Subsidiaries:

Subsidiaries are all entities over which the Group has control. Control exists when the parent has:

- i. Power over the investee (i.e. existing rights that give it the current ability to direct the relevant activities of the investee)
- ii. Exposure or rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee, and
- iii. The ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns

The group re-assesses whether or not it controls an investee if facts and circumstances indicate that there are changes to one or more of the three elements of control. Consolidation of a subsidiary begins when the Group obtains control over the subsidiary and ceases when the Group loses control of the subsidiary. Assets, liabilities, income and expenses of a subsidiary acquired or disposed off during the year are included in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement from the date the Group gains control until the date the Group ceases to control the subsidiary.

Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are prepared using uniform accounting policies for like transactions and other events in similar circumstances. If a member of the Group uses accounting policies other than those adopted in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements for like transactions and events in similar circumstances, appropriate adjustments are made to that Group member's financial statements in preparing the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements to ensure conformity with the Group's accounting policies. The Restated Summary Statements of all entities used for the purpose of consolidation are same reporting date as that of the Holding Company i.e. year ended on 31 March.

When the end of the reporting period of the parent is different from that of a subsidiary, the subsidiary prepares, for consolidation purposes, additional financial information as of the same date as the financial statements of the parent, to enable the parent to consolidate the financial information of the subsidiary, unless it is impracticable to do so.

b) Consolidation Procedure:

- i. Combine like items of assets, liabilities, equity, income, and expenses of the parent with those of its subsidiary. For this purpose, income and expenses of the subsidiary are based on the amounts of the assets and liabilities recognised in the consolidated financial statements at the acquisition date. Offset (eliminate) the carrying amount of the parent's investment in each subsidiary and the parent's portion of equity of each subsidiary.
- ii. Offset (eliminate) the carrying amount of the parent's investment in each subsidiary and the parent's portion of equity of each subsidiary. Business combinations policy explains how to account for any related goodwill.
- iii. Eliminate in full intragroup assets and liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows relating to transactions between entities of the group (profits or losses resulting from intragroup transactions that are recognised in assets, such as inventory and fixed assets, are eliminated in full). Intragroup losses may indicate an impairment that requires recognition in the consolidated financial statements. Ind AS 12 Income Taxes applies to temporary differences that arise from the elimination of profits and losses resulting from intragroup transactions.
- iv. Profit or loss and each component of OCI are attributed to the equity holders of the parent of the Group and to the non-controlling interests, even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance. When necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements of subsidiary to bring their accounting policies in line with the Holding Company's accounting policies. All intra-group assets, liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows relating to transactions between members of the Group are eliminated in full on consolidation.

A change in the ownership interest of a subsidiary, without loss of control, is accounted for as an equity transaction. If the Holding Company loses control over a subsidiary, it:

- i. Derecognises the assets (including goodwill) and liabilities of the subsidiary
- ii. Derecognises the carrying amount of any non-controlling interests
- iii. Derecognises the cumulative translation differences recorded in equity
- iv. Recognises the fair value of the consideration received
- v. Recognises the fair value of any investment retained
- vi. Recognises any surplus or deficit in profit or loss

Reclassifies the parent's share of components previously recognised in OCI to profit or loss or retained earnings, as appropriate, as would be required if the Group had directly disposed off the related assets or liabilities.

c) Investments in joint ventures and associates:

Investments in associates and joint ventures are consolidated using equity method as per Ind AS 28 – ‘Investment in Associates and Joint Ventures’. Under the equity method of accounting, the investments are initially recognised at cost and adjusted thereafter, post-acquisition attributable profit/(losses) are adjusted in the carrying value of investment upto the Group investment in the joint venture and associate.

If an entity’s share of losses of an associate or a joint venture equal or exceeds its interest in the associate or joint venture (which includes any long-term interest that, in substance, form part of the Group’s net investment in the associate or joint venture), the entity discontinues recognising its share of further losses. Additional losses are recognised only to the extent that the Group has incurred legal or constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of the associate or joint venture. If the associate or joint venture subsequently reports profits, the entity resumes recognising its share of those profits only after its share of the profits equals the share of losses not recognised.

The Restated Consolidated Summary Statements comprised of the financial statements of Zetwerk Manufacturing Businesses Limited, its subsidiaries (collectively referred to as “the Group”), Associates and Joint Ventures.

The Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are comprised of financial statements of members of the Group as under:

2.3 Basis of Measurement

The Restated consolidated Summary Statements have been prepared on a historical cost convention on accrual basis, except for the following material items that have been measured at fair value as required by relevant Ind AS:

- i) Certain financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value (refer accounting policy on financial instruments)
- ii) Share based payment transactions
- iii) Derivative financial instruments

2.4 Current versus non-current classification

The Group segregates assets and liabilities into current and non-current categories for presentation in the balance sheet after considering its normal operating cycle and other criteria set out in Ind AS 1, “Presentation of Financial Statements”. For this purpose, current assets and liabilities include the current portion of non-current assets and liabilities respectively. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are always classified as non-current.

The operating cycle is the time between the acquisition of assets for processing and their realization in cash and cash equivalents. The Group has identified period up to twelve months as its operating cycle.

2.5 Use of estimates

The preparation of Restated Consolidated Summary Statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the Management to make estimate and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities as at the Balance Sheet date, reported amount of revenue and expenses for the year and disclosures of contingent liabilities as at the Balance Sheet date. The estimates and assumptions used in the accompanying Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are based upon the Management's evaluation of the relevant facts and circumstances as at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates. Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on a periodic basis. Revisions to accounting estimates, if any, are recognized in the year in which the estimates are revised and in any future years affected.

2.6 Significant accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the Grouping disclosures, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities affected in future periods.

Other disclosures relating to the Group's exposure to risks and uncertainties includes:

- Capital management Note 44
- Financial risk management objectives and policies Note 43

The Group bases its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions, if any, about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Group. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur. The judgements, estimates and assumptions management has made which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognized in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are as below.

(a) Recognition of deferred tax

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying values of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases, and unutilized business loss and depreciation carry-forwards and tax credits. Deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, unused tax losses, depreciation carry-forwards and unused tax credits could be utilized.

(b) Defined benefits plans

The obligation arising from defined benefit plan is determined on the basis of actuarial assumptions. Key actuarial assumptions include discount rate, trends in salary escalation, actuarial rates and life expectancy. The discount rate is determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds. The period to maturity of the underlying bonds correspond to the probable maturity of the post-employment benefit obligations. Due to complexities involved in the valuation and its long term nature, defined benefit obligation is sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting period.

(c) Share-based payments

Estimating fair value for share-based payment transactions requires determination of the most appropriate valuation model, which is dependent on the terms and conditions of the grant. This estimate also requires determination of the most appropriate inputs to the valuation model including the expected life of the share option, volatility and dividend yield and making assumptions about them. The assumptions and models used for estimating fair value for share-based payment transactions are disclosed in Note 39.

(d) Impairment of non-financial assets

Property, plant and equipment, intangible assets and other assets are tested for impairment whenever the event occur or changes in circumstances indicate that the recoverable amount of the asset or cash generating units to which these pertain is less than its carrying value. The recoverable amount of cash generating units is higher of value-in-use and fair value less cost to dispose. The calculation of value in use of a cash generating unit involves use of significant estimates and assumptions which includes turnover and earnings multiples, growth rates and net margins used to calculate projected future cash flows, risk-adjusted discount rate, future economic and market conditions.

(e) Leases

The Group evaluates if an arrangement qualifies to be a lease based on the requirements of the relevant standard. Identification of a lease requires significant management judgment. Computation of the lease liabilities and right-to-use assets requires management to estimate the lease term (including anticipated renewals) and the applicable discount rate. Management estimates the lease term based on past practices and reasonably estimated/ anticipated future events. The discount rate is generally based on the incremental borrowing rate specific to the lease being evaluated or for a portfolio of leases with similar characteristic.

(f) Impairment of financial assets

The impairment provisions of financial assets are based on assumptions about risk of default and expected timing of collection. The Group uses judgment in making these assumptions and selecting the inputs to the impairment calculation, based on the Group past history, customer's creditworthiness, existing market conditions as well as forward looking estimates at the end of each reporting year.

(g) Business combination

In accounting for business combinations, judgment is required in identifying whether an identifiable intangible asset is to be recorded separately from goodwill. Additionally, estimating the acquisition date fair value of the identifiable assets acquired (including useful life estimates), liabilities assumed, and contingent consideration assumed involves management judgment. These measurements are based on information available at the acquisition date and are based on expectations and assumptions that have been deemed reasonable by management. Changes in these judgments, estimates, and assumptions can materially affect the results of operations. Estimates and judgments are continually evaluated. They are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that may have a financial impact on the group and that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Liability for Non-controlling Interests

Liability for forward purchase commitment and put option given to non-controlling interests which do not grant present access to ownership interest to the Group is recognised at present value of the redemption amount and is reclassified from equity. At the end of each reporting period, the non-controlling interests subject to forward purchase commitment and put option is derecognised and the difference between the derecognised and present value of the redemption based on the valuation, which is recorded as a financial liability, is accounted for as an equity transaction.

(h) Revenue

The Group uses the percentage of completion i.e. input (cost expended) method to measure progress towards completion in respect of fixed price contracts. Percentage of completion method accounting relies on estimates of total expected contract revenue and costs. This method is followed when reasonably dependable estimates of the revenues and costs applicable to various elements of the contract can be made. Key factors that are reviewed in estimating the future costs to complete include estimates of future costs. Because the financial reporting of these contracts depends on estimates that are assessed continually during the term of these contracts, recognized revenue and profit are subject to revisions as the contract progresses to completion. When estimates indicate that a loss will be incurred, the loss is provided for in the period in which the loss becomes probable.

2.7 Business combination

Acquisitions of businesses are accounted for using the acquisition method, other than those accounted for entities under common control. The consideration transferred in a business combination is measured at fair value, which is calculated as the sum of the acquisition-date fair values of the assets transferred by the Group, liabilities incurred by the Group to the former owners of the acquiree, the equity interests issued by the Group in exchange of control of the acquiree and fair value of any asset or liability resulting from a contingent consideration arrangement. Acquisition-related costs are generally recognised in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss as incurred.

If the business combination is achieved in stages, any previously held equity interest is re-measured at its acquisition date fair value and any resulting gain or loss is recognised in Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit or Loss or OCI, as appropriate.

At the acquisition date, the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed are recognised at their fair value, except deferred tax assets or liabilities, and assets or liabilities related to employee benefit arrangements are recognised and measured in accordance with Ind AS 12 Income Taxes and Ind AS 19 Employee Benefits respectively.

Goodwill is measured as the excess of the sum of the consideration transferred, the amount of any non-controlling interests in the acquiree, and the fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree (if any) over the net of the acquisition-date amounts of the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed.

If the initial accounting for a business combination is incomplete by the end of the reporting period in which the combination occurs, the Group reports provisional amounts for the items for which the accounting is incomplete. Those provisional amounts are adjusted through goodwill during the measurement period, or additional assets or liabilities are recognised, to reflect new information obtained about facts and circumstances that existed at the acquisition date that, if known, would have affected the amounts recognized at that date. These adjustments are called as measurement period adjustments. The measurement period does not exceed one year from the acquisition date.

2.8 Goodwill

Goodwill arising on an acquisition of a business is carried at cost as established at the date of acquisition of the business less accumulated impairment losses, if any. Goodwill is not amortised but it is tested for impairment.

For the purposes of impairment testing, goodwill is allocated to each of the Group's cash-generating units (or groups of cash-generating units) that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination.

A cash-generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually, or more frequently when there is an indication that the unit may be impaired. If the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit is less than its carrying amount, the impairment loss is allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the unit and then to the other assets of the unit pro rata based on the carrying amount of each asset in the unit. Any impairment loss for goodwill is recognised directly in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss. An impairment loss recognised for goodwill is not reversed in subsequent periods.

On disposal of the relevant cash-generating unit, the attributable amount of goodwill is included in the determination of the profit or loss on disposal.

2.9 Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, net of accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Such cost includes the cost of replacing part of the plant and equipment and borrowing costs for long-term construction projects if the recognition criteria are met. When significant parts of property, plant and equipment are required to be replaced at intervals, the Group depreciates them separately based on their specific useful lives. Likewise, when a major inspection is performed, its cost is recognized in the carrying amount of the plant and equipment as a replacement if the recognition criteria are satisfied. All other repair and maintenance costs are recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

Capital work in progress is stated at cost, net of accumulated impairment loss, if any.

The Group identifies and determines cost of each component/ part of property, plant and equipment separately, if the component/ part has a cost which is significant to the total cost of the property, plant and equipment and has useful life that is materially different from that of the remaining asset.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each balance sheet date is classified as capital advances under other non-current assets and the cost of assets not ready to use before such date are disclosed under 'Capital work-in-progress'.

The Group depreciates property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives using the Straight Line Method. The management based on technical evaluation believes that these estimated useful lives are realistic and reflect fair approximation of the period over which the assets are likely to be used as follows:

| Asset           | Useful lives estimated by the management |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Plant & Machinery      | 15 Years                                        |
| Building               | 18 - 60 Years                                   |
| Computers              | 3 - 6 Years                                     |
| Furniture and fixtures | 10 Years                                        |
| Solar Photovoltaic     | 15 Years                                        |
| Leasehold improvements | Lease period or 5 years, whichever is lower     |
| Office equipment       | 5 Years                                         |
| Vehicles               | 8-10 Years                                      |

Depreciation on addition to property plant and equipment is provided on pro-rata basis from the date of acquisition. Depreciation on sale/deduction from property plant and equipment is provided up to the date preceding the date of sale, deduction as the case may be. Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing proceeds with carrying amount. These are included in Statement of Profit and Loss under 'Other Income'.

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed periodically at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, as appropriate.

An item of property, plant and equipment and any significant part initially recognized is derecognized upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any gain or loss arising on derecognition of the asset (calculated as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset) is included in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognized.

2.10 Other intangible assets

Intangible assets are stated at acquisition cost, net of accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses, if any

The Group amortized intangible assets over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method. The estimated useful lives of intangible assets are as follows:

| Asset           | Useful lives estimated by the management |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Customer contracts     | 1-2 Years                                       |
| Customer relationships | 5-10 Years                                      |
| Computer software      | 1-4 Years                                       |

Intangible assets with finite lives are assessed for impairment whenever there is an indication that the intangible asset may be impaired. The amortization period and the amortization method for an intangible asset with a finite useful life are reviewed at least at each financial year end.

Internally generated intangibles, excluding capitalised development costs, are not capitalised and the related expenditure is reflected in profit or loss in the period in which the expenditure is incurred.

Following initial recognition of the development expenditure as an asset, the asset is carried at cost less any accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses. Amortisation of the asset begins when development is complete, and the asset is available for use. It is amortised over the period of expected future benefit. Amortisation expense is recognised in the statement of profit and loss unless such expenditure forms part of carrying value of another asset. During the period of development, the asset is tested for impairment annually.

2.11 Foreign Currency Transactions

(a) Functional and presentation currency

Items included in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates ('the functional currency'). The Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are presented in Indian rupees (INR), which is the Holding Company's functional and presentation currency.

(b) Foreign currencies

Transactions in foreign currencies are initially recorded by the Group's using spot rates on the date the transaction first qualifies for recognition. However, for practical reasons, the Group uses an average rate if the average approximates the actual rate at the date of the transaction.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into the relevant functional currency at exchange rates at the reporting date.

Exchange differences arising on settlement or translation of monetary items are recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the dates of the initial transactions. Non-monetary items measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value is determined. The gain or loss arising on translation of non-monetary items measured at fair value is treated in line with the recognition of the gain or loss on the change in fair value of the item (i.e., translation differences on items whose fair value gain or loss is recognised in OCI or profit or loss are also recognised in OCI or profit or loss, respectively).

(c) Foreign currency translation for group entities

The results and financial position of all the Group entities that have a functional currency different from the presentation currency of the Holding Company are translated as follows:

- assets and liabilities for each balance sheet presented are translated at the closing rate at the date of that balance sheet;
- income and expenses for each statement of profit and loss are translated at monthly exchange rates, and
- all resulting exchange differences are recognised in other comprehensive income.

On disposal of a foreign operation, the associated exchange differences are reclassified to the statement of profit and loss, as part of the gain or loss on disposal.

Goodwill and fair value adjustments arising on the acquisition of a foreign entity are treated as assets and liabilities of the foreign entity and translated at the closing rate. Exchange differences arising are recognised in other comprehensive income.

2.12 Fair value measurement

The Group measures financial instruments at fair value at each balance sheet date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for the asset or liability, or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability accessible to the Group.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Group.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Group uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs. The Group's management determines the policies and procedures for fair value measurement such as derivative instrument.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements are categorized within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

- Level 1: Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities
- Level 2: Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable
- Level 3: Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements on a recurring basis, the Group determines whether transfers have occurred between Levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

Fair-value related disclosures for financial instruments and non-financial assets that are measured at fair value or where fair values are disclosed, are summarised in the following notes:-

- |                                                                                |         |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|

| ii) Financial Instruments (including those carried at amortised cost)          | Note 42 |

2.13 Revenue Recognition

Revenues are recognised when, or as, control of a promised goods or services transfers to customers, in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Group expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring those goods or services. The Group has generally concluded that it is the principal in its revenue arrangements, because it typically controls the goods or services before transferring them to the customer.

For performance obligation satisfied over time, the revenue recognition is done by measuring the progress towards complete satisfaction of performance obligation. The progress is measured in terms of a proportion of actual cost incurred to-date, to the total estimated cost attributable to the performance obligation.

The Group transfers control of a good or service over time and therefore satisfies a performance obligation and recognises revenue over a period of time if one of the following criteria is met:

- a. the customer simultaneously consumes the benefit of the Group's performance or
- b. the customer controls the asset as it is being created/enhanced by the Group's performance or
- c. there is no alternative use of the asset and the Group has either explicit or implicit right of payment considering legal precedents,

In all other cases, performance obligation is considered as satisfied at a point in time.

A) Recognition of revenue from product

Revenue from sale of products is recognized at the point in time when control of the asset is transferred to the customer, generally on delivery of product. The Group considers whether there are other promises in the contract that are separate performance obligations to which a portion of transaction price is to be allocated (e.g. liquidated damages, insurance etc.) In determining the transaction price of the product, the Group considers the effect of variable consideration, the existence of consideration payable to the customers, etc.

B) Recognition of revenue from Construction and project related activity

The Group enters into engineering, procurement and constructions contracts (EPC), revenue from such long term projects is recognized over time, using an input method with reference to the stage of completion of the contract activity at the end of the reporting period, measured based on the proportion of contract costs incurred for work performed to date relative to the estimated total contract costs.

The Group recognizes revenue only when it can reasonably measure its progress in satisfying the performance obligation. Until such time, the Group recognizes revenue to the extent of cost incurred, provided the Group expects to recover the costs incurred towards satisfying the performance obligation.

The stage of completion on a project is measured on the basis of proportion of the contract work based upon the contracts/ agreements entered into by the Group with its customers.

When it is probable that total contract costs will exceed total contract revenue, the expected loss is recognized as an expense immediately when such probability is determined. Liquidated damages / penalties are provided for as per the contract terms wherever there is a delayed delivery attributable to the Group.

Contract revenue earned in excess of billing has been reflected under "Other current assets" and billing in excess of contract revenue has been reflected under "Other current liabilities" in the balance sheet.

C) Revenue from sale of services

Revenue from services is recognised when the services are rendered in accordance with specific terms of the contract with customers.

Export incentives: Export incentives are recognised as income when the right to receive credit as per the terms of the scheme is established in respect of the exports made and where there is no significant uncertainty regarding the ultimate collection of the relevant export proceeds.

Contract balances

1. Contract assets: The Group classifies its right to consideration in exchange for deliverables as either a receivable or as unbilled revenue. A receivable is a right to consideration that is unconditional upon passage of time. Revenues in excess of billings is recorded as unbilled revenue and is classified as a financial asset where the right to consideration is unconditional upon passage of time.

Unbilled revenue which is conditional is classified as other current asset. Trade receivables and unbilled revenue is presented net of impairment.

2. Contract liabilities: A contract liability (which we referred to as Unearned Revenue) is the obligation to transfer goods or services to a customer for which the Group has received consideration (or an amount of consideration is due) from the customer. If a customer pays consideration before the Group transfers goods or services to the customer, a contract liability is recognised when the payment is received.
3. Trade receivables: A receivable is recognised if an amount of consideration that is unconditional (i.e., only the passage of time is required before payment of the consideration is due). Refer to accounting policies of financial assets for guidance on recognition and measurement.

Other income

Interest Income is recognised on a basis of effective interest method as set out in Ind AS 109, Financial Instruments, and where no significant uncertainty as to measurability or collectability exists. Income from shares and mutual fund units shall be taken into account on accrual basis when Group's right to receive payment is established.

Other items

Other items of income are accounted as and when the right to receive such income arises and it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Group and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

2.14 Taxes

Tax expense comprises current tax expense and deferred tax.

Current income tax

Current income tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted, at the reporting date in which the Group operates and generates taxable income.

Current income tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and considers whether it is probable that a taxation authority will accept an uncertain tax treatment. The Group shall reflect the effect of uncertainty for each uncertain tax treatment by using either most likely method or expected value method, depending on which method predicts better resolution of the treatment.

Current and deferred tax are recognized in the statement of profit and loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date. Deferred tax liabilities and assets are recognized for all taxable temporary differences and deductible temporary differences, except:

- when the deferred tax liability or asset arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and does not give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences
- in respect of taxable temporary differences and deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiary and associate, when the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilized. The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are re-assessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date. Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss is recognised outside the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss (either in OCI or in equity in correlation to the underlying transaction).

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

2.15 Non-current assets (or disposal group) held for sale and discontinued operations

The Group classifies non-current assets and disposal groups as held for sale if their carrying amounts will be recovered principally through a sale rather than through continuing use and a sale is considered highly probable. The group treats sale of the asset or disposal group to be highly probable when:

- The appropriate level of management is committed to a plan to sell the asset (or disposal group),
- An active programme to locate a buyer and complete the plan has been initiated (if applicable),
- The asset (or disposal group) is being actively marketed for sale at a price that is reasonable in relation to its current fair value,
- The sale is expected to qualify for recognition as a completed sale within one year from the date of classification, and
- Actions required to complete the plan indicate that it is unlikely that significant changes to the plan will be made or that the plan will be withdrawn.

Non-current assets and disposal groups classified as held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amount and fair value less costs to sell. Costs to sell are the incremental costs directly attributable to the disposal of an asset (disposal group), excluding finance costs and income tax expense.

Property, plant and equipment and intangible are not depreciated, or amortised assets once classified as held for sale. Interest and other expenses attributable to liabilities of a disposal group classified as held for sale continue to be recognised.

Assets and liabilities classified as held for sale are presented separately from other items in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

Discontinued operations are excluded from the results of continuing operations and are presented separately as 'profit or loss before tax from discontinued operations,' tax expense/(income) of discontinued operations,' and 'profit or loss after tax from discontinued operations,' in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss.

Additional disclosures are provided in Note 48. All other notes to the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements mainly include amounts for continuing operations, unless otherwise mentioned.

2.16 Investment properties

Properties which is held for long-term rental yields or for capital appreciation or both, and that is not occupied by the Group, is classified as investment properties. Investment properties is measured initially at its cost, including related transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss, if any. Subsequent expenditure is capitalised to the asset's carrying amount only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the expenditure will flow to the Group and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. Repairs and maintenance costs are expensed when incurred. Depreciation on investment properties is provided on a pro rata basis on straight line method over the estimated useful lives. Useful life of assets, as assessed by the Management, corresponds to those prescribed by Schedule II- Part 'C' of the Companies Act, 2013. Investment properties are derecognised either when they have been disposed of or when they are permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefit is expected from their disposal. The difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognised in Statement of Profit and Loss in the period of derecognition. Though the Group measures investment properties using cost-based measurement, the fair value of investment properties are disclosed in the notes. Fair values are determined based on an annual evaluation performed by an accredited external independent valuer.

2.17 Leases

The Group assesses at contract inception whether a contract is, or contains, a lease. That is, if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration.

The Group as a lessee

The determination of whether an arrangement is or contains a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the inception of the lease. The arrangement is or contains a lease if fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset or assets, even if that right is not explicitly specified in an arrangement.

The Group applies a single recognition and measurement approach for all leases, except for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets. The Group recognizes lease liabilities to make lease payments and right-of-use assets representing the right to use the underlying assets.

Right-of-use assets

The Group recognises right-of-use assets at the commencement date of the lease (i.e., the date the underlying asset is available for use). For short term lease and low-value asset arrangements, the Group recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on straight-line basis over the lease term.

Certain lease arrangements include the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease arrangement. Right-of-use assets and lease liabilities are measured according to such options when it is reasonably certain that the Group will exercise these options.

The right-of-use asset are recognized at the inception of the lease arrangement at the amount of the initial measurement of lease liabilities adjusted for any lease payments made at or before the commencement date of lease arrangement reduced by any lease incentives received, added by initial direct costs incurred and an estimate of costs to be incurred by the Group in dismantling and removing the underlying asset or restoring the underlying asset or site on which it is located. The right-of-use assets are depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date over the shorter of lease term or useful life of right-of-use asset, as follows:

|---------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Buildings           | 5-10 Years                                      |
| Plant and equipment | 1-3 Years                                       |
| Leasehold land      | 83 Years                                        |
| Vehicles            | 1-5 Years                                       |

If ownership of the leased asset transfers to the Group at the end of the lease term or the cost reflects the exercise of a purchase option, depreciation is calculated using the estimated useful life of the asset.

Right-of-use assets are tested for impairment whenever there is an indication that their carrying value may not be recoverable. Impairment loss, if any is recognized in the statement of profit and loss account.

Lease liabilities

At the commencement date of the lease, the Group recognises lease liabilities measured at the present value of lease payments to be made over the lease term. The lease payments include fixed payments (including in substance fixed payments) less any lease incentives receivable, variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate, and amounts expected to be paid under residual value guarantees. The lease payments also include the exercise price of a purchase option reasonably certain to be exercised by the Group and payments of penalties for terminating the lease, if the lease term reflects exercising of the option to terminate. Variable lease payments that do not depend on an index or a rate are recognised as expenses in the period in which the event or condition that triggers the payment occurs.

In calculating the present value of lease payments, the Group uses incremental borrowing rate for Right of use assets at the lease commencement date. After the commencement date, the amount of lease liabilities is increased to reflect the accretion of interest and reduced for the lease payments made. In addition, the carrying amount of lease liabilities is remeasured if there is a modification, a change in the lease term, a change in the lease payments (e.g., changes to future payments resulting from a change in an index or rate used to determine such lease payments) or a change in the assessment of an option to purchase the underlying asset. Short-term leases and leases of low-value assets

The Group applies the short-term lease recognition exemption to its short-term leases (i.e., those leases that have a lease term of 12 months or less from the commencement date and do not contain a purchase option). It also applies the lease of low-value assets recognition exemption to leases that are considered to be low value. Lease payments on short-term leases and leases of low-value assets are recognised as expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Sale and leaseback transactions

The Group assesses whether the transfer of an asset in a sale and leaseback transaction qualifies as a sale in accordance with Ind AS 115. Where the transfer does not satisfy the requirements to be accounted for as a sale, the transaction is accounted for as a financing arrangement. In such cases, the underlying asset continues to be recognised in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Asset and Liabilities, no gain or loss is recognised on transfer and the amount received is recognised as a borrowing under the financial liabilities. Borrowings is subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method.

The Group as a lessor

Leases in which the Group does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an asset is classified as operating leases. Rental income arising is accounted for on a straight-line basis over the lease terms. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating and arranging an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset, i.e., asset given on lease, and recognised over the lease term on the same basis as rental income.

2.18 Inventories

Inventories are valued at the lower of cost and net realisable value.

Costs incurred in bringing each product to its present location and condition are accounted for as follows:

- Raw materials, packaging materials and stores and spare parts: Cost includes purchase price, (excluding those subsequently recoverable by the enterprise from the concerned revenue authorities), freight inwards and other expenditure incurred in bringing such inventories to their present location and condition. In determining the cost, weighted average cost method is used.
- Work in progress and manufactured finished goods: Cost of work in progress and manufactured finished goods is determined on the weighted average basis and comprises direct material, cost of conversion and other costs incurred in bringing these inventories to their present location and condition.

- Traded goods: Cost includes cost of purchase and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Cost of traded goods is determined on a weighted average basis.

Provision of obsolescence on inventories is considered on the basis of management's estimate based on demand and market of the inventories.

Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the estimated cost of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

The comparison of cost and net realizable value is made on item by item basis.

2.19 Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group assesses, at each reporting date, whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Group estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or cash-generating unit's (CGU) fair value less costs of disposal and its value in use. Recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or groups of assets. When the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount.

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining fair value less costs of disposal, recent market transactions are taken into account. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used. These calculations are corroborated by valuation multiples, quoted share prices for publicly traded companies or other available fair value indicators.

The Group bases its impairment calculation on detailed budgets and forecast calculations, which are prepared separately for each of the Group's CGUs to which the individual assets are allocated. These budgets and forecast calculations generally cover a period of five years. For longer periods, a long-term growth rate is calculated and applied to project future cash flows after the fifth year. To estimate cash flow projections beyond periods covered by the most recent budgets/forecasts, the Group extrapolates cash flow projections in the budget using a steady or declining growth rate for subsequent years, unless an increasing rate can be justified. In any case, this growth rate does not exceed the long-term average growth rate for the products, industries, or country or countries in which the entity operates, or for the market in which the asset is used.

Impairment losses of continuing operations, including impairment on inventories, are recognised in the statement of profit and loss, except for properties previously revalued with the revaluation surplus taken to OCI. For such properties, the impairment is recognised in OCI up to the amount of any previous revaluation surplus.

For assets other than goodwill, an assessment is made at each reporting date to determine whether there is an indication that previously recognised impairment losses no longer exist or have decreased. If such indication exists, the Group estimates the asset's or CGU's recoverable amount. A previously recognised impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the assumptions used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognised. The reversal is limited so that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its recoverable amount, nor exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset in prior years. Such reversal is recognised in the statement of profit or loss unless the asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case, the reversal is treated as a revaluation increase.

The Group assesses whether climate risks, including physical risks and transition risks could have a significant impact. If so, these risks are included in the cash-flow forecasts in assessing value-in-use amounts.

2.20 Provisions and contingent liabilities

Provisions

General

Provisions are recognized when there is a present obligation as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and there is a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation. Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the Balance sheet date.

If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognized as a finance cost.

Warranty provisions

The Group provides warranties for general repairs of defects that existed at the time of sale, as required by law. Provisions related to these assurance-type warranties are recognised when the product is sold, or the service is provided to the customer. Initial recognition is based on historical experience. The initial estimate of warranty-related costs is revised annually.

Onerous Contracts

If the Group has a contract that is onerous, the present obligation under the contract is recognised and measured as a provision. However, before a separate provision for an onerous contract is established, the Group recognises any impairment loss that has occurred on assets dedicated to that contract. An onerous contract is a contract under which the unavoidable costs (i.e., the costs that the Group cannot avoid because it has the contract) of meeting the obligations under the contract exceed the economic benefits expected to be received under it. The unavoidable costs under a contract reflect the least net cost of exiting from the contract, which is the lower of the cost of fulfilling it and any compensation or penalties arising from failure to fulfil it. The cost of fulfilling a contract comprises the costs that relate directly to the contract (i.e., both incremental costs and an allocation of costs directly related to contract activities).

Contingent Liability

Contingent liability is:

- (a) a possible obligation arising from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the entity or
- (b) a present obligation that arises from past events but is not recognized because;
  - it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation or
  - the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with sufficient reliability.

The Group does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses the same as per the requirements of Ind AS 37.

Contingent Asset

A contingent asset is a possible asset that arises from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by- the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the entity. The Group does not recognize the contingent asset in its Restated Consolidated Summary Statements since this may result in the recognition of income that may never be realised. Where an inflow of economic benefits are probable, the Group disclose a brief description of the nature of contingent assets at the end of the reporting period. However, when the realisation of income is virtually certain, then the related asset is not a contingent asset and the Group recognize such assets.

Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date.

2.21 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalent in the balance sheet comprise cash at banks, cash on hand and short-term deposits net of bank overdraft with an original maturity of three months or less, which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

For the purpose of the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Cash Flows, cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and short-term deposits, as defined above, net of outstanding bank overdrafts as they are considered an integral part of the Group's cash management.

2.22 Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

a) Financial assets

i. Initial recognition and measurement

All financial assets (except trade receivables that do not contain a significant financing component or for which group has applied practical expedient) are recognised initially at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset. Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within a time frame established by regulation or convention in the market place (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the Group commits to purchase or sell the asset.

ii. Subsequent measurement

For purposes of subsequent measurement, financial assets are classified in following categories:

- a) at amortized cost; or
- b) at fair value through other comprehensive income; or
- c) at fair value through profit or loss.

The classification depends on the entity's business model for managing the financial assets and the contractual terms of the cash flows.

Amortized cost: Assets that are held for collection of contractual cash flows where those cash flows represent solely payments of principal and interest are measured at amortized cost. Interest income from these financial assets is included in finance income using the effective interest rate method (EIR). Refer Note 42 on the classification of financial assets and financial liabilities.

Fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI): Assets that are held for collection of contractual cash flows and for selling the financial assets, where the assets' cash flows represent solely payments of principal and interest, are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI). Movements in the carrying amount are taken through OCI, except for the recognition of impairment gains or losses, interest revenue and foreign exchange gains and losses which are recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss. When the financial asset is derecognized, the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in OCI is reclassified from equity to Statement of Profit and Loss and recognized in other gains/ (losses). Interest income from these financial assets is included in other income using the effective interest rate method.

Fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL): Assets that do not meet the criteria for amortized cost or FVOCI are measured at fair value through profit or loss. Interest income from these financial assets is included in other income.

iii. Impairment of financial assets

In accordance with Ind AS 109, Financial Instruments, the Group applies expected credit loss (ECL) model for measurement and recognition of impairment loss on financial assets that are measured at amortized cost and FVOCI.

Trade receivables: In respect of trade receivables, the Group applies the simplified approach of Ind AS 109, which requires measurement of loss allowance at an amount equal to lifetime expected credit losses. Lifetime expected credit losses are the expected credit losses that result from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument.

Other financial assets: In respect of its other financial assets, the Group assesses if the credit risk on those financial assets has increased significantly since initial recognition. If the credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition, the Group measures the loss allowance at an amount equal to 12-month expected credit losses, else at an amount equal to the lifetime expected credit losses.

ECL is the difference between all contractual cash flows that are due to the Group in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the entity expects to receive (i.e. all shortfalls), discounted at the original EIR. When estimating the cash flows, an entity is required to consider all contractual terms of the financial instrument (including prepayment, extension etc.) over the expected life of the financial instrument. However, in rare cases when the expected life of the financial instrument cannot be estimated reliably, then the entity is required to use the remaining contractual term of the financial instrument.

ECL impairment loss allowance (or reversal) recognized during the year is recognized as income/expense in the statement of profit and loss. In balance sheet ECL for financial assets measured at amortized cost is presented as an allowance, i.e. as an integral part of the measurement of those assets in the balance sheet. The allowance reduces the net carrying amount. Until the asset meets write off criteria, the Group does not reduce impairment allowance from the gross carrying amount.

iv. Derecognition of financial assets

A financial asset is derecognized only when

- a) the rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset is transferred or
- b) retains the contractual rights to receive the cash flows of the financial asset, but assumes a contractual obligation to pay the cash flows to one or more recipients.

Where the financial asset is transferred then in that case financial asset is derecognized only if substantially all risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset is transferred. Where the entity has not transferred substantially all risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset, the financial asset is not derecognized."

b) Financial liabilities

i. Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss and at amortized cost, as appropriate.

All financial liabilities are recognized initially at fair value and, in the case of borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

ii. Subsequent measurement

The measurement of financial liabilities depends on their classification, as described below:

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition as at fair value through profit or loss. This category also includes derivative financial instruments entered into by the Group that are not designated as hedging instruments in hedge relationships as defined by Ind AS 109. Separated embedded derivatives are also classified as held for trading unless they are designated as effective hedging instruments. Gains or losses on liabilities held for trading are recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Loans and borrowings

After initial recognition, interest-bearing loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the EIR method. Gains and losses are recognized in Statement of Profit and Loss when the liabilities are derecognized as well as through the EIR amortization process. Amortized cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortization is included as finance costs in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

iii. Derecognition

A financial liability is derecognized when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss as finance costs.

c) Embedded derivatives

An embedded derivative is a component of a hybrid (combined) instrument that also includes a non-derivative host contract – with the effect that some of the cash flows of the combined instrument vary in a way similar to a standalone derivative. Derivatives embedded in all other host contract are separated if the economic characteristics and risks of the embedded derivative are not closely related to the economic characteristics and risks of the host and are measured at fair value through profit or loss. Embedded derivatives closely related to the host contracts are not separated.

Reassessment only occurs if there is either a change in the terms of the contract that significantly modifies the cash flows that would otherwise be required or a reclassification of a financial asset out of the fair value through profit or loss.

d) Derivative financial instruments

The Group uses derivative financial instruments, such as forward currency contracts and commodity contracts to hedge its foreign currency risks and price risk. Such derivative financial instruments are initially recognized at fair value on the date on which a derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently re-measured at fair value. Derivatives are carried as financial assets when the fair value is positive and as financial liabilities when the fair value is negative. Any gains or losses arising from changes in the fair value of derivatives are taken directly to the Restated Consolidated Statement of Profit & Loss.

e) Reclassification of financial assets

The Group determines classification of financial assets and liabilities on initial recognition. After initial recognition, no reclassification is made for financial assets which are equity instruments and financial liabilities. For financial assets which are debt instruments, a reclassification is made only if there is a change in the business model for managing those assets. Changes to the business model are expected to be infrequent. The Group's senior management determines change in the business model as a result of external or internal changes which are significant to the Group's operations. Such changes are evident to external parties. A change in the business model occurs when the Group either begins or ceases to perform an activity that is significant to its operations. If the Group reclassifies financial assets, it applies the reclassification prospectively from the reclassification date which is the first day of the immediately next reporting period following the change in business model. The Group does not restate any previously recognised gains, losses (including impairment gains or losses) or interest.

f) Offsetting financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the balance sheet where there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognized amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. The legally enforceable right must not be contingent on future events and must be enforceable in the normal course of business and in the event of default, insolvency or bankruptcy of the Group or the counterparty.

2.23 Convertible preference shares

Convertible preference shares are separated into liability and equity components based on the terms of the contract. On issuance of the convertible preference shares, the fair value of the liability portion of an optionally convertible preference shares is determined using a market interest rate for an equivalent non-convertible bond. This amount is recorded as a liability on an amortised cost basis until extinguished on conversion or redemption of the bonds. The remainder of the proceeds is attributable to the equity portion of the compound instrument since it meets Ind AS 32, Financial Instruments: Presentation, criteria for fixed-to-fixed classification. Transaction costs are deducted from equity, net of associated income tax. The carrying amount of the conversion option is not subsequently re-measured.

Transaction costs are apportioned between the liability and equity components of the convertible preference shares based on the allocation of proceeds to the liability and equity components when the instruments are initially recognized.

2.24 Acceptances

Acceptances represents amount payable towards arrangements wherein banks and financial institutions make direct payments to the Group's suppliers for materials and services. The banks and financial institutions are subsequently repaid by the Group as per the arrangement with banks and financial institution. For the purposes of cash flow presentation, the economic substance of these transactions is determined to be operating in nature, and accordingly, settlement of such trade acceptances by the Group is treated as cash flows from operating activity.

2.25 Employee Benefits

(a) Short-term obligations

Liabilities for wages and salaries, including non-monetary benefits that are expected to be settled wholly within 12 months after the end of the year in which the employees render the related service are recognized in respect of employees' services up to the end of the year and are measured at the amounts expected to be paid when the liabilities are settled. The liabilities are presented as current employee benefit obligations in the balance sheet.

(b) Other long-term employee benefit obligations

i. Defined contribution plan

Provident Fund: The Group has no obligation, other than the contribution payable to the provident fund. Contribution towards provident fund is made to the regulatory authorities, where the Group has no further obligations. Such benefits are classified as Defined Contribution Schemes as the Group does not carry any further obligations, apart from the contributions made on a monthly basis which are charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss.

ii. Defined benefit plans

Gratuity, which is a defined benefit plan, is accrued based on an independent actuarial valuation, which is done based on project unit credit method as at the balance sheet date. The Group recognizes the net obligation of a defined benefit plan in its balance sheet as an asset or liability. Gains and losses through re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability/(asset) are recognized in other comprehensive income. In accordance with Ind AS, re-measurement gains and losses on defined benefit plans recognized in OCI are not to be subsequently reclassified to statement of profit and loss. As required under Ind AS compliant Schedule III, the Group transfers it immediately to retained earnings.

Compensated Absences: Accumulated compensated absences, which are expected to be availed or encashed within 12 months from the end of the year are treated as short term employee benefits. The obligation towards the same is measured at the expected cost of accumulating compensated absences as the additional amount expected to be paid as a result of the unused entitlement as at the year end.

Accumulated compensated absences, which are expected to be availed or encashed beyond 12 months from the end of the year end are treated as other long term employee benefits. The Group's liability is actuarially determined (using the Projected Unit Credit method) at the end of each year. Actuarial losses/gains are recognized in the statement of profit and loss in the year in which they arise.

Leaves under define benefit plans can be encashed only on discontinuation of service by employee.

iii. Share-based payments

Employee Share options plan (ESOP)

Employees of the Group receive remuneration in the form of share-based payments, whereby employees render services as consideration for equity instruments (equity-settled transactions). The cost of equity-settled transactions is determined by the fair value at the date when the grant is made using a Black Scholes valuation model.

That cost is recognised, together with a corresponding increase in share-based payment (SBP) reserves in equity, over the period in which the performance and/or service conditions are fulfilled in employee benefits expense. The cumulative expense recognised for equity-settled transactions at each reporting date until the vesting date reflects the extent to which the vesting period has expired and the Companies' best estimate of the number of equity instruments that will ultimately vest. The statement of profit and loss expense or credit for a period represents the movement in cumulative expense recognised as at the beginning and end of that period and is recognised in employee benefits expense.

If a grant lapses after the vesting period, the cumulative discount recognised as an expense in respect of such grant is transferred to the retained earnings within other equity, which a free reserve in nature.

When the terms of an equity-settled award are modified, the minimum expense recognised is the grant date fair value of the unmodified award, provided the original vesting terms of the award are met. An additional expense, measured as at the date of modification, is recognised for any modification that increases the total fair value of the share-based payment transaction, or is otherwise beneficial to the employee. Where an award is cancelled by the entity or by the counterparty, any remaining element of the fair value of the award is expensed immediately through profit or loss.

Grant made to the employees of subsidiaries and associate: While the fair value of Stock Options/ RSUs granted is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss for employees of the Group, the value of Stock Options/ RSUs, granted to employees of the wholly owned/ other subsidiary companies and associate is considered as capital contribution/investment.

No expense is recognised for awards that do not ultimately vest because non-market performance and/or service conditions have not been met. Where awards include a market or non-vesting condition, the transactions are treated as vested irrespective of whether the market or non-vesting condition is satisfied, provided that all other performance and/or service conditions are satisfied.

The dilutive effect of outstanding options is reflected as additional share dilution in the computation of diluted earnings per share.

Stock appreciation rights (SAR)

A liability is recognised for the fair value of cash-settled transactions which are issued to consultants which is measured initially and at each reporting date up to and including the settlement date with changes in fair value recognised in legal and professional fee and such that the cumulative expenses reflect estimate, with corresponding adjustment to the trade payables account. The fair value is determined using a black-Scholes model, further details of which are given in Note 39.

2.26 Contributed equity.

Equity shares are classified as equity share capital.

Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of new shares or options are shown in equity as a deduction, net of tax, from the proceeds.

2.27 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting preference dividends and attributable taxes) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Partly paid equity shares are treated as a fraction of an equity share to the extent that they are entitled to participate in dividends relative to a fully paid equity share during the reporting period. The weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period is adjusted for events such as bonus issue, bonus element in a rights issue, share split, and reverse share split (consolidation of shares) that have changed the number of equity shares outstanding, without a corresponding change in resources.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

2.28 Segment reporting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker. The Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”) of the Holding Company has been identified as the chief operating decision maker.

The Group identifies primary segments based on the dominant source, nature of risks and returns and the internal organization and management structure. The operating segments are the segments for which separate financial information is available and for which operating profit/loss amounts are evaluated regularly by the chief operating decision maker in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance, the analysis of geographical segments is based on the areas in which major operating divisions of the Group operate.

2.29 Government grant

Government grants are recognised where there is reasonable assurance that the grant will be received, and all attached conditions will be complied with. When the grant relates to an expense item, it is recognised as deduction from the related expenses on a systematic basis over the periods that the related costs, for which it is intended to compensate, are expensed. When the grant relates to an asset, it is recognised as income in equal amounts over the expected useful life of the related asset.

2.30 Financial guarantees

Financial guarantees are initially recognised in the financial statements (within ‘other liabilities’) at fair value, being the premium received. Subsequently, the liability is measured at the higher of the amount of loss allowance determined as per impairment requirements of Ind AS 109 and the amount recognised less cumulative amortisation over the term of the loan. Any increase in the liability relating to financial guarantees is recorded in the statement of profit and loss in credit loss expense.

2.31 Exceptional items

Exceptional items are disclosed separately in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements where it is necessary to do so to provide further understanding of the financial performance of the Group. These are material items of income or expense that have to be shown separately due to their nature or incidence.

2.32 Statement of cash flows

Statement of Cash Flows is prepared segregating the cash flows into operating, investing and financing activities. Cash flow from operating activities is reported using indirect method adjusting the net profit for the effects of:

- i. changes during the period in operating receivables and payables transactions of a non-cash nature;
- ii. non-cash items such as depreciation, provisions, deferred taxes, unrealised foreign currency gains and losses, and undistributed profits of associates and joint ventures; and
- iii. all other items for which the cash effects are investing or financing cash flows.

Cash and cash equivalents (including bank balances) shown in the Statement of Cash Flows exclude items which are not available for general use as on the date of Balance Sheet.

2.33 New standards or amendments to the existing standards and other pronouncements

The Group applied for the first-time certain standards and amendments, which are effective for annual periods beginning on or after 01 April 2025. The Group has not early adopted any standard, interpretation or amendment that has been issued but is not yet effective.

(i) Lack of exchangeability – Amendments to Ind AS 21

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs notified amendments to Ind AS 21 The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates to specify how an entity should assess whether a currency is exchangeable and how it should determine a spot exchange rate when exchangeability is lacking. The amendments also require disclosure of information that enables users of its financial statements to understand how the currency not being exchangeable into the other currency affects, or is expected to affect, the entity's financial performance, financial position and cash flows.

The amendments are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 01 April 2025.

The application of Ind AS 21 does not have material impact on the Group's Restated Consolidated Summary Statements.

(ii) Classification of Liabilities as Current or Non-current and Non-current Liabilities with Covenants – Amendments to Ind AS 1

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs notified amendments to paragraphs 69 to 76 of Ind AS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements to specify the requirements for classifying liabilities as current or non-current. The amendments clarify:

- What is meant by a right to defer settlement
- That a right to defer must exist at the end of the reporting period
- That classification is unaffected by the likelihood that an entity will exercise its deferral right
- That only if an embedded derivative in a convertible liability is itself an equity instrument would the terms of a liability not impact its classification

In addition, a requirement has been introduced to require disclosure when a liability arising from a loan agreement is classified as non-current and the entity's right to defer settlement is contingent on compliance with future covenants within twelve months.

The amendments are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2025.

The application of Ind AS 1 does not have material impact on the Group's Restated Consolidated Summary Statements.

(iii) Supplier Finance Arrangements - Amendments to Ind AS 7 and Ind AS 107

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs notified amendments to Ind AS 7 Statement of Cash Flows and Ind AS 107 Financial Instruments: Disclosures to clarify the characteristics of supplier finance arrangements and require additional disclosure of such arrangements. The disclosure requirements in the amendments are intended to assist users of financial statements in understanding the effects of supplier finance arrangements on an entity's liabilities, cash flows and exposure to liquidity risk.

The amendments will be effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 01 April 2025.

As a result of implementing the amendments, the Group has provided additional disclosures about its supplier finance arrangement. Refer Note 24.

(iv) International Tax Reform—Pillar Two Model Rules – Amendments to Ind AS 12

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs notified amendments to Ind AS 12 Income Taxes in response to the OECD's BEPS Pillar Two rules and include:

- A mandatory temporary exception to the recognition and disclosure of deferred taxes arising from the jurisdictional implementation of the Pillar Two model rules; and
- Disclosure requirements for affected entities to help users of the financial statements better understand an entity's exposure to Pillar Two income taxes arising from that legislation, particularly before its effective date.

The mandatory temporary exception – the use of which is required to be disclosed – applies immediately. The remaining disclosure requirements apply for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 01 April 2025, but not for any interim periods ending on or before 31 March 2026.

The application of Ind AS 12 does not have material impact on the Group's Restated Consolidated Summary Statements.

Standards issued but not yet effective

The new and amended standards that are issued, but not yet effective, up to the date of issuance of the Group's financial statements are disclosed below. The Group will adopt this new and amended standards, when they become effective.

Ind AS 1 - Classification of Liabilities as Current or Non-current and Non-current Liabilities with Covenants

The amendment requires that if a covenant breach is rectified after the reporting date, the same will be treated as a non-adjusting event and this amendment will be applicable from annual reporting periods beginning on or after April 01, 2026.

The amendments are not expected to have a material impact on the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements.

- Sale comparison approach examines the price or price per unit area of similar properties being sold in the market place.

- Depreciated replacement cost method the principle that the informed purchaser would pay no more than the cost to produce / replace a substitute property with the same utility as the subject property.

Sensitivity change in assumptions

Basis the sensitivity analysis, no impairment was identified as the recoverable value of the CGUs exceeded the carrying value. A sensitivity analysis to a change in the key parameters (revenue growth and discount rate) based on reasonably probable assumptions, did not identify any probable scenarios where the CGUs recoverable amount would fall below their carrying amount.

27.6 Remaining performance obligation: The aggregate amount of transaction price allocated to remaining performance obligations and when Group expects to convert the same into revenue.

The aggregate amount of transaction price allocated to performance obligations related to continuing operations that are remaining as at the year ended 31 March 2026 is INR 24,592.56 million (31 March 2025 is INR 18,422.02 million and 31 March 2024: INR 22,313.49 million). On an average, construction and project contracts have a life cycle of 2-3 years and other business performance obligations are met over a period of one or less than one year. Management expects that around 40% - 50% of the transaction price allocated to unsatisfied contracts as of 31 March 2026 will be recognised as revenue during the next reporting period depending upon the progress on each contract. The remaining amount is expected to be recognised in subsequent years, largely in year 2. The amount disclosed above does not include variable consideration.

42 Financial instruments - fair values and risk management

Fair value hierarchy

The following is the hierarchy for determining and disclosing the fair value of financial instruments by valuation technique:

- Level 1 - Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
  - Level 2 - Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices).
  - Level 3 - Inputs for the assets or liabilities that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs).
- No financial assets/liabilities have been valued using level 1 fair value measurements.

The following table presents fair value hierarchy of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis:

43 Financial risk management objectives and policies

The Group is exposed to various financial risks. These risks are categorized into market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. The Group's risk management is coordinated by the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") and focuses on securing long term and short term cash flows. The Group does not engage in trading of financial assets for speculative purposes.

(A) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: interest rate risk, currency risk and other price risk, such as equity price risk and commodity risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk include borrowings and derivative financial instruments. The Group manages its market risk through diversifying its portfolio across various investments. The Group is exposed to interest rate risk since its working capital borrowings are in floating rate.

Foreign currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Group's exposure to the risk of changes in foreign exchange rates relates primarily to the Group's operating activities (when revenue or expense is denominated in a different currency from the Group's functional currency).

The summary of quantitative data about the Group's exposure to currency risk from non derivative financial instrument is as follows:

| Currency | Amount in Foreign Currency |                        |                        | Amount in INR          |                        |                        |

Sensitivity analysis for Foreign currency risk

The following table demonstrates the sensitivity to a reasonably possible change in the US dollar exchange rate (or any other material currency), with all other variables held constant, of the Group's loss before tax (due to changes in the fair value of monetary assets and liabilities). The Group's exposure to foreign currency changes for all other currencies is not material.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The group's exposure to the risk of change in interest rate relates primarily to the group's borrowing or deposits which carries floating rate of interest. During the year the group has borrowings which carry both fixed and floating interest rate and the group does not have any exposure against the interest rate risk in the financial assets.

Equity price risk

The Group is not an active investor in equity markets and does not hold any investment in equity for long term value accretion. Hence, the group is not exposed to equity price risk.

Commodity price risk

The Group is exposed to commodity price fluctuations, particularly in ferrous and non-ferrous products such as steel, aluminium, zinc, and copper. Price volatility in these raw materials can impact the cost of sales and profitability. To mitigate this risk, the Group engages in future contracts on commodity exchanges like MCX and LME. Regular reviews of market trends and strategic pricing decisions help manage the potential impact of these fluctuations on financial performance. The sensitivity analysis is provided below factoring the Mark to market gain or loss on the commodity future contracts taken by the Group.

Credit risk on cash and cash equivalents and inter-company deposits is limited as the Holding Company generally transacts with banks with high credit ratings assigned by international and domestic credit rating agencies and its own subsidiaries. Investments of surplus funds, temporarily, are made only with approved counterparties, mainly mutual funds, who meet the minimum threshold requirements under the counterparty risk assessment process.

(C) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Group will encounter difficulty in meeting the obligations associated with its financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. The Group's approach to managing liquidity is to ensure, as far as possible, that it will have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when they are due, under both normal and stressed conditions, without incurring unacceptable losses or risking damage to the Group's reputation. Also, the Group has unutilized credit limits with banks.

The table below summarizes the maturity profile of the Group's financial liabilities:

Consequently, the Civil infrastructure works segment is no longer disclosed as operating segment and its financial information is disclosed under discontinued operations.(Refer Note 48)

G Pinaka Aerospace Solutions Private Limited: Change in investment from Subsidiary to Associate.

The Holding Company acquired 51% of shareholding on a dilutive basis on 5 May 2022. Pursuant to Pinaka Shareholders' Agreement, both parties have the right and obligation to purchase and sell the remaining shares of 49% from the existing shareholders.

Pending acquisition of remaining stake, the Group has attributed the profit and each component of OCI (if any) to Non Controlling Interest, which is included in financial liability for future acquisition. This financial liability has been measured at the date of acquisition, basis a fair valuation report, in accordance with Ind AS 109. At the end of each reporting period, the non-controlling interests subject to put option is derecognised and the difference between the derecognised value and present value of the financial liability based on the valuation, is accounted for as an equity transaction.

During the year ended 31 March 2024, the Holding Company further acquired 15% shareholding on dilutive basis in Pinaka through share purchase agreement dated 25 August 2023 for a purchase consideration of INR 140.00 million. The liability for remaining 34% of shareholding was fair valued as at year end amounting to INR 516.99 million and INR 15.40 million is reclassified from NCI to retained earning in Restated Consolidated Statement of Changes in Equity towards change in carrying value of NCI and fair value of liability.

During the year ended 31 March 2025, the change in shareholding of Pinaka Aerospace Solutions Private Limited ("Pinaka") resulted in reduced equity holding of 49% on fully dilutive basis by the Holding Company. Additionally, due to changes in the contractual arrangement in Pinaka SHA and on account of investment by certain new investors in their personal capacity and issuance of shares to the Pinaka Employee Welfare Trust (which is an irrevocable trust created by Pinaka for the exclusive welfare and benefit of its employees), the Holding Company ceased to control Pinaka w.e.f. 15 May 2024. As regards, the Pinaka Employee Welfare Trust, the legal and beneficial interest (including the right to dividend) rests exclusively with the aforesaid trust. Accordingly, such remaining holding is considered to be in the nature of investment in associate. Effective such date, the investment in subsidiary is deconsolidated from Restated Consolidated Summary Statements and the fair value of investment held by Holding Company of INR 519.30 million is considered as a cost of investment in associate. Accordingly, the difference between the carrying value of the net assets of Pinaka (including Goodwill) and the carrying value of the investments in Pinaka is treated as Loss on change in control in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss as exceptional item. Further, the Pinaka SHA has a put and call right towards the shares held by the promoters of Pinaka, which is considered as derivative and is accounted as fair valued through profit and loss account. The fair value of derivative liability is INR 6.38 million as on 31 March 2025. Refer details below for asset and liabilities derecognised on the date of loss of control.
